Denounces the Sham Reform and Bossism of the Bigelow Machine and Severs All Connection With Pledge Breakers.

IS A SEVERE BLOW TO THE BOSSES

Whereas, The Citizens party has utterly disregarded and violated its promises and pledges; has failed to conform to the principles upon which it was founded or to carry out the reforms to which it was pledged, and is now controlled, not in the interests of the people, but by and in the interests of a few men for their own personal benefit;

Whereas, Bossism has become so rampant in the Citizens party that the delegates selected by the people in the several election districts have been ignored and their wishes disregarded, and an attempt has been made by persons not residents of this district to select political leaders in place of the delegates so chosen by the people, and have attempted to interfere in the internal affairs and get control of the Sixth district for illegitimate purposes;

Resolved, That we commend the officers and executive committee of this district for their faithful, vigorous and honest efforts to preserve the independence of the people of the district.

Resolved, That the nominations for the several offices made irregularly and in secret by the Citizens party are hereby condemned and declared unworthy of the confidence and support of the people of the Sixth legislative district.

Resolved, That the nominations made for the several offices by the Republican party in convention assembled be and the same are hereby approved, and we pledge our support to that party.

Resolved, That our district officers and our executive committee are requested to sever their relations with the Citizens party.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted by 90 of the 122 members of the district organization. Of the 32 men who were not present a majority of them are in accord with the decision of last night. The action is a severe blow to the Bigelow machine, as it leaves it without representation in the district, save the meager assistance which can be given by Pension Agent John W. Nesbit, and the Democrats. The workers who have stepped back into the Republican fold are the same ones who made it possible for the Citizens to poll upward of 9,000 votes for their ticket in this district last fall.

These men, like hundreds of others, joined the Citizens party in its inception because they believed that real reform was to be the result of the movement. Because they insisted upon the redemption of party pledges and the promises made to the workers of the district, the bosses tried to prevent their re-election. They failed. Then the bosses attempted to ride rough-shod over the rights of the members of the party and set up Mayor William B. Hays of Pittsburgh, a non-resident, as the political dictator of the district. The regularly elected organization was to be ignored and the men who had fought the battles of the party were to be insulted when they demanded their rights. The result was a refusal to submit to this bossism and a determination to return to the party they had deserted.

Cause of the Revolt.

The Sixth district stretches from Elizabeth to the Beaver county line, and within its limits are upward of 25,000 voters. Last fall the Republicans figured that this territory would give sufficient majority to offset the big Citizens vote in Pittsburgh. Instead, the majority was cut down to about 300 by the very workers who last night deserted the Citizens party. Now that they have joined hands with the Republicans, it is not difficult to see the result in the approaching election.

The events leading up to the action of last night are familiar to newspaper readers of the county. John H. Campbell was chairman of the Citizen organization in the Sixth district last fall. This June he was re-elected and so were the same committeemen who made the fight in 1902. Pension Agent John W. Nesbit, appointed to his lucrative federal position by a Republican president, on the recommendation of Republicans, tried to get control of this anti-Republican committee in June. His man had eight votes. When the Bigelow bosses found that Campbell and his followers were insisting that pledges be kept and showing a spirit of independence, they decided to ignore the regularly chosen representatives of the party and depend upon Nesbit and his crowd. W. W. Mechling was set up as campaign manager of the district and there was a farcical attempt at allowing Campbell to assist. Numerous conferences were held in the hope of settling the matter, at each one it was evident that the regular organization was to be ousted. The last meeting was to have occurred yesterday afternoon, When Campbell and his committee called, Chairman M. A. Verner was absent. When they departed, he returned.

Was a Big Attendance.

Seeing the way things were drifting, Chairman Campbell decided to call the district committee together, fully explain the situation and abide by its decision. The meeting was held last night in a hall at No. 243 Fourth avenue. For a district 40 miles in length, with many districts far removed from Pittsburgh, the showing was remarkable. A number of the committeemen, who did not attend, sent word that they would not do anything in the future for the Citizens party. The district has four members of the county committee and three of them were present last night.

Chairman Campbell called the meeting to order and then requested Vice Chairman W. H. Muncey to preside. In opening, he said:

We are on the eve of another great political battle. We, your officers, elected by you last June, have been endeavoring to induce the leaders of the Citizens party to give to the Sixth district and citizens at large the recognition due them and the fulfilment of the pledges made, but of this I presume you are fully acquainted with through the daily papers. We have arrived at the point where we feel it is necessary to know what the workers of the district desire, and this meeting has been called so that these questions can be laid before you and fully discussed and a definite and harmonious plan agreed upon.

Chairman Campbell was requested to make a statement of the situation. He recited the history of the organization. He holds a clerkship in Recorder J. Denny O'Neil's office and told of how he had been ordered not to be a candidate for re-election as district chairman. He made the statement that when Thomas S. Bigelow was lying at the point of death in New York early this spring certain individuals, thinking he would die, tried to enter into a deal with the Republicans. He was positive in his declaration that today one or more county officials are trying to deal. He then said:

Campbell's Statement.

The situation that confronts the Citizens' party of the Sixth legislative district is most extraordinary. Notwithstanding that we have a thorough and perfect organization in the district, the leaders of the party persist not only in a determination to put an insignificant minority in control, but ask your chairman and other executive officers to step aside and make way for individuals who have never voted the Citizens' ticket.

At a convention of the Sixth district held in June your present officers were elected by acclamation, although it was well known to

COMMISSIONERS HANDLE COURTS WITHOUT GLOVES

President Davis of State Association, During Argument on Who Should Pay Damages for Roads, Roundly Scores Judiciary.

William Davis, commissioner of Cambria county, sprung a sensation at the afternoon session of the convention of the county commissioners from all over the state yesterday when he referred slightingly to the county courts. The subject under debate was the resolution that damages for opening new roads should be paid by the district through which they pass and not by the whole county. Mr. Davis opened the discussion, After scoring the members for their lack of support of the bills produced by the legislative committee of the association, he said:

"If you wish to reduce taxation reduce the incentive to spend recklessly public money. If the petitioners for the opening of a public road had to pay the damages they would not be so quick to sign a petition for the same. It is better to have one mile of good road than ten miles of bad. Then again, the men who start the scheme for the opening of a new road go to the court and get the viewers they want appointed. In Cambria county last year 30 new roads were opened, and 10 new bridges built, and our county is out over $500,000 for their construction and damages."

Warm Discussion Started.

This insinuation on the action of the judiciary made the discussion lively.

J. B. Robinson of Columbia county, opposed the resolution earnestly. He said that a road which passes through a certain district benefits the outside districts—in fact the whole county—and should be built by the county, and that any judge who would allow a petitioner or anyone else to dictate the appointment of a board of viewers ought to be impeached, as he would be unfit to sit on the bench. He said Pennsylvania is thousands of years behind in road making and should awaken to its own interests in that direction.

G. W. Atherton of Franklin county, also opposed the resolution, saying it would be a great injustice and hardship on the poor people who own farms already overburdened with taxes and who would not be materially benefited by the improvement. He said he was amazed at the remarks of Mr. Davis regarding the dictation of the appointment of viewers and said a judge who would allow such a thing in Franklin county would be kicked off the bench.

Davis Sticks to Statement.

"It is true in my county, nevertheless," said Mr. Davis.

Robert F. Hapwood of Fayette county spoke in favor of the resolution. He said it is too easy to get signers to a petition for a road under the present law, and favored a law that makes the abutting and adjoining property holders pay the damages. He said that in Fayette county, where nearly every farm is underlaid with rich veins of coal, that are either being operated or will be in the near future, new roads are being constantly opened, or petitions for them to be opened are being presented to court, all of which must, under the law, be paid by the county. "It is wrong," he said, "to pile this cost on the county, and if the petitioners had to pay the costs they would hesitate about signing the petitions."

J. C. Mercer of Allegheny county also favored the resolution, saying that each year the county pays out thousands of dollars for roads that ought to be built by the farmers whose lands the roads pass through.

Wants More Influence Used.

Senator A. E. Sisson of Erie was undecided as to whether the law should be changed or not, and as chairman of the committee on legislation he suggested that members of the association take more interest in getting votes for the bills before the legislature of interest to the association than they now do.

Mr. Robinson again spoke on the resolution and said that a public road is quite a different matter from a private road and that the laws governing them are entirely different.

A vote on the resolution was declared

GOULD LINES WEST TO BE CONSOLIDATED

Stockholders to Consider Rearrangement of Finances of Different Roads.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Papers are being drawn by attorneys identified with Gould interests for the consolidation of the Gould lines west of Pittsburgh, with the exception of the Ann Arbor and the roads west of St. Louis. The combination will include the Wheeling & Lake Erie, the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western, its two underlying companies, and the Wabash.

The matter will be submitted to the stockholders of the Wabash at their next meeting. It is stated on authority tonight that the details of the plan have not been fully worked out and that for this reason it would be inexpedient to make them public at this time. It is to arrange the details of this consolidation that President Joseph Ramsey, of the Wabash is now in this city conferring with George J. Gould and his attorneys.

The present proposed consolidation involves a rearrangement of the finances of the different roads and the winding up of the syndicate which has in charge the building of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western.

TURKS KILL ONLY INNOCENT PEOPLE

Many Villages Are Burned and Women and Children Are Horribly Murdered.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

SOFIA, BULGARIA, Sept. 30.—A dispatch from the Rila monastery gives a report that the whole population of the district of Razlog has been massacred or has fled. Three thousand women and children, fugitives from the Turkish soldiery, have arrived at Rila. Many villages around Razlog are said to be burning. The town itself is surrounded with tents occupied by the Turkish troops, who avoid fighting and, according to the dispatch, attack only innocent people.

Letters from Monastir say the Turkish authorities are posting a final invitation to the insurgents to return to their homes. The proclamation after referring to the remarkable clemency thus far shown, concludes:

"Therefore for the last time, the Bulgarians who have been deceived and who have left their firesides and trades are invited to return to their homes and villages.

"Those who do not return and refuse to trust to the mercy of the imperial government will be pursued and their homes destroyed in the most severe fashion."

A report issued by the revolutionary committee at Monastir gives detail of a long list of atrocities committed by the Turkish troops in September, including the ruthless slaughter of a number of children, who were hurled from high rocks. It is stated that the Turks killed over 200 peasants in a number of villages and that while taking 150 villagers as prisoners to Nevesko they massacred 75 of them. At another place 15 women were assaulted and then, shut in a barn which was set on fire.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 30.—An imperial irade has been issued calling out 50,000 recruits in the districts of the Second and Third army corps, in order to complete the effectiveness of the Nizam (regular) battalions in Macedonia.

NINE KILLED UNDER TRAINS

Four at Sharon Hill and Five in Chicago Met Death.

MANY OTHERS HURT

Race-Goers Caught in Street Car Upon the Tracks of a Limited.

FAMILY IN DEATH TRAP

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Sharon Hill, Pa., Sept. 30.—With wheels locked and brakes screeching, a fast train on the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington railroad plowed into a family group at this station tonight, killing four and seriously injuring five. The dead:

MISS JANE CLARK, Philadelphia.
THOMAS BROWN, Philadelphia.
DAVID FARRAN, Sharon Hill.
JOHN FARRAN, Sharon Hill.

The injured are: Miss Farran and four others.

The Farran family at Sharon Hill entertained a number of guests today, numbered among whom was some of the dead and injured. After a day of enjoyment the Philadelphians decided to return on the train leaving Sharon Hill at 10:03 o'clock tonight. As a fitting close to the day's festivities, the Sharon Hill family and friends planned to bid them a joyous adieu at the station.

Bent on this, David Farran, his grandson, John Farran, and others who had spent the afternoon with those who were to journey homeward, repaired to the platform on the east side of the track. Between the two northbound and the equal number of southbound tracks there is a protecting railing. Northbound trains are accustomed to take track No. 3. Track No. 4, recently completed, runs to the station on the northbound side and is used mostly for slow going freights, whose orders compel them to halt before reaching a station at which passengers are mounting or alighting from trains.

As the Philadelphia train was heard in the distance, the Farran family and their guests passed from the higher platform of the station to that between the rails nearest the track, not noticing that the speeding train occupied the track on which they were standing.

In the maze of lights the engineer failed to recognize the people in his path until they loomed up in the glare of his headlight. Instantly grasping the lever at the first sign of danger, he threw on the reverse and set the airbrakes, but the train, with sparks flying from its wheels, seemed to leap upon the victims and their bodies were hurled right and left.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Five persons were killed and a score of others were injured in a collision between the Wisconsin Central Limited passenger train which leaves here at 6 o'clock and a Forty-third avenue street car at Fifty-second street tonight. The street car was crowded with passengers returning from the Harlem race track and every man in the car was injured.

The motorman had received the signal to cross and had just reached the center of the tracks when the passenger train crashed into his car. None of the passengers had time to escape. The dead:

F. ROBERTS, body crushed; killed instantly.
WILLIAM GRIFFIN, Kansas City, helper at Hawthorne track; skull fractured.
JOSEPH BUTLER, colored, skull fractured and body crushed.
J. WILLIAMS, jockey who rode second horse in last race at Harlem today; body crushed and skull fractured.
JAMES GALLAGHER, Elmira, N. Y., died on way to hospital.

PITTSBURGH COMPANY TO BUILD A RAILROAD

OMAHA, NEB., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Reports tonight from Casper, Wyoming, say the Pennsylvania Oil & Gas Company of Pittsburgh, is preparing to construct a railroad 50 miles long to Salt Creek oil fields in Matron county from Casper. The road enters territory to which the Northwestern and Burlington have contemplated building for years, but which has lately developed into a good oil field. Formerly the Pennsylvania Company hauled oil in wagons the entire distance.

LABOR LEADERS ARE SATISFIED

Union Men Will Support Roosevelt's Attitude in Miller Case.

DECISION IS ACCEPTED

Conservative Element Believe That President Has Acted Within the Law.

PALMER MAY END DISPUTE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 19, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 30.

President Roosevelt's announcement last night that his decision on the "open-shop" question, as it affected the government printing office, was final, was received today by some of the labor leaders with dissatisfaction and by others with satisfaction. The president left no doubt as to where he stands in this matter, and he made it clear to Mr. Gompers, Mr. Mitchell and the other members of the committee of the American Federation of Labor that he believes that his course is the only legal one and that he is not to be swerved from it.

In this he is supported by the more conservative members of the unions, and they have no hesitation in saying that the contention for a modification of the president's order must stop, not only because there is no probability of it being granted, but because if granted would be declared illegal by the courts, and therefore the unions cannot afford to stand in the light of demanding something that is contrary to the law.

But there are others, more radical in their views and who look upon the words uttered by the president last night as a serious setback for labor organizations. One of these, a leader of a local union, said:

"Labor cannot take kindly to the president's attitude. It may be the unions will see that the president has acted entirely within his official province, and his policy has been outlined by the law itself. That, however, would not placate union labor for the manner in which the president has called the attention of the country to the administration's position on the question."

It is now quite certain that so far as the Bookbinders' union is concerned, the

DEATH A SHOCK TO TRIBUNAL

Herbert's Sudden End Produced Sensation at Boundary Hearing.

SCENE WAS DRAMATIC

British and Americans United in Paying Tributes to Dead Ambassador.

HIS A BRILLIANT CAREER

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

London, Sept. 30.—Sir Michael Herbert, the British ambassador to the United States, died to day at Davos Platz, Switzerland, after a long and plucky fight against consumption, which terminated with tragic suddenness. The first announcement of the ambassador's untimely end was made at this afternoon's session of the Alaskan boundary commission.

Hannis Taylor, in behalf of the United States, had finished his lengthy argument at about three o'clock p. m., and Sir Edward Carson, the solicitor general, was replying, with an interesting legal argument dealing with maps and the ancient Vancouver controversy, which was half-heartedly paid attention to by those present and several of them made preparations to leave the hall as the solicitor general delved still deeper into the dry-as-dust detail, when Chief Justice Alverstone held up his hand and Sir Edward sat down.

A second later, the commission, counsel, secretaries and spectators sat spellbound, as Lord Alverstone, with trembling voice and tears coursing down his cheeks, announced that Sir Michael Herbert was dead. Maps and boundaries were utterly forgotten. With dramatic pathos the international contestants became fellow sympathizers. Instead of astonishment at Lord Alverstone's tribute to the man whose death was not even expected. Rather than trust to extempore expression Lord Alverstone had jotted down a few sentiments, which he read as follows:

Alverstone's High Tribute.

"The members of the tribunal have just learned with the deepest sorrow of the death of Sir Michael Herbert, who, in behalf of Great Britain, negotiated and signed the treaty by which this tribunal was constituted, and under which

EMPLOYES' STOCK HOLDINGS WILL BE REDEEMED AT COST

United States Steel Corporation Will Purchase Its Securities from Subscribers at End of Five Years.

To prevent any apprehension that might arise on account of the slump in the market value, a circular was issued yesterday, by order of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation, offering a return at the end of the five-year period of the full amount paid for the stock by employes who took advantage of this offer to become stockholders.

The preferred stock of the corporation being a cumulative stock, paying 7 per cent on $100 par and sold at $82 50 to employes, is paying really about 8.5 per cent. Calculating money as worth 6 per cent, there is a balance of about 2½ per cent profit in this offer for those who keep the stock and in 1906 sell it back to the corporation. In other words, an employe who took 10 shares at $82 50 would receive annually for the five years $70. The $825 needed to buy the stock could be had at 6 per cent interest, or $49 50 a year, leaving a balance of $23 a year on the transaction. At the end of the five years the stock can under this offer be sold back to the corporation at the price originally paid, $825.

The stockholders who thus sell stock back will, however, lose the various benefits and rebates which were described in the circular issued when the offer was made.

The full circular, which was issued in New York yesterday after a meeting of the finance committee, follows:

To the officers and employes of the United States Steel Corporation and of its subsidiary companies, who subscribed for the preferred stock of the corporation pursuant to the circular letter of December 31, 1902:

The finance committee sees no reason to change its opinion as to the intrinsic value of the preferred stock subscribed for pursuant to the said circular, but, of course, it recognizes that the decline in the market or selling price naturally may occasion anxiety in the minds of the subscribers under the circular. Accordingly it deems it proper now to dispel apprehension of the loss by the following additional offer or guarantee:

The corporation will, at any time during January or February, 1908, pay to every subscribing officer and employe who shall have retained this stock for the full period of five years, and otherwise complied with the terms of the circular, but for a change for the stock, less the rebates and benefits he shall have been entitled to under the circular and including benefits he shall have received on account of differences between interest and dividends which he will in any event retain) provided he wishes to sell the stock for that price at that time.

By order of the finance committee.

it is at this moment sitting. I cannot trust myself to express the feeling of grief which this announcement has caused to every member of this tribunal, and to many others who had the great privilege of Herbert's friendship. A worthy successor to the great men who have filled the high office he held, he brought to his duties not only great ability, but the most charming personal gifts.

"I and others here have, in the course of our public life, been brought into close official and personal connection with him. It is no language exaggeration to say that no man ever brought to the discharge of his duties higher ideals, and few, if any, greater qualifications. His majesty and the British nation have lost a devoted public servant and many of us have lost a cherished personal friend."

In the meantime Ambassador Choate had entered. He had just come from Lord Lansdowne's room where he learned the news. The intense silence which followed the delivery of Lord Alverstone's tribute was broken by Jacob M. Dickinson of American counsel, who voiced the American sorrow and proposed an adjournment of the commission. Solicitor General Carson followed and the commission quietly broke up until tomorrow.

Sir Michael had been at Davos-Platz about five weeks. When he returned to London from America he confessed that he felt far from well, but his physicians still held out hopes of his conquering the consumption. The ambassador expected to leave Davos-Platz a week or so ago, in order to greet the Alaskan commissioners here, but he contracted bronchitis. Of this he wrote only a few days ago, quite slightingly, saying it was only annoying because on account of it the doctor insisted on his not going to London to see his American friends.

Lady Herbert intended to leave Switzerland a short time ago with her children, but the appearance of scarlet fever changed her plans and remained at Davos-Platz.

The British embassy made the following statement:

"As you know, Sir Michael Herbert went to Washington from Paris. Everyone in the embassy knew Sir Michael, appreciated his fine qualities and looked upon him as one of the foremost men in the British diplomatic service. Certainly he possessed qualifications which made him peculiarly valuable at Washington. We feel that we have not only sustained a distinct loss, but, that the service has been crippled by his death."

ADDRESS ISSUED BY FEDERATION

Executive Council Outlines Progress, Made Toward Labor Legislation.

ROOSEVELT PROMISES HIS AID

President Said to Favor Passage by Congress of a Measure Providing for an Eight-Hour Work Day—Discussion on Injunction.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor tonight issued the following address:

To Organized Labor of America, Greeting:

Dear Sirs and Brothers—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has recently addressed organized labor by circular on subjects including bills which will be introduced in the forthcoming session of congress in the interest of the wage earners of our country, and which were committed to us by you through your representatives at the last American Federation of Labor convention. Since then the executive council has held several sessions, and, of all legislative measures, the eight-hour and the anti-injunction bills have received our especial attention.

The eight-hour day, because of the wonderful improvement in the methods of wealth production, by which the needs of man and the luxuries of life can be created in a work day of eight hours, we demand its enforcement, not only in private employment, but also on all work performed by or on behalf of the government, whether the employment be direct, by contract or by sub-contract.

While we seek to avoid and avert strikes and industrial disputes, any attempt to cripple the right of labor as its last resort to strike in defense of our rights simply means labor's enslavement; for industrial tranquility by agreement through the methods of conciliation and fair arbitration is not only possible and attainable when the workers are organized and have the liberty to exercise their constitutional rights.

Writ of Injunction Abused.

The writ of injunction in its proper sphere is a right and protection. It was never designed for the purpose to which it is now put in industrial disputes. There is not now upon the statute books of any state or upon the statute books of the federal government a line upon which authority is given the courts for the issuance of injunctions such as have been issued in industrial disputes. It is not the use, but the abuse by the courts of the writ of injunction against which we protest, which is in direct conflict with the rights guaranteed to our people by the constitution of our country.

The men in the organized labor movement are law-abiding, faithful and loyal citizens. They have no desire for immunity from the laws governing other citizens, but they most emphatically resent and protest against the actions of courts convicting men for acts which they have the legal right to perform, and then, too, without the right of a trial by a jury of their peers.

The American principle of equal justice before the law is being violated day after day. The relics of antiquated methods are being enshrined by some judges, while others so misinterpret existing law as to thereby aim to financially ruin our unions and mulct our men out of the hard earnings therewith. We furthermore made plain that in any form of employment, excepting that so circumscribed, he believed the full employment of union men was preferable either to non-union or "open shops."

Opposed to "Open Shops."

In view of the publicity given this subject, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor takes this opportunity to say that the trade union movement stands for strictly union shops, experience having proved that where the "open shop" system has been tried reduction in wages and profits have ensued, with general disaster to the industry practicing that system and therefore declares that the best interests of the labor movement calls for the employment of union workers and discourages in every way, shape and form the deteriorating effects which follow the recognition of the "open shops."

The toiling masses, and particularly the organized wage earners, cannot, must not and will not surrender one jot of that they have secured, must organize the yet unorganized, unite and federate those already organized to present a solid phalanx of the grand army of labor in earnest and emphatic protest against judicial usurpation or capitalistic invasion of our rights attempted no matter by whom or from whatsoever source.

The hope for right and justice hereafter, as well as the perpetuation of liberty and our republican institutions, lies in organized labor. Therefore, with the consciousness of the justice and soundness of our position, we appeal to the judgment of all men, and particularly to the toilers of America, that they organize, unite and federate without regard to trade, calling, nationality, locality, sex, politics, color or religion.

Fraternally yours,
SAMUEL GOMPERS, President.
JAMES DUNCAN, First Vice President.
JOHN MITCHELL, Second Vice President.
JAMES O'CONNELL, Third Vice President.
MAX MORRIS, Fourth Vice President.
THOMAS I. KIDD, Fifth Vice President.
D. A. HAYES, Sixth Vice President.
JOHN B. LENNON, Treasurer.
FRANK MORRISON, Secretary.
Executive Council American Federation of Labor.

Only three days longer will there be opportunity to hear Sousa at the expo. Grand Welsh chorus tonight.

HERRICK HELPS JOHNSON OUT OF FINANCIAL DISTRESS

(Special Telegram to The Gazette.)

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 30.—By borrowing from various funds and from banks that carry city deposits, the administration has secured money to meet its obligations that mature October 1 in New York, it became necessary to make these temporary loans to preserve the city's credit.

Thursday there will be due from the city at the American Exchange National bank at New York $623,000. The city had planned to sell bonds and raise the funds, but was unable to sell them privately. It was the duty of City Auditor Madigan to get the money and there was nothing to do but make temporary loans and repay them as quickly as the city is able to sell its securities.

In this extremity Myron T. Herrick's bank, the Society for Savings, was called on to help out Mayor Johnson's administration, and it responded by putting $100,000 where it was available for the city's use.

The city also borrowed $150,000 from the new sinking fund commission, the loan being made for one month, during which time city officials have reason to believe they can dispose of the bonds and repay the loan. By loans from other city funds $632,000 was raised and forwarded to New York.

Thus Mr. Herrick came to the rescue of Mayor Johnson, his rival for governor.

SIXTH CITIZENS FOR REPUBLICANS

you that Thomas S. Bigelow, Mayor Hays and all of the county officers elected by the Citizens were openly or secretly opposed to the candidates elected by you. This was simply because we had made ourselves obnoxious to them by our persistent and earnest efforts to induce them to keep their promises to the general public and to the workers of our district. They not only endeavored to supplant your officers, but they have threatened some of them. I cannot ignore the threats that have been made to depose me as chairman, and to injure me in my present occupation. I have been repeatedly requested to declare my position. My reply has invariably been the same: "I will do whatever the boys want." I now repeat that I will be governed entirely by your action.

Leaves It to the Committee.

These so-called leaders have openly declared that they can get along without us. They forget Abraham Lincoln's advice, "Never swap horses while crossing stream." They only forget that advice, but they seem to be ignorant of the fact that the political stream at this time is at flood height. If they do not want us, what interest have we in connection with them? Ought we to persist in our efforts to save them, or should we allow them to go down in the flood of popular indignation? They say that they will win the coming fight. Be it granted that they will win the coming fight, what do they win by honest, untiring effort, by argument, logic or reason? It means that they will attempt to win by dishonest, corrupt and un-American methods.

Have they kept any their promises or pledges? Have they even attempted to do so? What positive assurances have we that they will not be betrayed and sold out in the new platform? They denounce in unmeasured terms the Republican county organization, but they fail to show us where they have brought about any amendments. On the contrary they have persistently endeavored to break into the Republican camp. They say how that with the prestige of victory this fall they will be in full control of the party next year. What are you going to do?

Many Men Declare Themselves.

Many members of the committee made speeches. Thomas Morgan of Carnegie, member of the committee of 82 and treasurer of the district organization, said the Citizens could not show when a single promise made to the people had been kept. "They have done nothing," said he, "but lie from beginning to end."

George Rosser of Carnegie said that as the bosses had not kept their promises in the past they could not be expected to in the future.

Col. W. J. Neison of Coraopolis, said: "I have made up my mind that it is not a question of reform, but bossism. If the Citizens party must be perpetuated by bossism, let us forsake the Citizens party. Let us go back to the good old party that was organized years ago within sound of my voice."

Fred Dahner of Elliott borough said that as Bigelow is running the Citizens party for Bigelow, he wanted to get out of it. He had expected reform and got rottenness." Other interesting addresses were made by J. S. Armor of Sheraden, George Faunce of Carnegie, W. H. Munley and H. H. Negley. The latter fully reviewed the history as to the treatment of the Sixth district organization. He said that when the county patronage was distributed, Recorder O'Neil said that he was making all appointments subject to the approval and at the suggestion of Thomas S. Bigelow. The latter said: "The boys on the hill have taken the bit in their teeth and are making all of the appointments.

What Verner Said.

Negley told of the recent interviews with Chairman Verner, who is credited with saying it is impossible for the Citizens to live up to all of their promises. He recited what occurred at the meeting the other day when Verner is credited with saying:

"We don't care ——— what it will cost, we are going to win this fight. Now, what will cure this trouble in the Sixth district."

Negley said that he replied:

"I have not touched a dirty, lousey cent of your's or Bigelow's money and I do not intend to. If you do not intend to live up to your promises, don't count me in."

Since this meeting Negley says that he was visited by a Bigelow machine man and offered the appointment of first assistant district attorney in the event of success in November. The man said he could give him a pledge in writing.

"This afternoon," said Negley, "we arranged a meeting with Verner. We waited an hour and ten minutes and he did not appear. I suppose the reason for his absence is explained by Secretary Clark, who said: 'We don't rely on the country districts, but on the city to get our majority.' Bigelow and Verner have told me that all the Citizens would be in the Republican ranks next year. Rather than be led in by these leaders I will go in myself."

The resolutions given above were introduced by Mr. Morgan of Carnegie. There was not a dissenting vote to their adoption.

WILL BE NO DECISION.

Bigelow Machine Will Not Attempt to Settle the Fourteenth Ward Contest.

The Bigelow machine has given up hopes of settling the Fourteenth ward contest. It has been decided to allow both the Breck and Moore committees to open headquarters and conduct separate campaigns. This decision was reached because the bosses could not do anything else. Headquarters will throw its support to Breck and if his crowd makes the better showing, a good excuse will be found for ousting Stevenson and Moore before the city election in February.

The Republicans of McKeesport of the city and county committees held a rally in the offices of Mayor George J. F. Falkenstein last evening and laid plans for the opening of the campaign. The meeting was presided over by Mayor Falkenstein and besides him the following men made addresses: E. J. Board, ex-Controller W. E. Thompson, City Treasurer Samuel Milliken, Attorney R. S. Stents and James W. Dickson, Republican nominee for sheriff.

ALL WANT NATURAL GAS.

Scores of coal-burning householders are applying every day to the Philadelphia Company for natural gas. The company's offer to make free service line connections and set meter free of charge will be withdrawn Oct. 15. Everybody knows gas is the ideal fuel. No dust, ashes, smoke or labor, and it's cheaper than coal. Ask at 425 Sixth avenue, or any Philadelphia Company office.

COMMISSIONERS HANDLE COURT

by the president carried in the affirmative. Mr. Robinson asked for a division.

"You are too late," said the president. "I have already declared the motion carried."

"Well," cried Mr. Robinson, "we are surely governed here by parliamentary rules. They allow for a division vote to be taken."

"That may be good parliamentary law in Columbia county," the president said, "but it don't go here."

Many Mad at Ruling.

There was no appeal from the president's ruling, but there was much quiet grumbling over it, and a yea and nay vote been taken many declare the resolution would have been defeated.

The question, "What Liability is Imposed on the County Commissioners by the Juvenile Court Act of 1903?" caused considerable discussion, and it was finally decided that the commissioners must pay all the expenses for arrest, maintenance and court trials enacted by the act.

The convention, which is the seventeenth annual gathering, began in the supreme court room in the county building yesterday morning, 66 of the 68 counties in the state being represented. Most of the counties had a full delegation, consisting of the three commissioners, their chief clerk and their solicitor.

Welcomed by T. B. Alcorn.

President William Davis of Cambria county called the meeting to order and the delegates were welcomed by County Solicitor Thomas B. Alcorn. J. S. Shirley of Clarion county made a brief response and the convention commenced business by electing the following officers for the coming year: J. F. Hale Jenkins of Montgomery county, president; T. B. Alcorn, Allegheny and Louis J. Kirk, Lancaster, vice presidents; O. R. Brownfield, Fayette, E. S. Keiper, Dauphin, and W. S. Hostler, Blair, secretaries.

The president appointed the following committees:

Committee on Auditing—H. S. Harding, Wyoming county; Samuel E. Townsend, Fayette county, and D. M. Anders, Montgomery county.

Committee on Resolutions—A. E. Sisson, Erie county; J. S. Shirley, Clarion county; D. L. McNabb, Lawrence county; Philip H. Meyer, Cambria county; Johnston Moorehead, Fayette county; James M. Barnett, Perry county, and Andrew Stewart, Venango county.

The convention begins its closing session at 9 a. m. today.

CROATIANS ORGANIZE UNDER POLICE GUARD

Anarchists Threaten to Blow Up the St. Nicholas Church, Allegheny.

Four policemen under command of Lieut. John Bopp stood guard at St. Nicholas Croatian church, Allegheny, last night while the Croatian National league was being formed. Socialists and anarchists were feared. The latter, it is said, have prevented two meetings of the Croatians within two weeks by threats that the church would be blown up with dynamite if such attempt were made to organize a Croatian National league.

The object of the proposed league is to preserve in the Croatians a love of the mother country and its customs, and to instill in them allegiance to the United States. It encourages the Croatians living here to become naturalized American citizens. All this is opposed by the Socialists and anarchists, who have foresworn allegiance to any government.

In the meeting Frank Sepich declared the troubles in Croatia were caused by the Hungarians, and many of the latter race, opposed to the formation of Croatian leagues in this country, are said to be among those who have threatened violence. The following officers of the league were elected: President, Frank Sepich; vice president, Marq Paun; secretary, Nicholas Pataky.

NEW CHORUS LEADER.

Prof. Talli Esen Morgan May Come to Second Presbyterian Church.

Music, and the relation of the choir to the congregation, was the subject of an address made last evening by Prof. Talli Esen Morgan, who has been asked to take charge of the chorus of the Second Presbyterian church, before several hundred members of that church. His address followed the regular Wednesday night services and a devotional meeting conducted by the Rev. Mr. White of China.

The training of the voices of the Second church for two years was in charge of Prof. Morgan, who was succeeded by Benjamin Franklin Butts. Mr. Butts has resigned to do evangelistic singing in the west.

Prof. Morgan is now in charge of the Young Men's Christian association chorus of New York city, where he also teaches singing. There seems to be little doubt but that he will train the Second church's choir, coming here every Saturday from New York and remaining over Sunday.

MURDERED GIRL FEARED GARWOOD

Hilda Vogel Tried to Escape the Attentions of Her Aged Lover.

FORCED HER WITH THREATS

Mrs. Bertha Patton Says the Coal Optioner Stated He Would Kill the Girl and Himself If She Did Not Live With Him.

That George W. Garwood, the coal optioner of California, Pa., had on more than one occasion threatened the life of Hilda Vogel, the young girl whom he killed prior to committing suicide in a room at No. 131 Moultrie street, on Tuesday, and that the girl feared the man and once, at least, ran away from him and hid with friends, are facts that will probably be brought out at the inquest into the deaths next week.

Letters of a threatening nature written to the girl by Garwood have been found. In one he writes: "If we do not live together, we will die together. I can't live without you, so we both must die unless you consent to be mine." Mrs. Bertha Patton of 410 Congress street, with whom Hilda Vogel once lived, will testify at the inquest and her testimony will be interesting. Mrs. Patton said last night:

"I had known Hilda Vogel casually for some time. About July 8 she came to me and told me she wanted to get away from George Garwood. I had previously met him through her. Hilda introduced him to me as her uncle. Hilda stayed with me for about three weeks, helping me with some housework. Toward the end of the three weeks Garwood came to my house and asked if Hilda was there.

"Hilda had asked me to deny knowing her whereabouts, so I told Garwood she was not with me, but was probably at the home of her parents in Mt. Oliver. He told me that if Hilda did not come back to live with him he would kill her and then end his own life. He offered me some money to get the girl and bring her back to him. This I refused to do.

"I told Hilda of the man's threat and warned her not to have anything more to do with him. She said she feared he would do her harm and never wanted to see him again. I believe she went back to him because she was afraid if she didn't he really would kill her.

"Toward the end of July George Garwood and Hilda came to my house and told me they were living together in Moultrie street. Since then I again met the girl and she told me he had again threatened her life. She never told me the man was married and I do not believe she knew he was.

Prior to living at Mrs. Patton's Hilda Vogel boarded with a Mrs. Coleman in Chestnut street. She was taken there by Garwood who said he was her uncle, and Mrs. Coleman was always led to believe Garwood really was Hilda's uncle.

Charles Nelson, the South Side bartender with whom Hilda was in love, and of whom Garwood was said to be jealous, was very reticent concerning the affair when seen last night. He is staying with the Vogels, in Ormsby avenue, until after Hilda is buried. He stated last night that he knew Garwood, and of his attentions to Hilda. He said he met the girl last March and was engaged to marry her next summer. Nelson stated he had an engagement with Hilda for Tuesday night, the evening of the tragedy and that they were going to visit the Vogels together.

The remains of Hilda Vogel have been prepared for burial and reposed last night in a white coffin in the front parlor of the little home in Mt. Oliver. The girl's head was covered with a white veil. At her feet was a large bunch of American Beauty roses with a card bearing the inscription "With the sympathy of Mr. Charles Nelson." The remains will be interred in St. Joseph's cemetery this morning at 6:30 o'clock.

All during yesterday a stream of persons passed into the little parlor and viewed the remains of the girl. Hundreds of her friends, many of whom she had known from childhood, entered the room and with a gasp at the white-shrouded figure passed out another door with a sigh. The visiting kept up until late last night and the father, Ferdinand Vogel, and Hilda's sister Augusta, were the recipients of many expressions of condolence.

The body of George Garwood which was taken from the morgue on Tuesday night was sent to California, Pa., yesterday morning. It was received there by the family and will be buried from his home either today or tomorrow.

A special received from California, Pa., last night states that if Mrs. Rachel Garwood did not know on Tuesday that her husband intended to make away with himself at Pittsburgh, she evidently had pretty strong suspicions that something of the sort was about to happen. During the day she received the registered packet, the receipt for which was found in Garwood's pocket in the Moultrie street room. After reading the letter Mrs. Garwood was greatly agitated, but refused to make known its contents. She only said her husband was not feeling well. At the same time she evidently had a premonition that something was impending, something she could not prevent. The news of the suicide seemed to surprise her but little. The family is saying nothing about the affair, however, and little of what they knew or suspected has been made public.

Many rumors are afloat at California. Garwood was well known there and nothing else was talked of all day yesterday. The general opinion is that the man must have been laboring under some terrible mental excitement to have committed such an act. No one at California believes that the Vogel girl did the shooting. The majority think that Garwood's money was nearly gone, he having lavishly spent it on the girl, having almost bankrupted himself.

The body of Garwood arrived at California shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the Pennsylvania railroad and a great crowd of curious sightseers was at the station and followed the corps to the modest home of the wife. Funeral arrangements were not completed until a late hour last night. Word was awaited from a son in the west. The funeral services will be concluded at 2 o'clock this afternoon and later the remains will be taken to Brownsville for interment. This will likely be private.

Garwood's father, old Benedict Garwood, was an eccentric character in Luzerne township, where the Garwoods resided for several generations. He rode about the country a great deal at night, and was often met by people 10 and 12 miles from home between midnight and morning.

Fusion Ticket in New York Badly Crippled by Coup of Tammany Leaders.

CANDIDATES MAY BE AXED

Republicans and Fusion Leaders Expect to Abandon Present Plan and Get New Candidates if They Accept the Tender of the Democratic Nomination.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The complication over the Grout-Fornes-Tammany incident will in all probability lead to the fusion party abandoning the plan to open the campaign on Saturday night. It had been planned to have a monster meeting with Low, Grout and Fornes as the principal speakers, but Tammany's coup of declaring it will have Grout and Fornes on the Democratic ticket has created such a spirit of hostility that a crisis of the incident must soon be reached.

Timothy L. Woodruff said today that he had no doubt the Republican city convention would reconvene, rescind its action in nominating Grout and Fornes and put up a new ticket. There are no legal complications in the way of declaring the places vacant on the ticket, but such a move it is predicted will result in a further complication of a very much involved situation. Senator Platt and Gov. Odell held a long conference at the Fifth avenue hotel this morning, and it is expected that some formal statement will be made to the Republican voters.

This morning Leader Murphy of Tammany announced that at the Democratic convention tomorrow night he will nominate Congressman McClellan for mayor, and Grout for comptroller and Fornes for president. The Kings county organization may bolt on Grout and Fornes. Shortly before noon H. Fulton Cutting announced that he had addressed a letter to Grout asking him to define his position in a manner that would leave no possible room for doubt.

Edward Lauterbach today indicated the method that may be resorted to, if deemed necessary, to remove Grout and Fornes by saying that a convention does not become officially dead, even if adjourned sine die, until after the filing of its nomination certificates. Until this is done it is, he said, subject to the call of the chair, and can meet to rescind any action taken and a committee entrusted with power can do the same thing. On the other hand, Mr. Voorhis, president of the board of elections said that since the Republican convention had met, nominated candidates and adjourned sine die, it was absolutely necessary that the secretary of the party file these nominations and no others within 30 days and that he does not he is guilty of a misdemeanor and can be mandamused to compel him to file the nominations.

GOVERNOR PLEASED.

While in Pittsburgh, En Route from Franklin to Erie, He Talks of Reception.

In the special train that carried them to Franklin to attend Gen. Charles Miller's reception to Governor Pennypacker and party returned Pittsburgh yesterday morning. At the Union station the governor left the others, and with Mrs. Pennypacker, Adjt. Gen. T. J. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart started for Erie, where yesterday afternoon he made his address. He occupied a private official car of the Pennsylvania lines west on the trip.

At the station the governor expressed much pleasure over the reception tendered him and his staff by Gen. Miller and his command. The brilliance of the event has rarely if ever been equaled in the history of the state guard.

A number of people, who had learned that the state's chief executive was at the station, called to shake hands with him, and he held a small levee in the waiting room.

ROOSEVELT IS GRIEVED.

Expresses Sympathy to Lady Herbert for Distinguished Husband's Death.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The following statement by authority of the president was issued at the White House today: "The president is deeply shocked and grieved at the death of Sir Michael Herbert, both because of his personal affection for Sir Michael and because of his high appreciation as an official." President Roosevelt was deeply grieved when informed of the death of Sir Michael Herbert, the British ambassador to this country. He and Sir Michael and Lady Herbert were personal as well as official friends, and he has sent a personal message of condolence to Lady Herbert.

CALLED A PASTOR.

Brighton Road Presbyterian Church Wants the Rev. Robert H. Allen.

The Brighton road Presbyterian church, Allegheny, last evening extended an unanimous call to the Rev. Robert H. Allen of Salem Presbyterian church, Blackhawk, Beaver county. Mr. Allen preached in the Brighton road church last Sunday. As the call is unanimous it is believed he will accept.

The vacancy in the pulpit was caused by the former pastor, the Rev. Joseph A. Stevenson, accepting the presidency of the Mary Holmes seminary, West Point, Miss. He assumed the position September 1, but the church has been without a pastor since July 22.

DEMOCRATS OPEN STATE CAMPAIGN

Party Candidates Were Formally Apprised of Their Nominations at Rally.

W. J. BRENNEN TOOK PART

Represented Allegheny County at Gathering—Guffey Absent—Chairman Hall and Ex-Gov. Pattison Chief Attractions.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ALLENTOWN, PA., Sept. 30.—Five hundred persons attended the opening meeting here tonight of the Democratic campaign. The candidates on the state ticket were formally notified of their nomination and addresses were delivered by former Gov. Pattison of Philadelphia, William J. Brennen of Pittsburg, and by the candidates themselves.

State Senator Arthur G. Dewalt of this place, candidate for auditor general, and Mr. Pattison were the principal orators of the evening, although a half dozen persons were down on the program for a share of the glory.

The opening exercises lacked the presence of Col. James M. Guffey and State Chairman Hall posed as the star attraction. Secretary of the Democratic state committee, Meeker, had practically entire charge of the arrangements for the night's meeting. The meeting was held in the Lyric theater. One of the galleries was empty and the other was half filled. Thomas Diefenderfer was permanent chairman of the meeting and State Senator Webster Grim of Bucks county delivered the address which made the four men on the state ticket aware that a Democratic convention had been held several weeks ago in Harrisburg.

John A. Ward of Philadelphia and former Judge Calvin Rayborn of Armstrong county, candidates for superior court judge, were the speakers. Each made brief remarks. William J. Brennen, representing the Democrats of Allegheny county, who are engaged in a fusion campaign at the present time, spoke at considerable length on what he termed "state issues."

He alluded with considerable emphasis to the fact that the "Democratic party in Allegheny county is alive," and seemed surprised when the announcement was not greeted with applause.

Mr. Pattison was somewhat embarrassed in presenting his thoughts to the audience and confessed that the "tireless energy" of the other speakers had about exhausted everything in sight in the way of campaign material. In his address he declared the Republican organization in Pennsylvania to be "the biggest machine in the United States."

GREASED PIG BROKE UP THE BASEBALL GAME

Ox Was Roasted and Many Sports Were Indulged in by Mt. Washington Residents.

The merchants and business men of Mount Washington held an ox-roast and social carnival yesterday afternoon and evening at Grove station, near Castle Shannon. About 1,000 persons attended the carnival. An immense ox was roasted, and was carved and served to the crowd.

Dancing was indulged in all day. The baseball game between the merchants of Allentown and Mount Washington progressed smoothly until the second inning, when the greased pig made its appearance, when the contest was forgotten and all made a dash for the porker, which was caught by Fred Weifrom of Mount Washington. The fat men's race had three entries, Fred Englert winning. Three started in the women's race, which was won with ease by Mrs. Schell. The 100-yard dash was won by Conroy Lemstock. The potato race was a tie between the South Side and Mount Washington butchers, was a half barrel of beer.

The committee in charge consisted of Jacob Pfeil, chairman, Frank Bacon, secretary; William Laughlin, treasurer; George Brethauer, Peter Soffel, A. Lincoln Jones, Daniel Lammeck, Herman Soffel, William D. Hodgson, James Sims, L. V. Hewitt, William Beyer, L. H. Hartman, James Graham, Henry Foke, J. C. Schimmel, John Krashbiler, John L. Sturm and William Tranter.

NEW TRUST COMPANY.

"Mechanics" Is Name Chosen for Another Financial Institution Here.

Several well-known Pittsburghers and Alleghenians are interested in the formation of a new trust company to be known as the Mechanics Trust Company. It will have a home in the downtown section of Pittsburgh and it is claimed that several options on suitable locations have been secured, although no choice has yet been made of any one.

The application for the charter for the company will be made on October 15. It was stated last night that if this went through in the regular routine it would be issued before November 15, and the company expects to be doing business before the winter is over.

The president of the company will probably be John M. Montgomery of Sewickley, who has been very active in the organization. Others interested are Frank J. Postel, Dr. Walter F. Edmundson, Thomas C. Perrine and S. L. Stewart.

"open shop" question will be dropped and the issue will be narrowed down to the demand for the discharge of Miller on the charge preferred. On this point the union men glean hope from the president's remarks last night. He said:

"The question of his personal fitness is one to be settled in the routine of administrative detail, and cannot be allowed to conflict with or to complicate the larger question of governmental discrimination for or against him, or any other man because he is or is not a member of a union. This is the only question now before me for decision, and as to this my decision is final."

This gives the impression that the president intends to let Public Printer Palmer settle the question of Miller's personal fitness and if this is correct the Bookbinders' union believes it will have little trouble in sustaining the charges filed.

One of the charges which the union is pressing against Miller relates to an alleged violation of section 1,784 of the revised statutes which punishes by disbarment from the government service any employe of the government who accepts a present from a subordinate or any one drawing a lower salary. The bookbinders, in their charges against Miller, claim that he has on two occasions accepted such presents, indirectly at least, and that he has merited dismissal by so doing.

EASTERN OUTPUT CUT 20 PER CENT

Furnace Operators in that District Agree on Restriction for October in Pig Iron.

LOCAL METAL PLANTS TO RUN

J. G. Butler, Jr., Tells of Some of the Plans Evolved at the Meeting of Pittsburgh and Central West Furnace Owners Here on Tuesday.

The 40 owners of pig iron furnaces in the eastern district, which comprises nearly everything east of Harrisburg, who held a meeting some two weeks ago in New York to take action to hold up the pig iron market, met again yesterday at No. 71 Broadway, and decided to make a 20-per-cent. reduction of the output for the month of October only. This may be repeated in the future if the pig iron men of other districts do likewise. Archer Brown, who was chairman of the meeting, said afterwards:

"We have agreed to make a reduction of 20 per cent. of the output for October. The decrease of wages was not even mentioned."

The reduction will be pro-rata. Mr. Brown said he had reason to believe that the Pittsburgh and Western district furnaces would do as the eastern furnaces have done. As to the southern furnaces, they have done nothing as yet to indicate that they will regulate the output.

"To obtain its proportion of the reduction in the ouput of pig iron the United States Steel Corporation will close down its cold metal furnaces and keep its hot metal furnaces running," said J. G. Butler, Jr., president of the Bessemer Furnace association and one of the members of the committee appointed at the meeting of the furnace operators here Tuesday to fix the method of restricting the furnace output. In the course of an interview at Youngstown yesterday, he said:

"There will be no further meeting of the operators, but the committee will meet in Pittsburgh early next week to fix the time for banking the furnaces. There will be no discrimination in favor of any furnace, in the case of the Steel Corporation, the furnaces supplying hot metal for plants instead of running the metal into pigs will be kept in operation and the outlying furnaces will be closed down. The same rule will apply to other furnaces of the same kind."

When asked if the Steel Corporation had tried yet to place an order for pig iron for the last quarter he said that it had not, although it may do so.

"With this curtailment the furnaces may have none to sell," he said. "In any event this plan will get the output down to normal. Before the first of the year things will be in good shape. We did not consider beyond the first of the year, believing that all would be straightened out by that time."

is morning and the result will be a onster clam bake, at Southern park, is afternoon, which promises to be omething decidedly out of the ordinary the way of a "stag" outing in the tory of Allegheny county.

primary purpose of the clam bake the foundation of a fund for tion of a dormitory for the the South Side hospital. Incithere will be afforded a great ity for politicians and business ssional men to get together and lly time and plenty of good eatthe young women who serve as at the South Side hospital are in need of proper accommodations the way of a dormitory, and recogzing this fact, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, resident of the hospital, in casting out for some plan whereby a start ight be made toward relieving the doritory situation, decided that an oldshioned New England clam bake ould be a money-maker.

Dr. Barchfeld enlisted the good ofces of Hammel, who has a reputation for his ability in the matter of arrangfor good things to eat, to superinf the gastronomical end of today's fair. The Gazette has already told how they went to New York and captured 'Lish West and placed an order for the wherewithal to build one of the most elaborate clam bakes ever known, the order including among other things, 1,000 hard shell clams, 700 lobsters, 500 pounds of blue fish, 400 chickens and 2600 ears of corn, to say nothing of potatoes, tripe and other edibles.

Well, the stuff is all here and between and 4 o'clock this afternoon Cap'n. sh will lift the big tarpaulin off the ing mound and then there will be thing doing.

f the weather is pleasant there will a great crowd at Southern park. hal has arranged to seat 500 at one and there will be enough eating ice that many and then some. Nearly every man in the two cities who as ever sampled the genuine clam bake as his mouth watering for this afternoon's spread. Cap'n. 'Lish is staking his everlasting reputation on the excellence of the bake and is jealously guarding the secret of the "sauce" he is going to concoct to go with the clams. He says he will never return to the shades of Fulton market unless he carries with him the praises of Pittsburghers and the freedom of the city.

MAYOR HAYS SIGNS FILTRATION BILL

City Executive Ignores Opinion of Solicitor Rodgers That Measure Is Illegal.

CONTROLLER IS UNDECIDED

He Will Not Pay Experts Unless Solicitor Changes His Mind—Administration Is Anxious to Avoid Another Fight in Councils.

In spite of the fact that Solicitor William B. Rodgers decided yesterday that the Brown filtration resolution had been passed illegally by councils, William B. Hays signed the bill after being notified of the city solicitor's decision.

Assistant Controller E.S. Morrow stated yesterday that the controller would not approve any warrants for the payment of experts unless Mr. Rodgers changed his opinion. He said he could not account for the action of the mayor in signing the bill in the face of Mr. Rodgers' opinion that a resolution providing for the payment of money must be printed the same as an ordinance.

City Clerk E. W. Hassler yesterday called upon Mr. Rodgers, and the latter gave the opinion that all resolutions providing for the payment of money should be printed for councils. The city clerk so reported to Assistant Controller Morrow, and the latter forthwith sent the filtration resolution, which had been transmitted to his keeping for the finance committee, back to the city clerk. Accompanying the resolution Mr. Morrow explained that it had been returned in accordance with the opinion of the city solicitor.

The city clerk then took the resolution and the communication from the assistant controller to Mayor Hays. The mayor read the assistant controller's statement, but signed the bill on the spot.

Director E. M. Bigelow said he doubted whether the city solicitor had given an opinion that the resolution was illegal. The director said the resolution had been passed in the same manner as all other resolutions had been passed by councils for years, and that only ordinances had been printed. He said it would be revolutionary to change the system, as there are hundreds of resolutions passed by councils for the payment of small amounts, and if these resolutions were printed the cost of printing would exceed the amount of the money named in the resolution.

It seems that an effort will be made by the administration to get a different opinion from the city solicitor, for if the filtration resolution is passed again every other resolution providing for the expenditure of money will have to be printed. This will cause the departments much trouble, as every bill for the payment of money will be more closely scrutinized by councils. It will go through the same channels as an ordinance, going to a committee, then reported back to councils, printed and read three separate times. It will also add much to the work of the city clerk, as all resolutions will have to be advertised in the daily papers and recorded.

ENROLLMENT OF PUPILS SHOWS SMALL INCREASE

Figures of Public School Attendance for First Four Weeks of Term Compiled.

Secretary Charles Reisfar, Jr., of the Central board of education, has received the reports of the enrollment of pupils in all but one sub-district school. The reports include the enrollment of the first four weeks of the school term, up to last Friday.

The totals show an enrollment of 42,126 pupils, a gain of only 346 over last year. That the increase is not as great as usual is accounted for by the prevalence of sickness and the unusually warm weather of September. The greatest increase is in the Homewood school, 183, although the Sterrett schools, in the same ward, show a gain of only one. The South Side hilltop schools, except the St. Clair school, have gains, while all the schools in the level portion, except the Knox and Morse schools, show losses. The Moorehead schools lead the hill district ward schools with a gain of 135. The Forbes school shows a loss. The only school in the East End with a loss is the Colfax school, but this is because the Solway street school has not yet been opened.

The appended table shows the enrollment by sub-districts, compared with that of last year's first four weeks, the Grant school figures being an estimate:

The Meaning of Direct Importation as Applied to Oriental Rugs.

It means (1) that the purchaser selects a rug out of the original bale, and not from a lot which has been gone over in New York, and best specimens laid aside; it means (2) that the purchaser, or the looker, has placed before him the richest specimens of Oriental Rug weaving, and that by directly importing we can save the customer the big profits of the New York importer.

We have been selling Oriental Rugs in large quantities the past few weeks. In many cases people have telephoned us to send several rugs for approval. That is a clever idea. We are always glad to comply with such requests.

Oriental Rugs, be it understood, are sold here on the same low-price basis that other goods are quoted, and to show how very little it takes to own one of these Rugs from the Orient, the following is pointed out—

$15.75 will buy a large-sized Iran, Mossoul, Ferrehan or Kherassan Rug.
$22.00 will buy a long antique Khurdistan, Kazak, Mossoul, Ferrehan or Guendji Rug.
$25.00 will buy a choice antique Daghistan Rug, worth easily $45.00.

If anyone is contemplating the purchase of large carpet-size Rugs from the Orient, our immense stock should be taken into consideration. There is no question but what it is the largest ever brought to this city.

Our Big Showing of Untrimmed Hats.

The number of women who trim their own hats, and trim them neatly and sightly at that, is astonishingly large. The aim of our Millinery Department is to give women who like to do this kind of work a great range of hats from which to select.

This season we have greater variety than ever before, and we are selling the hats for inconsequential prices, such for instance as Hats at 50c worth $1.00; at $1.00 worth $2.00. Then, if finer grades of untrimmed hats are desired, we have some that will cost women as much as $5.00.

As to style there is every shape that Fashion has consented to. The materials are mostly smooth and rough felt and that other fine material, beaver.

Inexpensive Black Dress Goods.

After reading through the list there will be found a closing paragraph that beats anything in the way of an underpriced dress fabric that we have given out for some time.

The best black dress goods are always to be found here and this brief list will give you an idea of the new Fall and Winter weaves now ready.

Golf Vests for Women.

Ostensibly for wear on the green, but nevertheless a very smart garment for the street. The younger set took to them wonderfully last season, and it looks as though they were to be the real thing this season. Our buyer was so much impressed with their practicability that he bought largely, and we are ready with about every style created.

Knitted Vests in solid colors, red, navy, black, white, single-breasted, white pearl buttons, $1.25.
Same colors and patterns in double-breasted style, $1.50.
Golf Vests of Jersey cloth, white with red, with green, with royal, and navy with red, single or double-breasted styles, brass buttons, $1.50.
Also have a full line of Vests and Blouses of the Fick, Clark & Flagg make—fancy stripe worsted—$2.50.
Blouses in solid colors from $3.00 to $5.00.
Blouses with low neck and silk sleeves, green and red, also solid green, for $3.50, worth all of $5.00. Only a few small sizes in this line.

Women's Golf Gloves—those used for playing the game—open knuckles, kid-lined palm, the glove of strong buckskin, $2.00 a pair.

Men's Golf Jackets.

These Jackets will be found in the Men's Furnishing Store, street floor annex. They are made of finest imported wool worsted, such solid colors as golf-green and plain gray. They have silk sleeves corresponding in color to body of jacket. The price is $11.50 each.

Lace Curtains and Draperies.

Taking up the Draperies first, and referring to Denims, we have a material that can be turned to many uses, such as floor covers, something of universal need in Winter, also usable for all kinds of Curtains, and it is even used for furniture slip covers.

Of these Denims of great utility we have a big line, and every plain color is represented. Although the goods are full yard wide and are first class in every particular—no seconds among the lot—the price is only 18c a yard.

Then more especially for slip covers we have such materials as Belgium Striped Linens, English Striped Dimities, Printed Taffeta and Printed Cretonne. These are fine goods—nothing better.

Belgium Linens, best grade, 60c a yard.
English Dimities, 25c and 30c a yard.
Printed Taffeta, 38c a yard and up to $2.75.
Cretonnes from 15c a yard up to $1.50.

Of late we have spoken quite often regarding our large line of Lace Curtains. This morning reference is had only to some special lines.

Ruffled Muslin Curtains, primarily curtains for the bedroom, from 50c a pair up to $2.50.
Ruffled Net Curtains, applied to same use, $1.50 a pair and up to $10.00.
Bonne Femme Stores, as near as we can get to the French of it, meaning a good sensible curtain, just as bonne femme means a good, sensible woman. And they are sensible curtains in every respect. They are to hang straight from the window and come only to the window sill, one curtain to a window. So that various size windows could be treated alike we have brought these curtains over in two widths. Some have the designs woven in, in others they are set in, and still others have the designs appliqued. These curtains are sold singly—$3.00 to $25.00 each.
We also have new designs in Marie Antoinette Curtains, some perfectly plain centers with beautiful borders, others with neat small borders. These fine curtains are really inexpensive, $4.00 a pair and up to $17.00.
You would naturally think we are amply supplied with that favorite curtain of the housewife, the Nottingham, and so we are. Never a larger line, nor a broader price range—50c a pair and easily along to $8.00. Around $2.50 a pair we have a very strong line, taking in every style given out by the curtain industry.

Women and Their Furs.

Women who have been discussing a Sealskin Coat can take $225.00 and put it into one of our XXX Alaska Sealskin Coats, 24 inch, the popular length, and in such sizes as 34, 36 and 38 inches, and they can tell their friends in all truth that they are wearing a sealskin coat worth $350.00. There is no boasting about this at all. These coats are worth the last figure, and after this line is closed we shall have to ask for the same style of coat just what we said it was worth.

And the same remarks hold good as to those elegant Persian Lamb Coats—we are selling them for the most remarkable underprices that we ever knew such coats to be quoted.

Electric and Nearseal, excellent counterfeits of real seal, have been used in fashioning the 22 and 24-inch coats and our prices now are $25.00, $31.00 and $38.00.
For $10.00 women can choose handsome Scarfs of either Sable Fox or Isabella Fox. The Scarfs finished with two large brush tails and four paws, worth at the lowest estimate, $15.00. Muffs to match either Scarfs at $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 and $18.00.
We are selling two-skin Isabella Box Scarfs, quite long, finished with natural brush tails, different grades, at $13.50, $16.00 and $20.00.
Handsome Squirrel Shawl Collars, lined with satin, $10.00 each.
Equally handsome Blue Wolf Shawl Collars, $14.50 each.
Boas of the rich fur of the Black Fox, only $25.00.
Natural Mink Victorines, $30.00.

Anyone looking for smaller priced furs will find them here, also, as well as the richest of furs, some costing as much as $2,000.00 a set.

Cotton King Brown was busy settling with the shorts in the cotton market yesterday on his own terms. It is understood the terms were something just short of the financial ruin of the speculators, and Brown admitted his profits on the September option were $4,000,000. There are other profits on other options which the man from New Orleans has not announced. Whatever they may be, they are sufficient to have turned the laugh with which Wall street greeted the Crescent City cornerer a few months ago. He laughs last. All this is interesting, but the important matter is that there is now a prospect that cotton may go to a natural price, promotive of manufacture and export.

Nothing could better illustrate the exact condition of the Democratic-Citizens fusion than the resolution adopted by 90 of the 122 members of the Sixth legislative district organization last evening. Those members joined the Citizens party to free the county from the domination of the old ring. They refuse to remain with it to support a new ring of worse proclivities, so they return to the reorganized Republican party. Everywhere in the county the same sentiment exists. Not every district has the same provocation to organized revolt that has spurred the Sixth district, but where revolt is not formally declared the individual voters are returning to their party allegiance. They have excellent reason for so doing.

Testimony adduced in the trial of James H. Tillman, former lieutenant governor of South Carolina, for the murder of Editor Gonzales of the Columbia State, is of the most condemnatory character. Witnesses detail how the crime was contemplated, and others tell how it was accomplished in cold blood, deliberately and without compassion. There appears no ground upon which the facts can be disputed, though Tillman has 31 lawyers to defend him. It is not yet apparent what plea they will offer in their client's behalf. There is no evidence of insanity, if we may except a brutal, quarrelsome disposition. Nothing is left except a plea of justification based on the attacks of the murdered man's newspaper. These may appeal to the jury, but if the 12 men in the box can be procured to say that a few newspaper criticisms of political conduct justify a cold-blooded murder, they will reflect positive discredit upon South Carolina as a place of residence.

The Alaska boundary commission is so composed as to give a position of great influence to Lord Alverstone, who presides. The commission consists of three representatives of the United States, two from Canada and the lord chief justice of England as the sixth member. The three members from this country and the two from Canada are familiar with the case and brought to the hearing established prepossessions in regard to it. Lord Alverstone shows by the questions he asks that his attitude is judicial and that he is going into the case without prejudice, just as he would any other case brought into court. He has called counsel to particular points upon which he desires light and has intimated to the counsel for Canada that there are weak points in their case which need strengthening in order to support their contention. So far the Canadian counsel have not had much success in curing the defects pointed out to them, not because of any lack of professional ability, but because their case is bad. The Canadian claim is founded upon such flimsy pretexts that it is quite likely that Lord Alverstone will decide against them on the main features, which would make the commission stand four to two in favor of the United States.

Councilmanic procedure is so arranged that public business is held up until it is fully ascertained how much there is in it, but when deals are complete then business goes rushing through as if everything had been greased for the occasion. Party measures go through as rapidly when the bosses give the word, and at times the rush is so great that the legal efficacy of the measure is neglected. This appears to have occurred in the case of the resolution for the appointment of the filtration experts. City Solicitor [illegible] has decided that as passed it is void so far as any expenditure of money is involved, and as experts do not serve without compensation the resolution is practically void. Such slips would not occur if councils would employ the services of the city solicitor in the preparation of measures. The charter provides that the city solicitor shall "be the legal adviser, and act as attorney and counsel for the city and all its departments and affairs," but councils have so much buncombe to put through, meant for show and not for use that they keep as far away from the city solicitor as possible. Nothing could have been more proper than Councilman Wasson's resolution to refer the franchise tax measure to the city solicitor for preparation, but it was promptly voted down. It is only just to infer that the whole business was merely campaign buncombe, and that it is not desired to enact a measure which shall be legally tight and binding.

Although the present non-partisan administration of New York city has been renominated, yet the campaign is still in danger of being conducted upon party lines. Mayor Low, the head of the ticket, is a Republican in national politics, Controller Grout is a Democrat and Mr. Fornes, the president of the board of aldermen, is also a Democrat. The Tammany leaders are now offering to indorse Grout and Fornes, while putting up their own candidate for mayor, and Mr. Grout has notified Mayor Low that he intends to accept, and if he does, Mr. Fornes will doubtless do likewise. This development has excited intense indignation among the Republicans and the members of the Citizens Union, who support the non-partisan ticket, as it will tend to detach the independent Democrats from the support of the ticket, thus defeating Low. District Attorney Jerome, who, while he was opposed to renominating Low, scorns any sort of doubledealing, declared with characteristic frankness: "Any man fit to stand this time on a reform ticket, who can coquette with a Tammany indorsement, writes himself down as a political knave, and if the indorsement is not tendered in good faith, but simply to draw political fire by his flirtation, he writes himself down a political ass as well." Mr. Jerome is himself a Democrat, but is a determined foe of Tammany. If the indorsement scheme goes through it will probably break up the non-partisan ticket.

A Chapter of Trouble.

A hurricane is now raging in the Woman's National Auxiliary of the National Army and Navy Spanish War Veterans, and Gen. Miles' family is right in the storm center. The storm developed at Washington, moved northeasterly to New Haven, where it has brought with it tremendous gales and a heavy downpour. Extensive damage is reported and more is likely to occur.

According to one version, the trouble originated in the fact that Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball was not invited to a reception given recently by Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee to Gen. and Mrs. Nelson A. Miles, at which reception Mrs. Miles was initiated into the Mary Sherman Miles chapter by a special dispensation from the president general, Mrs. Flora Lewis of Washington. Mrs. Ball, who claims that in the absence of the actual president she is acting president of Mary Sherman Miles chapter, claims that the whole proceeding is illegal. Mrs. Cornelia Clay, the treasurer general, sided with Mrs. Ball, charges and counter-charges piled up, and the upshot of the business was that Miss Clay and the whole District of Columbia auxiliary were suspended. According to Mrs. Ball, the whole trouble was stirred up by L. C. Dyer, adjutant general of the national organization, because his wife was not elected president of the Mary Sherman Miles chapter.

The national organization of the Woman's Auxiliary is now meeting at New Haven, and the suspended Mrs. Ball and Miss Clay are on hand. Before leaving Washington, Mrs. Ball got out an injunction against President General Lewis and her staff, restraining them from preventing the members of the Mary Sherman Miles chapter from entering the convention or voting. But Washington injunctions do not go at New Haven, and as soon as the Clay-Ball contingent arrived there was a clash. Miss Clay walked into headquarters and helped herself to a badge. There was a sharp colloquy, in the course of which the president general said: "You are suspended and have no rights; give me that badge." She reached for it, but Miss Clay got away with it.

By the latest accounts Miss Clay had filed charges against President General Lewis; Mrs. Ball had filed impeachment papers against the same; Mrs. Lewis had appointed guards at the doors, with instructions to admit none but those having the password; but the expelled women learned the password. Finally the police were notified and a force of men are now on duty to preserve order in case the expelled women insist upon forcing their way in, as they say they will do.

These strenuous times are too much for some of the ladies, and Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, the judge advocate general, has gotten out of the trouble by resigning. Mrs. Flora Lewis, the president general, is going to see the thing through, although when she had accepted the office she had no expectation of finding herself in such a scrape. As to the moral of the affair, there doesn't appear to be any, except the old one that if you want peace there are times when you have to fight for it.

The Colombian Hold-Up.

The surmise that the defeat of the canal treaty by the Bogota politicians meant simply increased demands is verified by the latest advices.

The Bogota people know their business, and they have jockeyed us very cleverly in this matter. At the time the Nicaraguan bill was pending the government of Colombia used all its influence to recommend the Panama route to this government, and named moderate terms for the concession. The United States senate played into the hands of the Bogota politicians by providing in the Spooner act that the Panama Company's franchises and property could not be purchased until a new treaty had been negotiated with Colombia. This gave Colombia the whip hand. Immediately her terms were raised and our government had to submit to heavy exactions before the treaty required by the Spooner act could be negotiated. Then the Colombian congress was convoked and began to pick flaws in the treaty. This was a significant circumstance, as the Colombian congress is a body which the executive rulers of that country manage as suits their convenience, not allowing it to meet at all if it is troublesome. The Colombian senate rejected the treaty, but it was reported that this was done on constitutional grounds and that a strong sentiment favorable to the canal enterprise pervaded congress. It was a clever piece of jockeying, well sustained throughout. Toward the end mysterious difficulties intervened with regard to telegraph communication with Bogota, and our government was left in the dark as to what was going on. Now the news arrives that although the treaty was defeated, the Colombian congress passed a law authorizing the president to conclude a new treaty with the United States "on a certain basis" without the approval of congress.

Exactly what the "certain basis" is has not yet been disclosed, but it is known that the committee of the Colombian senate which considered the subject made a report which included a demand of $20,000,000 from the United States and $10,000,000 from the Panama Canal Company, in addition to an increase of the annual rental, payment of which is provided by the treaty. The probability is that these represent the new basis of negotiation, and any reduction of these demands will be represented as evidence of the desire of the Colombian government to do anything in its power to show its friendliness to the United States. They are evidently a smart set. The Spooner act has tied up our own government in a way which has given the Bogota politicians a good thing, and they are playing it for all it is worth.

We can hardly blame them for making what they can out of the business, when the Washington politicians provide them with the opportunity. The sensible thing for congress to do is to untie our government, by removing the restrictions of the Spooner act, and giving the president unconditional power to arrange for the construction of the canal either by the Panama route or the Nicaragua route on the most advantageous terms. If this course is adopted, our government can deal with the Colombian government upon an equal footing, and the present hold-up will be promptly abandoned.

Guarantee of Good Faith.

In the statement issued by the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation to officers and employes who subscribed for preferred stock there is ample evidence of confidence in the future. The stock is selling far below the subscription figure at present, and it is probable some of the subscribers have had misgivings that it was not a good investment. The committee, however, regards it as good as ever and signifies its faith by agreeing to buy back the stock in five years.

When the subscribers get to figuring on this proposition they will likely conclude they have a good thing. In five years they will have dividends of $35 a share and their money back. That is a guaranteed investment that is not merely gilt-edged, but is gold clear through. It is worth holding on.

There is an aspect to this offer of wider interest than the mere assurance of the subscribing employes. It bears upon the theoretical gains and losses in wealth from stock market operations. When the market is booming the public always hears of millions made, and when the market is slumping the calculations are of millions lost. As a matter of fact, there are some fortunes made and lost by those who gamble upon market quotations, but there is neither gain nor loss of real property. The man who bought stocks before the boom and retains them is neither richer nor poorer as a result of the violent fluctuations in price. He is richer by the dividends he has received. The men who have lost are those who bought "on margins," or those who bought at inflated prices and then sold when prices fell. The man who has made money is the one who sold at the high prices and has been buying his stocks back during the past few weeks. Some time the prices will go up again. The finance committee is satisfied that time will not be deferred for more than five years, which is the time during which the stock subscriptions of its employes mature. Certainly there is more chance to make money in buying stocks now than three months ago, and the wise financiers are acting upon that certainty, but they are not buying on margins.

No Boom for Olney.

One contemporary, the Boston Herald, is surprised that the Olney boom for the Democratic nomination for president of the United States has fallen flat even in Massachusetts. It had expected that he would go to the Democratic national convention of next year with the backing of his own state and with possibilities of some western support. But there is no Olney boom, and it does not appear that there will be an Olney boom. The answering note from the west is not heard, because there is nothing to answer. The state of beans and culture, sitting under the shadow of the sacred codfish, has its cold side toward Mr. Cleveland's former cabinet officer and refuses to thaw. It had been expected by some of the few who were enthusiastic in Olney's behalf that, owing to his association with Cleveland, he would be given the support of some of Cleveland's friends, but whatever may be their feeling toward the Massachusetts man it is apparent that they really are not warming up to him or to any one else until they have a last word from the Sage of Princeton.

Now that the Olney boom has flattened out there is the usual attempt of those who were associated with it and by others to explain the collapse. In the feeling around for the truth it is suggested that the age of the former secretary of state and attorney general is against him. He will, it is declared, be 70 years old at the time of the next presidential inauguration. "He will be two years older on March 4, 1905, than William Henry Harrison was on March 4, 1841. Harrison was the oldest incoming president which the United States has had, and he lived only a month after taking office. Taylor, who was 65 years of age at the time of his inauguration, lived only a year and a third after entering the White House. Buchanan, who was 60 when he was inaugurated, served through his term, but the party which selects a man of that age for a candidate now runs something of a risk." The age limit, it is said, would shut Olney out "even if he had a bigger pull with the Democratic politicians than he has."

We do not think, however, that Olney's age has anything to do with the matter. It is doubtful whether it had been given any thought until an explanation was sought for the lack of enthusiasm when his name was mentioned. What really stood in the way of his boom is his lack of qualities that make men popular beyond their immediate circle of friends. It is as difficult now as it ever was to light a fire with ice. Even the cultured circles of the Back Bay district fail to kindle in the presence of an iceberg, no matter how it may glitter in the sun, and it is not to be expected that the Democratic masses will surpass them.

Some of the stock market publications concerning John D. Rockefeller read as if they had come from the pens of persons who are not altogether convinced that the Baptist clergyman, who had the immersing of the oil king, didn't miss the opportunity of his life when he had him well under water in not keeping him there. But they will probably feel better about it before the next crop of lamb's wool is ripe.

Of course, it is apparent that strong financial interests have "protected" the market, but shorn lambs over whose eyes it is impossible at the moment for obvious and other reasons to pull any wool, note a difference between protection of the market and the inauguration of a bull movement.

It is quite as true where prices are advancing that there is a seller as well as a buyer every time a share of stock changes hands, as it is that there is a buyer as well as a seller every time things are doing a facile decensus two-step.

The numerous scraps among the Democratic-Citizens on account of the offices is highly suggestive of the scrap pile to which the voters will return them in November.

Since John W. Gates has reflected on the substantial character of Pittsburgh's financial institutions there is a noticeable disposition to give Gates a jar.

Naturally, there is some objection to kings mixing in, but the general opinion is that it is nice of King Edward to show a willingness to earn his salary.

Brown October is here, except that it is not as brown as it will be thirty-one days hence.

However, Mr. Cassatt has not yet accepted his resignation.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Mrs. Martha Dunham, of Hot Springs, Ark., was a pupil of Wesleyan Female college on the first day it opened, in 1837. She is exceedingly well preserved for one of 77 years.

Henry H. Garfield, son of the late President Garfield, has accepted an appointment to the chair of political jurisprudence at Princeton university. Mr. Garfield has been practicing law at Cleveland.

Henry Ward Treaner was the man behind the battleship Indiana's eight-inch gun that put four successive shots through the bullseye of the 17 by 21 foot target at the 1,400 and 1,000-yard ranges during the recent target practice of the vessel. He hails from St. Paul, Minn.

Alfred Mosely, who is here again to study American educational and industrial conditions, made an immense fortune in the gold and diamond mines of South Africa. He was born in Bristol forty-eight years ago. Mr. Mosely has entered his two sons as freshmen at Yale in preference to sending them to Oxford or Cambridge.

Thomas E. Sauls, of Webb City, Mo., who recently celebrated his 100th birthday, has had a remarkable career. He was born in North Carolina, is a veteran of three wars—the Seminole, Mexican and civil—and he has seen every president of the United States but Washington and Roosevelt. He cast his first vote for Andrew Jackson. When a lad he wore a suit of clothes made by Andrew Johnson, who was employed in a tailor shop at Raleigh, N. C. He assisted in the erection of the Bunker Hill monument. He has voted the Republican ticket ever since the existence of the party. He is a vigorous veteran with a wonderful memory.

Canadian Loyalty.

Canadian disloyalty is a bug-a-boo. A decision of the boundary question in favor of the United States would not have a particle of effect on the sentiment of the dominion toward the mother country. The loyalty of the people of Canada to the British empire may be counted on under all circumstances until Great Britain begins to oppress Canada in the same way that it did the American colonies. Since the Canadians have all the freedom they want and in practically all respect govern themselves as fully as if their country were a separate nationality, they will remain loyal as long as any of the other British colonies or dependencies.—Denver Republican.

THE EMERALD ISLE.

(By John Greenleaf Whittier.)

[The first poem of Whittier's ever printed was "The Exile's Departure," which appeared in Garrison's Free Press, June 8th, 1826. The next was "The Deity," published June 22d of the same year, and both these are collected. The third appeared in the Free Press, August 3d, 1826, and was never collected. He was 18 years old when these lines were written, and had not yet the advantage of the academy, nor of any library except that of the "wise old doctor" whom he mentions in "Snow-Bound." Dr. Elias Wold.—S. T. Pickard.]

Brightly figure thy shores upon history's pages,
Where names dear to fame and to science long known,
Like unsetting stars through the lapse of long ages,
From the sea-girded isle of Hibernia have shone;
Fair island! thy vales are embalmed in the story
Which history telleth of ages gone by,
When Ossian's proud heroes strode onward to glory
And ocean's wave answered their loud battle-cry.
The wild vine is creeping,—the shamrock is closing
Its foliage o'er many a dimly seen pile—
Where entombed on the fields of their fame are reposing
The proud, peerless chiefs of the Emerald Isle.

And in far later years, with the purest devotion,
To the high cause of freedom full many a son
Of the green shores of Erin, the Gem of the Ocean,
Fair evergreen laurels of glory has won.
The martyred O'Neal and the gallant Fitzgerald
On the bright list of glory forever shall stand,
And fame circle Emmet, the eloquent herald,
Who wakened the spirit and pride of his land.
They are gone! they are gone! but their memories that linger
On the shores where they perish no wretch shall revile,
No slave of a tyrant shall dare point the finger
Of scorn at those sons of the Emerald Isle.

Hibernia! tho' tyrants may seek to degrade thee,
Yet proud sons of science acknowledge their birth
On thy sea-girded shores, whose high genius has made thee
The Gem of the Ocean, the wonder of earth.
Long, long, has the halo of glory surrounded
The memory of Brian, the pride of thy shore;
And o'er thy dim lakes and wide valleys have sounded
The heart-touching strains of Corolan and Moore.
O, soon may the banners of freedom wave o'er thee,
Green island of Erin! may Liberty's smile
To the luster of primitive ages restore thee,
The Gem of the Ocean,—the Emerald Isle!

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Of what use is she?

This question is asked concerning every woman who demands recognition in the world.

There is Miss Peck, for instance, who recently made the ascent of Mt. Sorata, in Bolivia, the highest of the many towering Andean peaks.

Miss Peck climbed 25,000 feet, a little less than five miles, up a dangerous, trackless, treacherous mountain, all for glory, or to satisfy a craze or insanis for high climbing.

In doing this she ventured beyond the limit of safety for human beings, carrying along rubber bags filled with oxygen to keep her alive. She was accompanied by Prof. W. G. Tight, of the University of New Mexico, and a couple of professional Swiss mountain climbers whom she had brought over for the purpose.

Miss Annie E. S. Peck lives in New York, and has comfortable means of living, yet she prefers to spend her money on mountain-climbing picnics rather than for parlor entertainments and fashionable pastimes.

Her style of amusement is rather expensive, seeing that she wears costly furs, employes high-priced guides, and lives in good style when not perched upon the side of an icy mountain.

* * * * *

As far as known Miss Peck gets nothing but glory for her labors and her sufferings, and for her risks of life and limb.

Then, of what use is she?

We never hear of her making any valuable discoveries, or of adding anything to the store of scientific knowledge. Nor does the world appear any better for her labor and suffering.

However, she may bob up serenely on the lecture platform, and later with a book. At least, she will bear watching.

You remember Miss Edwards, of Egyptian fame. She went up the Nile looking for the footprints of Joseph, and for the trail of the children of Israel. Her friends thought her very foolish, if not crazy, for undergoing such great hardships, and for taking chances of contracting Nile fever and dying, since it is more fatal than is our western malarial fevers, and especially to foreigners. But she kept it up until she had discovered and accumulated enough good material for a lecture or two; also for a very entertaining book which had a great sale. She lectured here two or three times, making big money each time.

However, money making was not her object when she started out. She wanted to study Egypt, to pry into its secrets, and to see if the Bible story of Joseph and his brethren is true.

* * * * *

Maybe you can recall a woman, or maybe two or three, who have made good records outside of the usual walks of life.

And no doubt you can name some—several, in fact—who have made good records in the usual walks of life, and others who have made no records worth mentioning anywhere.

There are hundreds of mountain climbing women, yet there is only one Miss Peck. And there are thousands of women deciphering Egyptian hieroglyphics, yet there was but one Miss Edwards.

All this does not prove, however, that there will be none to equal and to outdo Miss Peck and Miss Edwards.

These have only made a new record, and it remains for the coming woman to beat it. They have shown what can be done, and that which has been done will be done until it becomes easy and common, and then a new record will be provided.

If these women have done nothing for the world than to establish new records they have done much, for our people will not be satisfied until these have been broken. Thus it is we progress.

* * * * *

You are most likely to find that which you are looking for; and next to this the thing that is uppermost in your mind.

Those who are most in dread of bad luck are most certain to meet it. Ghosts rarely trouble those who do not believe in them or live in fear of seeing them.

The best of people, however, live more or less in dread of bad luck. While the more intelligent do not believe that bad luck is a something going around seeking whom it may devour, they still have a feeling that it is something that may cross their path or overtake them in spite of their best efforts.

Bad luck is only another name for bad management.

It is true that accidents seem to follow some persons with pitiless persistence. This is hardly the proper way to look at such things, for it is not possible for one to invite accident without being either careless or reckless. It is possible, however, for one to happen to be in dangerous positions at the wrong time. But when we note the many, very many, opportunities for mishaps, or the number of explosions and other catastrophes in which no one is injured, there are good reasons for believing in the presence of some special protective influence.

* * * * *

In spite of education and training there still exists in the best of men some traces of superstition. It would be strange if it were not so, considering the centuries of superstition in which our ancestors lived. Indeed the wonder is that we are so free from it. A few more centuries of training such as in the last, may possibly free the human race from the last traces of superstition.

However, as long as there is any mystery about future life, or about the forces in nature, there will be some who can only see the manifestations of these forces and not be able to understand their origin or their mission. It was the inability to understand these natural forces that led to superstition.

You may not believe that a horseshoe will either bring good luck or keep bad luck away, yet you will hesitate to tear one down that has been put up as a protection against evil influences.

The horseshoe charm is a harmless fancy, or at least it can do no more than keep alive the idea of superstition. You feel good when you happen across a horseshoe, and never refuse to drink to the old fashioned toast: "May the horseshoe never be pulled from your door."

It is an old belief, and one that is popularly respected in England, as we find the statement made by an authority, that most of the houses in the west end of London have a horseshoe nailed to the threshold. There was a horseshoe under the porch of St. Stanfield church in Suffolk, and it was placed on a tile as a sacred relic. In Hudibras we read of a conjuror who could:

"Chase evil spirits, away by dint
Of sickle, horseshoe and hollow flint."

And one of Gay's fables has this couplet:

"Straws laid across my path retard,
The horseshoes nailed, each threshold guard."

Lord Nelson believed in the luck of the horseshoe, and had one nailed to the mast of his ship, Victory. The horseshoe must always be nailed with the ends up to hold the luck in, otherwise it will fall out and turn to misfortune. Whittier kept a horseshoe nailed over the door of the little room in his house at Danvers to keep the witches out, as he used to say gleefully. It was a pleasing recognition of an amusing custom, nothing more, for the last of the witches lay buried at the foot of the hill and had lain there for a hundred or more years.

* * * * *

A great many believe in lucky birthdays. This came, no doubt, from the almost universal belief in astrology. To learn that you were born on an unlucky day will not be a bit of agreeable information, although you may not believe in such stuff.

Following are some of the superstitions relating to birth:

"Born on Sunday, be a gentleman;
Born on a Monday, fair of face;
Born on a Tuesday, full of grace;
Born on a Wednesday, sour and glum;
Born on a Thursday, welcome home;
Born on a Friday, free in giving;
Born on a Saturday, work for a living."

A baby born in May is always delicate.

If anyone rocks the cradle when the baby is not in it, the child will die before the year is out.

To cut a baby's nuger nails before it is a year old will cause the child to be dishonest when it grows up. They must be bitten off for its moral good.

To let a child see itself in a mirror before it is four months old will bring bad luck.

A child born when church bells are chiming will be able to see spirits.

To be born with a caul is considered great good luck. Fortune tellers advertise this special favor as a gift of soothsaying. David Copperfield was born with a caul, Dickens utilizing the old superstition in his novel of that name.

Should Take Precautions.

The Populists threaten to put a presidential ticket in the field. If they do so they should be careful to mark the spot so that they can find it again.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Automobilists may drive their machines as rapidly as 20 miles an hour if they are going for a doctor. Magistrate Zeller made that ruling today. The case which brought forth this decision was that of a chauffeur who was speeding along in Harlem at the rate of 20 miles an hour to get a surgeon for a man who was slightly injured. A policeman saw the flying automobile, and took the chauffeur into custody as soon as the machine could be stopped. The ordinance makes it a misdemeanor to travel faster than eight miles an hour in Manhattan, and the policeman was planning himself on having a clear case. What was his astonishment and chagrin when he learned from the bench that the errand of the automobilist has something to do with the speed at which he may move in the public streets. If he is going to keep a dinner engagement he must hold down his speed decorously, because a dinner can wait—if the chef knows his business—and, anyhow, it would be better to eat a cold dinner than to risk knocking someone down on the highway. If the errand is the fetching of a doctor, it is different. The need of a doctor is prima facie evidence that someone is ill or hurt, and it is better to get assistance to an actual sufferer in as short a period as may be, than to let him suffer unnecessarily long through care not to hurt anyone else. The point is a delicate one, but the magistrate balanced it nicely, and the ruling here referred to was the outcome.

Dismal Subject for Dinner.

Waldorf-Astoria dinner guests who always gather in Peacock row in the evening have a dismal subject of conversation tonight, to the sudden death of Sir Michael Herbert. Sir Michael and Lady Herbert were frequent visitors to the Waldorf, and sat on the sofas and big chairs of the Waldorf-Astoria many an evening last spring. Many of the people gathered there this evening knew the couple intimately. Sir Michael was popular here, as he was everywhere, and many are the anecdotes concerning him which one may hear up and down the "Row."

Nixon Cannot Be Seen.

Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader, sent a message to Lewis Nixon, asking for a conference on the political situation. "Nix" is said to have been Nixon's reply.

Mr. Schwab Likes a Crowd.

Although Charles M. Schwab is said to have leased a furnished house in West Seventy-fourth street, where he will live for the next 12 months, the place to meet him in the evening will continue to be the Waldorf-Astoria. Mr. Schwab likes to be where the crowd is. Everyone in Wall street of any prominence is likely to be met in the Waldorf lobby at some time in the evening, and Mr. Schwab is always welcomed into the group of financiers, brokers and manufacturers. Then again, there is sure to be a dozen or so of prominent Pittsburghers in the lobby. It is a remarkable night when this is not the case, and of course Mr. Schwab wants to meet his Pittsburgh friends if only to exchange a joke or two with them. In fact it is hard to get him to talk business in the evening. He says the main business of his life at present is to rest and enjoy himself.

Police Are Being Watched.

Magistrate Zeller believes in carrying out the behests of the law wherever he is. On the bench today he fined two women who had been arrested at his order for drunkenness in a street car in which the magistrate happened to be a passenger. He made them pay $10 each. The policeman told the sergeant at the police station that he had arrested the women at the request of a "man he didn't know." The sergeant let the prisoners go. Then the magistrate became angry in earnest, and had the women re-arrested. The next thing in the case may be charges at police headquarters. City magistrates are watching the police closer than they used to do.

East Side Thugs Are Busy.

Thugs continue to operate on the lower East Side. The latest escapade of these fellows was to club a bartender and his assistant into insensibility early this morning in a Park Row saloon because the bartender would not give them the combination of the safe. The saloon had closed, but two fellows persuaded the bartender to open the door for a moment's conversation and the hold-up was on. They did not get the combination, but they nearly killed the two saloon men before a policeman came along and marched them to the Elizabeth street police station house at the muzzle of his revolver. The men under arrest who today were held for examination are known to the police as "Corky" O'Brien and "Dutch" Jordan.

Automobilists Eager for Meet.

Automobilists are looking forward eagerly to the automobile meet which is scheduled for Saturday at the Empire City track. Among the noted machines to be put through their paces is the "White Turtle," which has a record of nearly a mile a minute.

Athletic Girl a Match for Burglar.

Flat burglars are looking out for the athletic basket ball girl these days. A young woman who attends the normal school met a husky young man carrying her brother's dress suit case out of her flat just as she reached the front door of the house. She knocked the thief down and sat on him. In the case was found $300 worth of property stolen from the flat. "Say, that golf is er dandy all right," observed the man, when he had been taken into the police station. "I'gave, I t'ink I'll have ter learn dat basket ball trick meself. It gives yer muscle all right, all right."

A Three-Cornered Fight.

Fun on Barren Island. A German, a Pole and a Spaniard got into a three-handed fight. The Spaniard got the worst of it. He is likely to die. The others "got theirs," in the thug's vernacular. Both were badly hurt.

The Pot and the Kettle.

When the czar of all the Russias points his finger in holy scorn at the Turk for the Macedonian slaughters, it is just possible that the little man hidden away in the yildiz kiosk may throw at the head of his brother ruler that quotation from the Bible about motes and beams. The czar and the sultan are both in the mire.—Atlanta Constitution.

Political Drift.

Speaking of currency legislation the Philadelphia Press (Rep.) thus shrewdly discloses the Democratic game: "The Democrats are ready to take advantage of any difference of opinion on the Republican side with a view of helping themselves. Senator Gorman is said to favor the passage of a moderate measure, but that seems to be based on no good foundation. If Mr. Gorman finds that there is no prospect of any bill going through he and his Democratic followers will probably demand one. But if they think one may become a law they will oppose it, regardless of its provisions, just as Bryan and Democratic conventions have been doing."

+ + + +

"The attack on David B. Hill which has just been started by Tammany will destroy any chance which the ex-senator could have for getting the nomination," says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.) "One of Hill's objects has been to go to the national convention of 1904 as a delegate at large. He has been at all the recent national gatherings in that capacity, and he has an especially earnest desire to go there next year in that role. Tammany will prevent him from getting this honor if it can, and there is a very strong probability that it can. This will mean that Hill will drop out of the list of nomination possibilities. He can doubtless go as a district delegate, but that will not suit his ambition."

+ + + +

"Much cry and no wool is the saying suggested by the current discussion of the financial question," remarks the Chicago Evening Post (Rep.). "All sorts of rumors reach us from Washington, Oyster Bay, Providence, and other 'centers.' The only conclusion which seems wholly safe is that the announcement of an extra session for the purpose of passing a currency bill was comically premature. Not only will no such bill pass congress at that session, but the chances are that none will be seriously considered."

+ + + +

"It is not taken for granted everywhere that Tom Johnson will dominate the Ohio Democratic delegation in the next national convention," says the Washington Post (Ind. Dem.). "Observers of the faith generally recognize that he is in for a tremendous walloping at the polls next November, which should put him out of business as a political dictator. But entirely aside from that, it is expected that a big deal is due next year to send a conservative delegation to help nominate the next candidate for the presidency. That fight will be an earnest one for the eradication of Bryanism and Populism, that it is not at all sure Mr. Johnston will be able to maintain himself."

+ + + +

The administration is keenly interested in the outcome of the Ohio campaign and in the decided triumph of Senator Hanna. The best orators among the prominent office holders will journey to the Buckeye field with the full approval of President Roosevelt. Secretary Shaw will devote a week to the Ohio campaign, speaking first at Cleveland, Saturday evening, October 10. Senator Hanna will appear on the same platform with him there. The following Sunday Mr. Shaw will be the senator's guest, and then they will start on a week's tour of the state. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has promised to participate. Secretary Moody has promised to make some speeches, and "Uncle Joe" Cannon and he would walk to Ohio if necessary to aid Mr. Hanna. "I regard him," declared the prospective speaker, "as one of the greatest senators we have and the peer of any member of that body." Mr. Cannon will make several speeches in Ohio.

The manner in which Col. Gaston is making false representation to himself is thus described by the Philadelphia Bulletin (Rep.): "The Bay state Democrats seem to be making a hard effort to rid their party of the incubus of Bryanism. They have, at any rate, cut loose from the preposterous leadership of George Fred Williams, and their gubernatorial candidate, Colonel Gaston, a citizen of weight and good personal standing, is making a lively fight with the old Democratic doctrine of free raw material and the lowest possible tariff on manufactured goods as his battle-cry. He is reported as believing that he is destined to repeat the success of William E. Russell, wrenching Massachusetts from Republican rule, and it is asserted that he has convinced himself that if he carries the state this fall his name will loom up among Democratic presidential possibilities next year."

+ + + +

Discussing the fact that Richard Olney will not be indorsed by the Massachusetts Democrats this year, the Washington Star (Ind. Rep.) says: "There will be, then, this year, a name formally presented for the Democratic great heart. The Democrats of New York have no state convention, and hence before the question is whether Mr. Hill wants instructions for himself, or is willing that Judge Parker shall receive them, remains undecided. Neither will there be occasion for the Democrats of New Jersey to express themselves as to Mr. Cleveland. Mr. Gorman could easily have secured instructions for himself in Maryland, but evidently thought it best not to introduce that issue into the state campaign. In Ohio Tom Johnson got everything he wanted, but as he was up for gub

HAYS WILL NOT CALL A MEETING

No Special Session of Select Council to Pass Linear Tax Bill.

LAMBIE LEAVES THE CITY

President of Upper Branch Will Not Issue Call and No Petition Is Circulated Among Members—The Orphans Make No Further Objections.

Mayor William B. Hays will not call a special meeting of select council for next Monday to pass the linear tax bill. The mayor stated so yesterday. His excuse was that it was not a matter of public emergency, and that the only way a special meeting could be held was for President John S. Lambie or one-third of the members to call it.

President Lambie left the city yesterday and will not be back until the first of next week. He will not call a meeting and Citizens of the upper branch stated yesterday that there was no petition for a call being circulated among the members. One Citizens member stated that if a meeting was called he would not attend as he had "more important" business to look after. It seems that the "orphans" have been given another gold brick by the Citizens, which they, however, are accepting very graciously.

Prominent Citizens members of select stated positively yesterday that there was not the slightest intention on the part of the Citizens leaders to abolish the special committees of the upper branch. They said these committees were very valuable to the Bigelow machine, as they enabled the machine to hold up any measure that it desired and to shift the blame upon the combine.

It is the general opinion in the city hall circles that the "orphans'" organization is a thing of the past and that Councilman Stevenson and his bunch of alleged reformers are part and parcel of the Citizens ring. This was demonstrated at the meeting of common council Monday night, when they violated the chief plank of their platform and voted for the Bigelow blanket ordinance. Mr. Stevenson's vote for the measure on second reading and his vote against it on third reading has added to the criticism, as he is accused of "straddling" the proposition.

The auction of the old Oakland police station site in common council Monday night, in which several Citizens "reformers" participated, has excited a great deal of unfavorable comment. W. H. Stevenson bid $3,500 for the property for Jones & Laughlin, and when he found that there was a bid higher he pulled a bid for $5,000 out of his pocket. Then J. K. Wynard, a Bigelow reformer, of the Twenty-first ward, said he had a bid still higher. It is claimed that if Mr. Stevenson and the other reformers were looking after the interests of the city they would have presented their high bids when the property was first offered for sale, instead of waiting until the matter got into councils and then trying to gain an advantage over each other.

INSPECTORS ARE APPOINTED

Woman Physician and an "Orphan" Named to Examine Tenement Houses.

Director Harry Moore yesterday appointed two tenement house inspectors, in accordance with a law passed by the last legislature and in pursuance of an ordinance enacted recently by city councils. Each position pays $100 a month.

Dr. Luba N. Robin.

The director named Dr. Luba N. Robin and Capt. Ludwig Keefer of the Thirty-second ward, the latter a retired steamboat captain and a follower of Jacob Softel, an "orphan" of common council.

The appointment of Dr. Robin was made at the request of the Civic league that at least one woman be named. Dr. Robin is a recent graduate of the West Penn Medical college and has been employed for the past few months as a vaccinator at the bureau of health.

POLICEMEN ON THE CARPET

Two Officers Discharged from the Service—Grimes Case Continued.

Fourteen police officers were arraigned yesterday morning before the police board for violations of rules. Policeman Joseph Hall of the South Side police station was discharged from the service for drunkenness. Thomas Greenhouse of the East Liberty police station was discharged for conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty. The charges were sustained.

The case of Lieut. Charles E. Grimes of the First district, was held over until the next meeting of the board, owing to the absence of witnesses. Grimes is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer by Inspector Bernard McStay. The trial board has given Director Lore and Supt. of Police McTighe absolute authority to dispose of the cases. Capt. J. N. Fredericks and Lieut. Thomas Morley of the South Side. The officers are charged with neglect of duty, and their cases will be disposed of some time this week.

CALL TO FREMONTERS.

Asked to Assist in Securing the National Republican Convention.

The National Fremont association, through Gilbert Follansbee its president, and Maj. R. H. Long, its secretary, has called a meeting to stir up sentiment toward securing the Republican national convention for Pittsburgh in 1904. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, at No. 525 Wood street. The call is particularly addressed to those who took part in the campaign of 1856.

Fire Chief Gets a Tumble.

While answering a fire alarm the horse of Chief William Hardy of McKeesport fell, while crossing the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, throwing Driver Elmer Edmundson and Hardy out of the carriage. Edmundson fell on the horse and Chief Hardy was thrown over the horse's head. He alighted on his feet and escaped injury. The carriage was badly broken and the horse was cut considerably.

PENNSYLVANIA WOMEN WHO NEED CHRISTIANITY

Startling Statement by Woman Speaker at Mission Board Meeting Who Declared That Foreigners Get Too Much Attention.

An interesting address by Miss Laura V. Thompson, national organizer of the board, was the chief feature of the joint annual session of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions and the Western Pennsylvania Christian Missionary society in the First Christian church, in Hazelwood avenue, yesterday. Miss Thompson urged delegates to think a little more of the women at home instead of spending all their time and money in sending delegates to foreign countries. She said there are thousands of women in Pennsylvania who are not Christians, and these should be attended to before the women of China, India or Africa. These women, she said, are only wanting someone to come to them and talk to them, and no heathens have to be dealt with, but good, sensible American women.

The women of West Virginia, she said, were taking to the work wonderfully, and if more money could be raised, more women could be brought into the church. All over the country it is the same. The work of organizing, Miss Thompson declared, seems now to be a craze, as missions are being formed in a great many sections. It is good for them to meet together to talk, reason and discuss the topics of missions. Miss Thompson urged the delegates to double the membership of Western Pennsylvania in the next year, as out of 8,000 women only 1,700 are members of the auxiliaries.

Mrs. C. L. Thurgood told of what is being accomplished by the board in Australia. Mrs. W. J. Russell's address on "The Work of the Year" showed the great improvements in every direction.

Too Much Time and Money for Heathens

There are thousands of women here in Western Pennsylvania who are not Christians. These should be attended to before the women of China, India and Africa. All these women need is someone to go to them. More thought should be given to affairs at home instead of spending so much time and money in sending delegates to foreign countries.—Miss Laura V. Thompson, national organizer of the Christian Women's Board.

The secretary's and the treasurer's report and the report of the young people's work were read and all show increases over the work of last year. During the last six months $20,000 was collected or subscribed.

Others who made addresses were the Rev. John McKee of Beaver Falls, the Rev. R. S. Laitmer, the Rev. C. L. Thurgood of Allegheny, Mrs. W. Philips, Mrs. A. B. Spear, Mrs. L. M. D. Wells, J. P. Hamilton, Miss E. Boyd and the Rev. A. P. Cobb.

The Western Pennsylvania district of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions elected the following officers: President, Mrs. N. F. Speer; vice president, Mrs. W. S. Kidd; secretary, Mrs. L. N. D. Wells; treasurer, Mrs. J. P. Hamilton.

SCHOOLBOY STABS HIS PLAYMATE

A. J. Munn, Son of Wealthy Citizen, Wounds Jacob Sinowe in School Yard.

TWO OTHER BOYS SLASHED

As the result of a quarrel between school children at the Friendship school, Jacob Sinewe, 13 years old, is lying at the West Penn hospital in a serious condition, with a stab wound from a pocket-knife in the left lung; A. J. Munn, 14 years old, is locked up in the Frankstown avenue police station, held to await the outcome of the injuries he inflicted; Clyde Wheeler is at his home with a slash in the arm, received in the same affray. Wheeler is 12 years old. The East End police say that a third boy, whose name they could not learn, was cut by young Munn, but not seriously, and that it is reported that a fourth was also slightly hurt with the knife.

Young Munn is the son of James J. Munn, of Coyle & Munn, a wealthy lumber firm that has its yards and mills in Allegheny. Mr. Munn lives at No. 4743 Friendship avenue. Jacob Sinewe is the son of Peter Sinewe, a newspaper carrier, of No. 180 Edmond street; Clyde Wheeler is a negro boy living in the rear of No. 116 Rebecca street.

Police Believe Munn's Story.

The cutting was done just after the children had tropped out of the Friendship school to go home for luncheon. Munn and Sinewe tell conflicting stories, although the police are inclined to think, from the number of children who were hurt, that there must be some truth in Munn's story that he was attacked by a crowd of his fellow pupils.

The Munn boy told his father and the police that immediately after the children came out for luncheon hour a crowd of boys who had been "picking" on him for a week past surrounded him and started to whip him. He said he was whittling a stick with his pocket knife. Young Sinewe, he maintained, stooped down and threw his arms around his legs, with the intention of throwing him. The other boys stood ready to jump on him should he be downed, he said, and in self-defense, he pushed at Sinewe with the knife.

The story by Munn to Inspector Boyle, as coming from his son, made no mention of the cutting of Clyde Wheeler or any other boys. The police did not know of the cutting of young Wheeler until 9 p. m., when the colored boy's father called at the police station and asked if young Munn was under arrest. Inspector Boyle put another man to work as soon as he heard of Wheeler's visit to the station, and learned that Clyde Wheeler had been cut in the upper part of the arm, receiving a wound that required seven stitches to close it.

Story Told by Sinewe.

"The first I knew of the injury to my son," said Sinewe, tonight, "was when some of the school children ran to the house and told me 'Jack' had been stabbed. I ran all the way to the school house and found my son lying on the floor of one of the rooms. A doctor had just finished dressing the wound. The doctor told me that he had sent for the West Penn hospital ambulance, and I rode in the ambulance to the hospital. My son told me in the ambulance and tonight, when his mother and I visited him, that when he came out of the school house he saw Munn standing there with a knife in his hand and licking a smaller boy. He told Munn he ought not to hurt a little boy, and Munn, he says, made at him with the knife. My son turned and ran and Munn ran after him and stuck the knife into his back. Of course, I only know what my son told me."

The knife entered just below the left lower rib and penetrated the lung, how far the doctors had not yet determined last night. Sinewe was told that unless inflammation set in his son might be able to leave the hospital in a week, but that there was grave danger.

KILLED HIMSELF AT LAST IN JAIL

Henry Scheller Took Paris Green While Confined in No. 6 Police Station.

HAD MADE SEVERAL THREATS

After resorting to a number of means of taking his life, Henry Scheller, 55 years old, of Monticello avenue, near Silver Lake, took paris green while confined in a cell at No. 6 police station early yesterday morning, from the effects of which he died at St. Francis hospital at noon. The East End police say that they are not to blame for the suicide.

Word was telephoned No. 6 station early Tuesday night from No. 27 engine house that Scheller intended killing himself. Two officers were sent to Scheller's house, who said that the man was demented, and they left him. Several other requests were later sent to No. 6 station, and after several hours a third policeman was sent out. Scheller was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct. It is supposed that during the night he took the poison. When called for the hearing yesterday morning the prisoner was too sick to stand. The police deny that when arrested the powder could be seen about his clothes.

The man killed in the Butler picnic road Monday by a street car was identified at the morgue last night by Peter Murray as John McCartney, a laborer, 40 years old, of No. 4951 Plum alley.

The coroner is investigating the death of Steve Trobovic of No. 1104 Fourth avenue, McKeesport, which occurred yesterday at the McKeesport hospital. According to one story Trobovic fell out of a window at his boarding house, while another story is that he jumped out. Trobovic went to McKeesport from Pittsburgh about two weeks ago to work and is said to have had considerable money when he went to the boarding house. The money has not been discovered. No friends or relatives have claimed the remains.

William E. Dumle of No. 531 Carolina street was found dead in bed at his home yesterday morning. The cause of death is not known and the coroner is investigating.

John Irving, 20 years old, of Sheraden, a Panhandle railroad brakeman, was crushed to death in front of an express train at McDonald yesterday. Irving had just alighted from a freight train and failed to observe the onrushing express.

Audiences at the expo yesterday were simply spellbound by the penetrating, ravishing beauties of Estelle Liebling's voice. She can be heard only three days longer.

We don't believe it's honest to you to write a whole lot of stuff about the "Moderate Price" of a and then not say WHAT the Price is!

PIANO

If a merchant uses a half column to tell you how "very moderate his prices" are; you naturally look for the Prices. Funny, isn't it, you can't find them—unless its OUR advertisement!

To illustrate:

The KLEBER PIANO is a most wonderful piano, and the price is $875.00.

That's the whole story. But, if we say the Kleber Piano is a wonderful Piano and the price is, oh, so very moderate, then you have a right to suspect the Price is "fixed" only AFTER you are safely within the walls of the store.

MILNER REFUSES CABINET POSITION

He Declines Offer to Succeed Joseph Chamberlain as Colonial Secretary.

LATTER PREPARES DEFENSE

Pamphlet to Be Issued Setting Forth His Fiscal Policy—Ritchie's Letter of Resignation Made Public—Opposes Chamberlain's Protection Ideas.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Former Colonial Secretary Chamberlain has prepared a pamphlet, which is in the nature of a manifesto and which will be issued Monday, on the subject of his fiscal policy announcement. It is said that it sets forth clearly and definitely Mr. Chamberlain's views and adheres to the points he emphasized in his Birmingham speech, including imposing a duty on breadstuffs.

The Midlothian, Edinburgh, Liberal association has adopted Lord Dalmeny, eldest son of Lord Rosebery, as its candidate for parliament at the next general election. Lord Dalmeny, in his address accepting the nomination, said he was a Gladstonian free trader and unalterably opposed to Joseph Chamberlain's preferential trade proposals.

Lord Milner has refused to accept the colonial office portfolio. Premier Balfour is expected to make an announcement to this effect at the luncheon October 1.

The text of C. T. Ritchie's letter of resignation of the post of chancellor of the exchequer was made public tonight. It is dated September 15, and runs as follows:

"My Dear Balfour:—I am afraid after what occurred at the cabinet meeting yesterday it is not possible for me to remain a member of the government with any advantage to myself or to it. I have, therefore, to ask you to place my resignation in the hands of the king.

"I am in entire sympathy with the desire to unite the mother country and the colonies more closely, but I know of no method by which preferential treatment can be accorded to the colonies other than that which is advocated by the colonial secretary, namely, the taxation of food, which involves as a consequence an increase of taxation. To this policy I am opposed.

"We are also asked to abandon the policy of this country from which we have derived so much advantage, but we are not told exactly what is the proposal. I would gladly give consideration to any practicable scheme for obtaining better access to foreign markets or for meeting the evils of which we complain, but we have had no such scheme placed before us.

"I fear, however, unintentionally, any proposal for retaliatory duties would inevitably lead to protection and produce far greater evils than it was desired to prevent.

"I cannot tell you how much I feel the parting from my old colleagues, especially yourself from whom I have received so much kindness and consideration. Yours very truly, C. T. RITCHIE."

The letter of resignation of Lord George Hamilton, the late secretary of state for India, was also published tonight accompanied by a letter to the chairman of the Conservative council of Ealing, which borough he represented in parliament, in which Lord George says that he wrote his resignation on the afternoon of September 15, in ignorance of Mr. Chamberlain's resignation. The letter of resignation, commencing "My Dear Balfour," says:

"After the recent discussions in the cabinet and the knowledge I have obtained of the propositions you propose to publicly advocate I have no alternative than to resign."

The letter proceeds to define Lord George Hamilton's views and says that anything tending to raise the price of production in Great Britain is injurious to trade, and the interference with or a reversal of the policy of free imports must operate in that direction. He fails to see how recourse to protection or retaliation can be of advantage to the general import trade and says he cannot be a party to the reversal of the principles of Great Britain's fiscal policy.

In conclusion, Lord George says that with the exception of these fiscal and economic controversies, there is no public subject on which he is not ready to support the government, but he cannot support the enterprise which Mr. Balfour is leading while not believing in its efficiency and practicability.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER RESIGNS FOR GOOD

Diet Adjourns Pending Formation of New Cabinet—Agitation Against Austria.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BUDA PEST, Sept. 30.—After formally announcing his resignation of the premiership in the lower house of the Hungarian diet today, Count Hedervary asked the house to adjourn pending the construction of a new government. The president, Count Apponyi, however, ruled that the resignation of the cabinet was not sufficient ground for an adjournment and he invited the house to continue its work.

Francis Kossuth, after expressing surprise at the fact that the ministry should have "struck," said he hoped a premier would be appointed who would vigorously contest the interferences in Hungarian affairs of Dr. Von Koerber, the Austrian premier.

The remark of the Austrian premier which has most irritated the Hungarians consisted of his statement in the reichsrath that Austria was prepared to go to war in defense of Emperor Francis Joseph's declaration against the demand that the Hungarian language be used in orders given to soldiers of the Hungarian contingent of the Austro-Hungarian army.

Francis Kossuth, the opposition leader, is in favor of a peaceful policy, but Herr Barabas, who heads the majority of Kossuth's followers, is inclined to push the agitation to extremes.

The German merchants in Budapest are going about in fear of their lives, on account of the threats of death leveled at them as a result of the language agitation in Hungary.

Count Hedervary, as the result of an adverse vote in the lower house of the diet yesterday, again submitted his resignation and telegraphed to Emperor Francis Joseph begging for its acceptance and today made the formal announcement of his resignation in the diet.

The house ultimately adjourned, pending the formation of a new cabinet, after all the party leaders had denounced Dr. Von Koerber's utterance.

FOUR ONE-LEGGED MEN WILL GET HEARINGS

Mayor George J. F. Falkenstein of McKeesport believes in protection and does not allow strange mendicants in the city. As a result four one-legged men will be up before him this morning on charges of vagrancy. It is said the men went to McKeesport to beg in the streets. After being picked up by Detective Fred Kamp and sent to the police station each begged to be released owing to his condition.

FINAL EFFORT TO END MINGO FIGHT

National Convention of Bridge Workers Names Committee to Consider the Matter.

MAY END IN ARBITRATION

Sam Parks Again Prevents a Split in the National Organization by a Master Stroke—Kansas City Session Succeeded in Transacting Considerable Business.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30.—At today's session of the International Association of Bridge Structural Iron Workers, three delegates were appointed from the locals at Pittsburgh and Wheeling to adjust the differences between these two cities. In case of failure to agree an uninterested person will be named by the national body to act as arbitrator. This trouble is the result of the erection of the Wabash railroad bridge at Mingo Junction, which is at the border of the Pittsburgh and Wheeling districts, men from each district being employed on the work. The rules of the two districts conflict and to date the national officers have been unable to make an amicable settlement.

Sam Parks' sway over the convention was more marked than ever today and he brought peace out of conditions that seemed only to portend strife and a split that might have meant a disruption of the organization. The trouble was over the money asked for by Parks local, but when the troublesome walking delegate addressed the convention and said $1,000 was all he wanted, practically no opposition was displayed. He also carried the convention on the resolution to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, and even President Buchanan, who had made a heroic battle against Parks and his desires, made a short talk in favor of affiliation.

As if in retaliation for this favorable attitude the committee considering President Buchanan's annual report which was rumored to have a negative recommendation, reported favorably and it was adopted without debate, most of his recommendations also being accepted.

Another important action was the adoption of a minimum road scale of $3 50, which will cover all territory not now controlled by existing locals. The question of appropriations, it was decided, will be submitted to the various locals of the country for a referendum vote.

AMERICAN DIPLOMATS TO INVADE ABYSSINIA

Consul Skinner and His Secretary Will Negotiate Commercial Treaty.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Robert P. Skinner, United States consul at Marseilles, small, dark and alert, and H. W. Wales, his secretary, large, blonde and muscular, constitute the entire complement at present of the expedition which will penetrate Abyssinia to negotiate a commercial treaty with King Menelik. They will formulate more definitely their plans at a conference tomorrow with Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, who returned to Washington tonight. Mr. Skinner does not consider the venture the greatest thing in the world. He talked modestly about it tonight.

"The project has no political significance whatever. I have communicated with the prime minister of Abyssinia and have been assured of a cordial welcome at Addis Abada. American products have so great a hold on the Abyssinian market that we should have a definite commercial convention. I expect to sail for my post, Marseilles, on October 8 and to leave there for Djibouti, the port nearest to the Abyssinian frontier.

"We expect to have a guard of marines from one of the warships of the European fleet, and it will be necessary to employ natives to care for the pack animals. I am carrying on a silver platter as it were, an invitation for King Menelik to send an exhibit to the Louisiana Purchase exposition."

It is not yet decided whether the entire European fleet will convey Mr. Skinner and his mission to Djibouti. It will depend upon whether the American warships can safely be withdrawn from Beirut.

DATE FOR EVACUATION OF MANCHURIA IS NEAR

Chinese Government Assures Foreign Ministers It Will Resist Russia's Demands.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PEKIN, Sept. 30.—Attention here is concentrated on October 8, the date fixed by Russia for her evacuation of Mukden and New-Chwang. Russia's action in fulfilling or ignoring her agreement to evacuate will be the chief factor, it is considered, in determining her relations with Japan.

Prince Ching, the president of the foreign board, assures the foreign ministers that he is continuing to resist the Russian proposals. Prince Ching told M. Lessar, the Russian minister, that Russia should carry out her agreement first, and then the other concessions she requires in Manchuria would be discussed.

The Chinese papers assert that M. Lessar is pressing for Russian control of the customs and mining rights in Manchuria. In addition to the proposals embodied in the last Russian evacuation scheme.

Uchida Yasuya, the Japanese minister, is opposing the Russian demands. Sir E. M. Satow, the British minister and United States Minister Conger, have limited their representations to friendly advice. Uchida is negotiating for the inclusion of the opening of Mukden, Tatungkao and Antung in the Japanese commercial treaty.

MORE PROBING FOR POSTOFFICE

Representative Hemenway Says Congress Will Take Up the Investigation.

POLITICAL REASONS DEMAND

Probable Chairman of the Next Appropriations Committee Says That an Inspection Independent of the Department Should Be Made.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 30.

"I think there will be a congressional investigation of the postoffice department," said Representative James A. Hemenway of Iowa, who will undoubtedly be chairman of the next appropriations committee, today.

"This does not mean that congress will view the present investigation as insufficient or ineffective. If there were no others, political reasons would demand an investigation by congress. Moreover, it would be said, if the present investigation were allowed to be the last word, that the postoffice department had merely investigated itself. Personally I believe the investigation has been carried on entirely by the department itself. It is entirely natural that the legislative branch of the government should wish to carry on an independent investigation. The report would be valuable when making up the next appropriations for the postoffice, if for no other reason."

"What difficulties will Cuban reciprocity encounter?"

"Few I think. There is a fairly clear understanding among Republicans as to what will be accomplished. It seems to me that there should be no special difficulty in agreeing upon the form of this legislation. I see that Senator Burrows says the house is liable to talk reciprocity for a long time before doing anything. I do not expect that. I think there will be a rule to confine the debate to a reasonable time and that there will be no difficulty about adopting this rule."

Representative Hemenway gave it as his opinion that there will be little financial legislation enacted in the next congress and that this subject will not come before the special session. He said the speaker would appoint only the ways and means committee and the committee on rules and that the regular work of reorganizing the house would be left until the regular session begins its work. L. W. STRAYER.

SCHWAB LEASES DWELLING NEAR PROPOSED MANSION

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Charles M. Schwab has leased a handsome dwelling on the upper west side, from which he can watch the progress on the mansion he is building for his ultimate occupancy. Robert T. McGusty of the office of Charles H. Easton & Co. leased to Mr. Schwab, at No. 323 West Seventy-fourth street, a five-story American basement house with an extension. It is 20 feet wide and stands on a plot 80 feet deep adjoining the corner of Riverside drive. The owner is William C. Adams. Mr. Schwab last year bought the entire block bounded by Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets, West End avenue and Riverside drive, previously occupied by the New York Orphan asylum, and he is now engaged in building a large and extremely costly house in the center of the block.

HANNA'S BROTHER ENDOWS ANATOMY CHAIR AT COLLEGE

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 30.—H. Melville Hanna, brother of Senator M. A. Hanna, has given $100,000 to Western Reserve university, the income of which is to be devoted to the promotion of instruction and research in anatomy. The department thus endowed is to be named the Henry Wilson Payne department of anatomy.

A PRETTY BROOKLYN GIRL PROMPTLY SAVED BY PE-RU-NA.

Miss Alice Glassey, 93 Lawrence St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I can bear testimony as to the merits of Peruna for catarrh of the system. I suffered for two years with catarrh of the stomach, before I took Peruna and they were dark years in my life.

"I am now not only cured of this distressing malady, but in better health than I have enjoyed for years and I attribute this change all to Peruna.

"I heartily endorse it and believe if given a fair trial it will cure any who have my trouble."—Alice Glassey.

MRS. MARY MILLER, 17 Old Shield Block, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "Peruna is a splendid medicine. I was troubled for five years with frequent headache, dizziness and shooting pains. I grew thin and pale. The doctors tried in vain to benefit me, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I tried Peruna. Eleven bottles made me a well woman once more. I am now enjoying perfect health, my appetite is good, my head clear and I am entirely without pain, thanks to Peruna."—Mrs. Mary Miller.

Pe-ru-na Effects Marvelous Cures in Female Diseases.

If all the praise that is given Peruna by the women could be gathered into one chorus, what a volume of thanksgiving it would make. Never was a remedy so sincerely praised by so many thousands before in all the history of medicine.

All those women who drag around and yet not take to the bed, all those women who have weakening drains but who manage to keep on their feet, all those women who ache, tremble and throb but will not give up and become bed-ridden, all those women who stagger under their burdens with dizzy head and hot flashes, but bravely attend to their household duties as if they were not sick, all of those women whose nerves are on a keen edge, who struggle along with headache and backache, palpitation of the heart and all of the many disagreeable symptoms of indigestion—all of this vast multitude of women are immediately restored by Peruna. It is very rare, indeed that the cure fails far short of the magical.

The first dose begins to make them feel better. The first day is a revelation to them. This goes on day after day, week after week, until they are entirely emancipated from the thraldom of disease.

Pe-ru-na a Boon to Female Sufferers.

Peruna eradicates catarrh from the whole system. This explains why it so quickly and promptly cures catarrhal complaints so peculiar to the female sex.

If you do not derive prompt satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

General opening today all over the house—everything for fall that fashion favors and a look ahead way into winter.

General Opening

THURSDAY. FRIDAY. SATURDAY.

Millinery will be the mainspring of the occasion, but every section will join in the general goodwill and lend its aid and stocks that we make merry with fall.

Millinery

It is the custom to speak with pride of the imported hats in such a collection. We may well be proud of ours—we will show masterpieces chosen out of a multitude of masterpieces. But our own designs will, of course, be in the great majority and shown with perfect confidence side by side with the best of all that comes from London or Berlin, from New York or from Paris.

Fine Furs

Furs picturesque in their exclusiveness, Parisian in their novelty but tuned withal to critical America and practical Pittsburgh.

Cloaks & Suits

Novelty, exclusiveness, refinement in cloaks and suits join with the absolute in style and integrity of fabric, fit and finish and invite most critical inspection and closest comparison. No doubts as to your judgment—we've done well.

The Young People

Saturday for the young people, boys and girls big and little, that you may see how big a place they have in the store that does so much for so many and does it well.

OVERNMENT'S MONEY IS GONE

sappeared in Transit from Surveyor of Port's Office to Philadelphia.

ARRANT OUT FOR I. N. ROSS

ram Man Last Had Charge of Packge Here—Amount Lost Is Said by Officials to Have Been $600, but Others Declare It Was About $3,000.

A package containing money belonging to the United States government in transit from the local surveyor of the port's office to the treasury department in Philadelphia disappeared last week, and a warrant is out for the arrest of Isaac N. Ross of Ingram, special deputy collector, who took the money to the office of the United States Express Company here for shipment to Philadelphia. Express company employes are also under surveillance. Local officials said the money lost was $600, but several persons who talked as if they knew said the sum was considerably more, about $8,000 being given as the amount.

The money was put up in a package at the end of business on Monday of last week, and after being sealed in the office of Collector of the Port M. M. Garland, it was taken to the express office by Ross. Ross did not appear at work the next day, and has not showed up at the office since.

When no receipt for the money came from Philadelphia to the local officials an investigation was started, with the result that the shortage was discovered. An information was made before United States Commissioner W. T. Lindsey charging embezzlement, and warrants for Ross' arrest were placed in the hands of United States Marshal Stephen Stone, who set his men to work Monday, but up until last night they had failed to arrest Ross. An investigation is being made also in the express company, as there is a possibility that the money might have been lost or stolen during transit.

Ross had been drinking all of last week and was not at home once during that time. Sunday night he returned to his residence at Ingram and left in the morning to return to work, but never appeared at the government building. That was the last seen of him by either his family or the officials of the government in this city, although Ross has been reported as having been seen by other persons. One man reported to Ross' wife that he had seen her husband in Pittsburgh on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ross was prostrated with grief over her husband's continued absence and had gone to a detective agency to secure its aid in locating the missing one. The family lives in a neat house near the station at Ingram, there being Mr. and Mrs. Ross, two grown sons and two little girls in the family. Mr. Ross was an employe of the government for 13 years and was trusted implicitly by his superiors. He was well known in labor circles and was a molder before he began to work for the government. He is under $25,000 bond.

According to the report at the local office received from Philadelphia the package in which the shortage took place had been tampered with, which fact had not been discovered until an investigation was begun after the discrepancy between the amount of the shipment and the amount of the receipt was discovered.

The treasury department officials always daily ship their receipts, while in the internal revenue department a deposit is made in the United States depository and a certificate of deposit is sent to Washington. The local surveyor's office has yearly receipts of about $1,000,000, and the shipments some days amount to thousands of dollars. This is the first affair of the kind in the office during the five years that M. M. Garland has been surveyor of the port.

NEW WINDOW LIST.

Glass Jobbers and Manufacturers Today Restore Substantially Prices of 1901.

A new window glass price list will be issued by the manufacturers and jobbers of this district today, taking effect at once. The list will be known as that of October 1, 1903, and will supplant all previous ones. In general it conforms to the prices established by the list of January 21, 1901, with some divergencies.

There is at present no definite agreement and no association to regulate the prices. The new list advances prices somewhat.

In all 16 plants, with a total of 876 pots, have been equipped by the American Window Glass Company with the glass blowing machine. As there are 18 plants which have been abandoned, with a total capacity of nearly 300 pots, it is estimated that close upon 2,300 gatherers and blowers have been displaced by the introduction of the machine.

Westminster College Girls Who Are Noted For Their Versatility

The accomplishments of the young women students of Westminster college are not confined to ability to scan Greek and Latin poetry, to solve difficult problems in mathematics or to rendering the compositions of Chopin or Wagner. The girls in New Wilmington, when the necessity arises, can don their aprons and wait upon the table with the grace and skill of housewives. Here is a picture of a number of the undergraduates after they had served the visitors who enjoyed an outing at Westminster last week upon the day of the semi-centennial endowment commission's inspection of the college. The girls had laid aside the badges of waitresses and turned in to enjoy a holiday.

SOUSA PLAYED LOCAL MUSIC

Thinks Well of the Quality and Will Add Several Pieces to Reportoire.

LIKES NEVIN AND HERBERT

"I like Pittsburghers' music," said John Philip Sousa last evening after the conclusion of two concerts at the exposition, made up entirely of Pittsburgh composers. "The idea of having a Pittsburgh composer's night originated with my band three years ago when I was here, and it has tended to produce some excellent music. I speak outside of the recognized men, such as Nevin and Herbert. I play their compositions everywhere, but after tonight I shall add several new pieces, by Pittsburghers to my repertoire.

"When the plan was begun three years ago, and I asked for compositions I received mostly marches and 'rag time.' This year I received compositions of a superior order. I think that as soon as the composer's night is over the young players get to work on a new piece to have it in readiness for next year. This, I believe, is the case, because the music I played tonight is a credit.

"It grows in seriousness each year. I expect to add O'Brien's 'Cintra,' Oehmler's 'Fatima,' and Ahl's air and gavotte. I have been playing Foerster's Dedication March in all countries. Nevin and Herbert I have with me always.

"I have little patience with the conductor who confines his selections to any country or set of composers. This is allowing personal feeling to interfere with art, and for that reason I place no restriction on my selections, save with the one broad exception and that is that they be good. The fact that I am adding a few new pieces written by Pittsburghers shows my estimation of the music I played tonight. I think, too, the people liked it."

The two concerts last evening ranged from "Nancy Brown," through "Jack Tar," Sousa's latest march, to Nevin's "Narcissus," with three songs by Miss Estelle Liebling. The 9:30 concert was closed by the march, "Country Club," with K. F. V. Guenther, the composer, handling the baton. The selections were roundly applauded and Sousa gracefully responded at each encore. The attendance at the last concert was larger than at any previous concert during the exposition.

Absolutely sensational to the exposition audiences has been the work of Estelle Liebling, colorature soprano. By general request she last night repeated the "Nightingale." Of high excellence, likewise, were the violin solos of little Anna Otten, who has been incited to top-notch efforts by the appreciative, enthusiastic audiences listening to her.

Tonight will be "Welsh night," with a program of fine Scotch and Welsh selections, and two massed choruses by local Welshmen as special attraction. The chorus will be in charge of Prof. T. J. Davies, and there will be sung the two selections awarded the $1,000 first prize at the recent eisteddfod in this city, "Oh, Ye Nations," Mendelssohn, and "Lullaby of Life," by Leslie.

After another long evening session on the endless subject of the health bureau the famous trial came to an end last night. The committee will now be furnished with typewritten copies of the voluminous testimony produced. It will then meet at the call of Chairman W. H. Stevenson and make a finding to be reported to councils.

Controller Larkin, who was the first witness called, denied that he had ever refused the health bureau anything except the postage stamps. In regard to the appropriation the controller said that when making up the appropriations it had been the understanding that the state law made ample provision for the appropriation of money as occasion should demand to fight disease.

Councilman Upperman of the committee then examined Mr. Larkin in regard to the postage stamps. The controller insisted that the fact that the bureau got along without them established his correctness in refusing to approve the expenditure. A dispute arose as to the number of payrolls before him at the time, the controller claiming three and others saying two.

Claimed He Saved $180.

He admitted when asked that Assistant Controller Morrow had only done as he had a right in giving $20 for postage stamps to the health and police bureaus. He claimed he had saved the city $180 by his refusal.

Elias Johns, chief clerk in the department of public safety, testified that all kinds of inconvenience had been caused by the controller's action and that it finally forced the borrowing of stamps from other bureaus to tide over the deficiency. Johns testified that when he went to the controller to explain the matter Larkin said, "Explanations from you, don't go."

Dr. A. B. Booth was next called and asked a series of sharp questions read by Chairman Stevenson from a paper. Dr. Booth resented the questions as insulting and asked their authorship. Mr. Stevenson, who had read them out, said that he did not know their author; that some one had handed him the paper. When Dr. Booth said that the man who wrote the questions was afraid to admit it, Mr. Stevenson swallowed the dare and still said he did not know who wrote the questions.

Dr. Booth Talks Plainly.

Some of the questions bore on Dr. Booth having warned Barclay and Chamberlain not to appear before the board. This Dr. Booth denied emphatically. When asked if he had not told Barclay that if he made certain statements legal action would be taken, he said he had said so and that he meant it.

Some further questions followed, relative to fumigating, disinfecting and quarantining hospitals. The questions were so worded as to imply that Dr. Booth had not taken the precautions. He explained that disinfection always followed the removal of a smallpox case from a hospital, but that no attempt had been made to quarantine the institutions, the city having paid $10,000 for such an experiment some years ago to the Homeopathic hospital for damages.

When Mr. Murphy moved to close the hearing Mr. Larkin suggested another meeting. He said he would like to have Drs. A. W. Schooley of Braddock and W. W. Snively, testify on methods to be used in fighting smallpox. Director Moore said that the department would be glad to have physicians make suggestions at any time.

Dr. Taylor Has Some Figures.

Dr. Taylor asked permission to make a statement. He attempted to prove by statistics that the mortality rate at the municipal hospital increased after George M. Barclay, former superintendent, left, and again decreased when Dr. Orr took charge of the inside practice.

Dr. Booth asked him if the mortality had not been greater in cases of private attention at homes than in the hospital and Dr. Taylor was unable to answer. The meeting then adjourned.

The members of the committee which made the investigation, are W. H. Stevenson, John Upperman, John Murphy, W. C. Reitz and Thomas M. Brown. Brown has not attended any of the meetings or taken any part in the proceedings.

PITTSBURGH FIRM START TO BUILD COURT HOUSE

Judge Doty Expected to Approve Contract and Settle Westmoreland Dispute.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 30.—William Miller & Sons of Pittsburgh this afternoon took the preliminary steps to beginning work on the new court house. Big piles of lumber have been carted to the site of the structure and the necessary scaffolding will be erected tomorrow. Arrangements were made this afternoon for the leasing of a siding along the southwest branch of the Pennsylvania railroad and it is understood that building materials will be sent here early this week.

At the meeting of the board of county commissioners and William F. Miller of the contracting firm it is stated that the board unanimously agreed to begin work on the structure. This course was advised by their attorney, Denna C. Ogden. Although members of the Westmoreland bar agree generally that the erection of the court house may be begun, they say that bonds cannot be issued unless Judge Lucien W. Doty, who disapproved the contract, gives his assent. Controller John H. Brown says he will not pay any warrants drawn for any of the work done.

It was authoritatively announced tonight that Judge Doty will reconsider his action on the contract. It is understood that he has asked 10 days to inquire more fully into the merits of the case. The opinion given on Saturday merely withheld approval of the contract.

READY FOR CRUSADE.

Dr. Warren to Proceed Against Sellers of Impure Booze in Pittsburgh.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—State Dairy and Food Commissioner Warren will immediately bring prosecutions in Pittsburgh and vicinity against firms from whom samples of beer, wines and brandy have been procured by agents of the pure food bureau and reported by the state chemists to contain salicylic acid, coal tar or other ingredients. Dr. Warren claims to have unearthed two acts of assembly, one passed in 1862 and the other in 1881, which will enable him to proceed.

He said today the sale of various compounds of pure lard has practically made it impossible for the farmers of Pennsylvania to sell their lard and that he is determined to see that the large packing concerns who make these lard compounds shall not sell them as pure and thereby prevent the farmers from selling the genuine article. The bureau collected $5,000 in fines and $12 55 for oleomargarine licenses during the present month. During the same period 126 prosecutions have been ordered.

MRS. AGNES M'KEE, Who on Tuesday Celebrated Her 87th Birthday.

MRS. LYDA A. ACKISON, Of Sharon, Aged 85, Cousin of Mrs. McKee.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 30.—The celebration of the 87th anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Agnes McKee, one of the oldest and most widely known residents of this city, was an event of wide interest here yesterday. It occurred at the home of Harvey E. McGoun of North Mercer street, a prominent retired business man. Mrs. McKee was a sister of Mr. Goun's mother, and a sister of his father, Mrs. Lyda P. Ackison of Sharon, who has reached the advanced age of 85, was also present to assist. The aged ladies are first cousins and the reunion was a most happy and delightful one. During the day scores of the friends of both aged people called at the McGoun residence and congratulated them upon the excellent health both enjoy. Mrs. McKee, who is the wiiodw of James B. McKee, is a member of one of the most prominent families of this locality. She was born in North Beaver township in 1814 and has resided in this county all her life. Mrs. Ackison, who is the widow of James Ackison, was born two years later within a mile of the McKee homestead and the cousins have been closely and intimately associated for more than four score years.

MURDERER KRUGER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Swallowed Pieces of Broken Glass Dish—Another Plan to Escape Discovered.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 30.—Charles E. Kruger, the murderer, today attempted to commit suicide by swallowing small particles of a broken glass dish in which dinner was served to him from a restaurant. The pieces were crushed on the floor of the jail. Soon after swallowing the glass he vomited blood. A physician was summoned and the vomiting checked. It is not believed that serious results will follow, although the prisoner complains of violent pains in his stomach.

Sheriff John H. Trescher today learned of another plan of Kruger to break jail. An expert locksmith today examined the entire west wing of the jail. In the cell formerly occupied by Peter Mattern he found two bars partially sawed through.

MORE TROUBLE OVER TICKET.

Attempt to Be Made to Prevent Name of Socialist-Labor Party on Ballot.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The Socialist labor party will again be forced to defend its title in the Dauphin county court. Objections will be filed tomorrow to the nomination papers of its state candidates on the ground that it has no right to the use of the word "Socialist," either by itself or in any combination.

The suit will be brought by counsel for the Socialist party, which has filed a certificate of nomination for its state ticket, having polled sufficient votes last November to entitle it to nominate by certificate.

MAIL CAR AND CONTENTS BURNED IN WRECK

LANCASTER, PA., Sept. 30.—The mail train on the Pennsylvania railroad which left Philadelphia at 1.25 o'clock this morning was wrecked about a mile east of this city and a mail car burned with all its mail. A freight train was being run to another track and the caboose had not cleared the first track when the mail train came along. The caboose and a freight car were derailed and they held fast the last mail car. The wreck caught fire and all three cars were burned. James P. McAllister, engineer of the mail train, was seriously injured.

BOARD WAS DEADLOCKED ON MINING DISPUTES

Umpire Asked for to Settle the Grievances of Schuylkill Coal Miners.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Sept. 30.—The conciliatory board held a strenuous and rather obdurate session today, the members being deadlocked on several of the most important grievances. Only two questions were finally decided, a tie vote resulted in three cases, two were withdrawn and an umpire was called for to decide another on which the board has been deadlocked for some time.

Of the cases finally decided, one related to a grievance of Frank Cannon, an employe of the Delaware Lackawana & Western Company who charged discrimination. His charge was not sustained.

The second one related to a grievance of the engineers of the Hazel Brook colliery of Wenz & Co., who claimed they were not receiving sufficient pay for hours worked, and a resolution was adopted giving them an increase of 11 1-9 per cent on the hourly rate.

The grievances on which there was a deadlock and the vote were as follows: That of the car runners of the Delaware & Hudson Company, who asked for a uniform wage rate; that of the miners at the Delaware & Hudson Plymouth collieries who asked for a change of the system of having the tracks along the side of the chambers of 10 per cent increase on the present price per car; that of the miners at collieries 1 and 2 of the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Dunmore for an increase in wages for working an additional hour.

The grievnce of the miners of the Schuylkill miners who want a continuance of the short Saturday work day, which is one of the most important now under consideration could not be decided and the conciliators agreed to ask for an umpire. A letter was addressed to Judge Gray to appoint an umpire, as the commission of Umpire Wright has expired.

Chose Death Rather Than Disgrace.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—Dr. Wilson W. Stroup, aged 54 years, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver today at his home in this city. Stroup was to have been arraigned in court this afternoon on a serious charge. Worry over this charge is believed to have caused him to take his life.

ST. LOUIS BALL TEAM IN TROLLEY WRECK

Trailer Became Detached and Struck Pole—Four Persons Hurt, One Fatally.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 30.—A telephone pole was all that prevented a frightful accident in this city this afternoon, when a motor car on the park and falls line, with five heavily loaded trailers was coming from the ball park. The injured are:

Max Friedman, both legs broken, fatally hurt; H. Timm, back injured; J. H. Goring, foot crushed; C. D. Lindsay, foot crushed.

The cars were going down a steep grade in Warren avenue, returning from the ball game between the Ohio Works and the St. Louis National clubs, and turning into Market street, got beyond control of the motorman, John Cane. The first four trailers got around the curve all right, but the fifth was detached. The car, which was loaded with 100 people, among them a number of the St. Louis team, shot off the track and swung across Market street. It struck a telephone pole, which kept it upright and saved the people from being crushed. There was a big rush to get off the car. The people piled up as they jumped. Max Friedman was under a crowd of about 20, when he was rescued.

FIRE ON SCHOEN FARM.

Blaze Started by Incendiaries. Pittsburgher's Summer Home Endangered.

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The tenant house on the farm of William H. Schoen of Pittsburgh, three miles east of Greensburg, was fired by incendiaries last night and a loss of $3,500 sustained. All the properties on the Schoen farm are supplied with water by a gravity system and the spigots about the property were opened, thereby exhausting the water supply. Mr. Schoen's $5,000 summer home, which is nearby, was endangered.

Morgan, a Pittsburgh, Virginia & Connecting brakeman. The alleged holdup took place at the station here in view of many bystanders. The pair was held for court in $2,000 bail and committed to jail.

HAVE 75 PLEDGED.

New Merchants and Manufacturers' Association Grows Daily.

Reports made to the third meeting yesterday of those interested in the new Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Pittsburgh showed that there are now 75 subscribers to the fund to finance the new enterprise. Since the meeting a wek ago 43 names have been added to the original 32 obtained then. The next meeting will be held next Wednesday at the chamber of commerce rooms in Wood street.

The interest in the new organization has continued to increase. The manner in which the business men have taken hold of the plan has caused considerable wonder as to the organization not having started sooner.

As announced last week it is the policy of the promoters of the association not to go ahead with full plans until 100 have agreed to give $100 each annually for three years. At the coming meeting it is expected that this number will be completed and work on permanent organization will then be started.

E. J. Lloyd of the Bindley Hardware Company and W. T. Todd of the Somers, Flitler & Todd Company are continued as temporary chairman and secretary, respectively.

HARMONY IS TOO VIOLENT.

Eleventh Ward Residents Protest Against Riotous Citizens Meetings.

Eleventh ward residents are talking of asking the authorities to suppress the Citizens harmony meetings as a common nuisance. The disgraceful scenes at the Granville street school on Tuesday night have caused great indignation, and there is talk of calling a public meeting to protest.

It is asserted that the rioting was not confined only to Granville street and Wylie avenue, but was continued on down to Fifth avenue. While the fighting was going on and a crowd was pursuing one man with the avowed intention of lynching him, several appeals were made to Assistant Superintendent of Police Malone, who was present, to stop the rioting, but without effect.

CZAR GREETED WITHOUT POPULAR ENTHUSIASM

His Reception at Vienna in Marked Contrast to that of King Edward.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

VIENNA, Sept. 30.—The czar, accompanied by a numerous suite, which included Foreign Minister Lamadorff, arrived here today and was met at the railroad station by Emperor Francis Joseph and the archdukes. The greetings of the monarchs were of the heartiest character. They kissed each other twice. A royal salute was fired as the emperors left the station. Their majesties were driven to Schoenbrunn castle, the route being lined with troops and enormous crowds of people.

The arrival of the czar was not marked by the same popular enthusiasm as was shown during the visit of King Edward and Emperor William. The emperor's reception, however, was respectful, if not as enthusiastic as might have been expected. The thoroughfares through which the czar and Emperor Francis Joseph drove on their way from the station to Schoenbrunn castle were effectively decorated, but the city proper showed almost no evidence of welcome.

The czar on his arrival seemed tired, and on the way to Schoenbrunn castle gave little evidence of interest in the arrangements for his reception. The police precautions were extraordinary. Almost half the Vienna force was concentrated along the route from the station, where a great number of detectives were gathered.

At the state luncheon Emperor Francis Joseph proposed the health of the czar and expressed his pleasure at welcoming his majesty. The cordiality of their personal relations had already repeatedly exercised a beneficial effect on the political relations between the two countries and regarding the regrettable occurrence in the Balkan peninsula, would again contribute to the success of the action the two countries were jointly taking there in the interest of European peace.

The czar in replying said that the emperor's words of welcome had touched him deeply. The cordial understanding between Russia and Austria and the complete harmony in the action of their governments constituted a valuable pledge for the success of the great work of pacification on which they were mutally agreed.

After the luncheon their majesties, accompanied by Grand Duke Francis Ferdinand and a number of guests, drove to the station near Vienna where they took train for Muerstag, on a hunting expedition.

STEAMER COLUMBIA LOST IN HEAVY FOG ON RIVER

The steamboat Columbia of the Pittsburgh & Morgantown Packet Line was reported missing yesterday afternoon, and for a time it was thought that she had met with an accident. She arrived at the Pittsburgh wharf about 6 o'clock, the delay being caused by the heavy fog which pervaded the valley yesterday morning.

MISS MAY VAN ALEN'S ENGAGEMENT RUMORED

Paternal Objections Also Reported to Suit of Ralph Ranlet.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 30.—It seems to be the general opinion of the exclusive cottage set here that the course of true love shall not run smooth for Miss May Van Alen, no matter who the object of her affections may be, if her father, James J. Van Alen, has his way in the matter. Society is gossiping over the rumor that Mr. Van Alen has vigorously expressed his disapproval of his daughter's engagement to Ralph Ranlet.

Last year Miss Van Alen was reported engaged to Robert Reading Remington, formerly of Pittsburgh. Mr. Van Alen opposed the match, the engagement was broken off and a month later Mr. Remington was found dead in the Newport club. It was generally accepted as a case of suicide, although his brother was firmly convinced that murder had been committed. Miss Van Alen went into mourning for a while.

A short time ago rumors of the engagement of Miss Van Alen and Mr. Ranlet began to fly about. Now society says James J. Van Alen, who once had hopes of the ambassadorship at the court of St. James, is determined his daughter shall not wed Mr. Ranlet. Despite his opposition Miss Van Alen and Mr. Ranlet are constantly seen together, and it seems quite probable that Miss Van Alen will follow the lead of her younger sister, who married Robert Collier, and wed the man of her choice, despite the objections of her father.

HE DEFENDS DR. LORENZ FROM RECENT ATTACKS

Says Famous Viennese Surgeon Is Not Responsible for Two Deaths.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—In an interview today Dr. H. Augustus Wilson, 1611 Spruce street, stoutly defended Prof. Lorenz. The famous Viennese was the guest of Dr. Wilson, while on his visit to this city last fall, and the latter is better acquainted with the bloodless surgeon and his methods than any physician in the country. Dr. Wilson said:

"Although under ordinary circumstances I object to be quoted in medical discussions, I feel that it is my duty toward my friend, Dr. Lorenz, and the public in general, to combat these unjust criticisms. The whole thing in a nutshell is the success of Prof. Lorenz is blamed for things for which he was not responsible.

"Dr. Lorenz is a modest, sincere and noble man, who has conferred a boon upon humanity by devising a cure for an affliction hitherto thought incurable. It is true that in 1890, Hoffa of Wurzburg, showed by his cutting operation that the deformity was curable, but the mortality resulting from the operation was very high. It remained for Lorenz to bring to its present state of efficiency the bloodless operation, where the mortality is correspondingly low.

"It is a fact that two patients died in this country after undergoing the operation, one in Philadelphia and one in New York. A careful and exhaustive post mortem was made on the patient who died in this city and it was shown that the death was caused by ether, although the previous examination of the child had not shown that it was unable to take the anaesthetic.

"In the New York case the patient was too old to undergo the operation with any hope of success, and Dr. Lorenz refused to perform it. The parents of the child begged to have the operation performed and it was done by other persons with fatal results."

PERSONALS

"I am immensely pleased with the Louisiana Purchase exposition," said William Ingersoll, leading man of the Grand Opera house stock company, yesterday, upon returning from his vacation, part of which he spent in St. Louis. "I am inclined," he said, "to regard the fair as more of a reflex of Chicago's accomplishments rather than the sole efforts of St. Louis. It is doubtless a saving of money to trade upon another's glory; but, on the other hand, there is a consequent want of recognition of the fact that St Louis is setting a mark so far above all predecessors as to require no borrowed effulgence to dazzle. The American people like big things. St. Louis recognized this at the start, and in time the conservative bankers, merchants and the like, except Francis, awoke to the fact that the being that had been created would realize millions more to complete it. Five millions from the state of Missouri, another $5,000,000 from subscriptions in St. Louis a third $5,000,000 from the general government, with, prospectively, a fourth $2,000,000 from the concessionnaires, and $20,000,000 from gate receipts, seemed a mint of money. Forty millions, however, will prove none too much to finish the show, and those who have scaled down the subscriptions to bedrock—but by holding that contractors who simply added the sum of such the official stipulations enforced upon them to the total of the amount bid on construction of the buildings are not in reality contributing anything—will see that the $5,000,000 the government has just made available will go where they will do the most good."

"THE BIG STORE"

The final details concerning that big purchase of shoes

THAT we first told you about last Tuesday—told you how we learned a certain Brockton (Mass.) concern was in a financial tangle and the promptness with which we acted. We were glad to get the 5,000 pairs our buyer secured. Wish it had been 10,000, then just 5,000 more people could have shared this unusual opportunity. These shoes were turned out by a factory which is extremely jealous of its reputation—a house that frequently rejects what less careful houses would easily pass.

Now just a few short words as to detail:

$3.00 & $3.50 mens' shoes for 2.15

In these lots are all styles. Every shoe is Goodyear welt sewed. All leathers, finest box and velour calf, vici kid and Corona colt patent leather. Heavy, medium and light soles. The shapes are the most wanted of the season's making; six different styles of lasts; drill and kid lined.

$3.00 & $3.50 men's shoes for 2.15

Pirates in Fine Shape to Face Boston Americans

PIRATES READY FOR HARD GAMES

Clarke Says All His Players Are in Shape and That Deacon Phil Will Be Relied Upon.

DOHENY CALLED TO WORK

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 30.—"I expect to make the series five straight for Pittsburgh and with Phillippe in the box, things will be coming our way. The Deacon was never in better condition, the way that he cuts loose with his benders is a caution," said Capt. Clarke of the Pittsburgh nine today to The Gazette correspondent. Manager Collins of the local champions was reticent, as usual, when interviewed just after a stiff practice session in which the Boston boys showed superb form today.

"I believe that every man on our team will do his best and is in condition to do their best. And I think this means that we should beat Pittsburgh," was his only comment.

The Boston team, in addition to the lineup given has in reserve Pitchers Hughes, Winter and Gibson, Catchers J. Stahl and Farrell and O'Brien, utility. With the Pittsburgh team, in addition to Pitchers Phillippe, Leever and Doheny, is the veteran slabman, Kennedy, two newcomers, Veil and Thompson, and Catchers Smith and Carlisch.

Pittsburgh is quartered at the Vendome. There is no truth in the report that Leach will be unable to play. Leach has a small eruption on the back of one finger, but it will not interfere with his ball playing. Every other member of the team is in first-class shape. Wagner and Clarke have lame legs. They bother them a little, but not enough to impair their effectiveness.

The first thing Manager Clarke did on reaching the hotel was to send a telegram to Pitcher Doheny at the latter's home in Andover, telling him to report at once. Clarke believes Doheny will be in shape to pitch, and if such is the case, the Pirates will not be so much handicapped in their pitching department after all, as Kennedy has rounded into shape and Thompson is also in good condition.

The Pittsburgh team will do practice during its stay here. The playing of the games will be enough, Clarke says. This afternoon the Pirates went out to see the Harvard-Bowdoin football game. Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the club, with a party of 16 Pittsburgh baseball enthusiasts, arrived at the Vendome about 4 p. m. They are very confident and full of enthusiasm. Every man in the party is backing Pittsburgh with coin.

The biggest bet so far recorded, $3,000 to $2,500 on Boston, represents odds that these men are covering eagerly. They say that they would rather bet even than not at all, however. The chances are that the odds at the grounds will be about 10 to 9 on Boston, with possibly even money.

MARLIN IS ELECTED.

Chosen Manager of Shadyside Academy Eleven—Allegheny Preps in Line.

Ralph Marlin was yesterday elected manager of the Shadyside academy football team, to succeed Twing Brooks, who resigned to leave school. The election was held at the academy and was a lively affair. Marlin was elected on 112 votes and Grant Curry, who was second, received 94 votes. Otto Swenson, another candidate, was also well up in votes.

The Allegheny Preparatory school candidates are working every afternoon at the Colesseum under Coach Snitzer, a former Yale quarterback. Snitzer has a number of men who are good form and ready for a practice game with the Lincoln A. C. tomorrow afternoon. The Preps, who always put up a plucky fight against superior odds, miss some of last year's strong players. Will Knox, the all-around athlete, has entered Yale and Witherow and Denny, both ends, have gone to the St. Paul school at Concord, N. H. John and Robb Moron, two tackles, are also missing. The guards, Zimmerman and Gilg, have quit school. The old men back are Mayer, center; Reiter, half; Tuslin, fullback. Capt. Fleming will play fullback.

The schedule follows: Bellevue High school at Colesseum, October 10; Allegheny High school at Colesseum, October 17; Carnegie High school at Colesseum, October 24; Allegheny High school at Colesseum, October 31; Trinity Hall at Washington, November 7; Sewickley High school at Colesseum, November 14; Trinity Hall at Colesseum, November 21; Sewickley High school at Sewickley, November 28.

COUGHLIN WAS A MARK.

The Alleged "Irish Giant" Was Knocked Down Three Times, Then He Quit.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—"Con" Coughlin, popularly known as the "Irish Giant," was to have fought six rounds with "Bob" Fitzsimmons tonight at the Washington club, but he was so greatly outclassed by the former pugilistic champion that he quit before the expiration of the first round. At no time during the two minutes and 30 seconds the round lasted did Coughlin have a show and in that brief time was knocked down three times. He seemed to be scared and wanted to quit before he did, but his second would not permit him to throw up the sponge.

The round opened with both men cautious for a few seconds, after which Fitzsimmons swung a left to the jaw and Coughlin put a light left to the mouth. Fitzsimmons sent another to the jaw and a clinch followed. The former champion then struck out viciously and hooked Coughlin on the jaw, which sent the Irish giant to the floor for four seconds. As soon as he regained his feet a right and left to the jaw sent him down again, this time for the count. He came back slowly and Fitzsimmons landed a terrific uppercut on the chin. Coughlin appeared to be scared and wanted to quit, but his seconds sent him to the center of the ring. The moment he put up his fists Fitzsimmons again dropped him to the floor with a left on the jaw. Coughlin's second, Sam Fit patrick, then threw up the sponge. The Irish giant was then taken back to his corner in a half dazed condition.

JOCKEY FATALLY INJURED.

Shea Was Pinioned Under Fallen Horse at Delmar.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30.—Shea, the most promising jockey at Delmar track, was probably fatally injured in the first race today. Harplithe went down under Shea at the turn and Mathilde stumbled over Harplithe and rolled on the boy, who was pinioned under the horse. Low Beach also fell. McKinney, on the latter, was rendered unconscious and sustained a fractured shoulder blade. Bridwell, who rode Mathilde, was carried from the track, but is not seriously injured.

Shea did not regain consciousness and was taken to the Baptist sanitarium, where Dr. Neville said his chances of recovery were very slight.

BONESETTER IS THERE.

Youngstown Man in Boston to Attend the Pirates.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Bonesetter John Reese of this city has gone to Boston as a guest of the Pittsburgh club. He is to act in his official capacity in case any of the players are injured, and for which he draws the great sum of $500.

When the different men were knocked out of the game things began to look gloomy for the Pittsburgh team. Brandfield, Clarke, Leach and Wagner were flexed up by the bonesetter, and now they think he is the greatest man in the business.

Cornell's Line Was Weak.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Cornell defeated Alfred college on Percy field today, 26 to 0. The game was poorly contested throughout. The only twice in the entire contest were the visitors able to make first downs. The offensive and defensive playing of the Cornell line was hopelessly weak and it was only the weakness of the Alfred backs which prevented the visitors from scoring. Time of halves, 15 and 10 minutes.

The flutes in Sousa's band turn pale at the luscious beauty of Estelle Liebling's top notes. Tonight at the expo she sings the famous Mad Scene from "Hamlet."

LEW MOREN'S GREAT WORK TOO MUCH FOR HOMESTEAD

Youngster on Rubber for Millvale and Gives Steel Workers Shut Out.

Lew Moren, the brilliant young Millvale pitcher, again showed high class work on the slab yesterday, by beating the Homestead L. A. C., 2 to 0, in a game at Millvale that was hard fought all the way. "Farmer" Brown was the person who acted as master of ceremonies for the Steel Workers, and he also displayed the best of form. A drop of a short fly in short right in the fifth inning by Coursey allowed two Millvale runners to cross the plate with the only runs of the game.

"Homestead has campaigned up and down the independent circuit all this season, meeting the best of pitchers, but never before this year has it faced such work as was displayed by Moren," said Thayer Torreyson after the argument. Moren pitched an article of ball that would win in any company. The Steel Workers found him for four hits. But one Homestead player reached third during the contest, Brown passing that station in the sixth on a hit by Torreyson to right. Brown was on second and McCluskey on first when Torreyson shot the ball over the first bag. It encountered an obstacle and Jamison was upon it in an instant. Jamison played the ball home and Brown was nailed as he slid. In the last two games Moren has pitched against Homestead that team has not scored in 16 innings and 20 men succumbed to his curves.

Farmer Brown, too, twirled championship ball, and had Coursey held on to the fly which proved so disastrous the contest might have gone on until darkness put an end to it. Neither team landed on the ball very hard, and consequently there were very few exciting catches by the outfielders or stops by the men in the infield. Harry McChesney, Homestead's middle fielder, took sick in the first inning and retired, Ferguson going to his field. Ferguson put up a creditable game, one catch being a feature.

In the seventh inning Miller singled and Brown followed with a line drive to left middle. Both Tate and Ferguson started after it, Ferguson taking the ball and then falling over Tate. He whipped the ball back to first before Miller could reach the bag, completing a double play. Jamison began the sixth for Millvale by hitting a grounder to McCloskey, which was booted. Miller drew a walk and Brown advanced each with a neat sacrifice. Moren went out, Brown to Torreyson, and then Campbell lifted a fly back of second which Cosgrove and Coursey got under the ball, but dropped it, both runners scampering over the plate. The score:

ALTOONA BEAT BOSTON.

Harvey Hollis Pitched Mountain Boys to Victory.

ALTOONA, PA., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Four thousand people today cheered Altoona on to victory over the Boston Nationals, who were beaten in one of the sharpest fielding games of the year. With two struck out in the second inning Altoona chucked out three doubles and two singles, which, coupled with a fielding rule, gave Carpenter's men five runs and the game. Pittinger was batted viciously, while Hollis was steady at critical points, and with his grand support the result was never in doubt. Score:

Won Game and Side Bet.

SHARON, PA., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The Independents easily defeated the Sharon Steel team today and won the series and also a $200 side bet. The Steel team seemed to have a case of rattles and were unable to bat McNeil effectively. Only three scattered hits were made by the Steel team. Score:

THE WOMEN GOLFERS SHOW THEIR COURAGE

Championship Contests Played in Wind and Rain and Some Surprises Were Sprung.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO GOLF GROUNDS, WHEATON, ILL., Sept. 30.—Two rounds of 18 holes each, through a cold wind and drizzling rain, tried the strength as well as the golfing skill of the golfers in the woman's national tournament today and resulted in some surprises.

The features of the day's play were the defeat of Miss Bessie Anthony, the western champion, and Miss L. A. Wells of Brookline, runner-up to Mrs. Stoff in last year's tourney, at the hands of Miss Johnny Carpenter of Westward Ho. Miss Anthony disposed of Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Marion in clever fashion in the morning round, and her general play through the day makes her a strong favorite of the western. She beat Miss Harriet Fanny Osgood of Brookline won both of her games so handily that she is looked upon as a very probable winner of the championship.

Mrs. Caleb Low beat Miss Hollis 3 up 1 to play; Miss E. Collins, St. Louis, beat Miss Frances Griscom, Merion, 2 up 1 to play.

Miss Georgiana Bishop, Brookhawn, beat Mrs. R. Lowe, St. Louis, 8 up 7 to play.

Miss J. Spence, Merion, beat Miss Katherine Moulton, Minnekahda, 7 up 5 to play.

Miss Lawelles, Brookline, beat Mrs. Elliott Morris, Philadelphia, 6 up 5 to play.

Miss E. Robertson, Glenview, beat Mrs. P. Manchester, Glenview, 5 up 4 to play.

Miss Bessie Anthony beat Mrs. Caleb Fox 5 up 3 to play.

Miss Katherine Harley beat Miss Helen Bishop 7 up 6 to play.

Miss M. Bishop of St. Louis beat Mrs. H. A. Belding, Chicago, 6 up 5 to play.

Miss K. C. Harley, Fall River, beat Miss H. Kenney, Minnekanda, 3 up 2 to play.

Miss Miriam Anthony, Evanston, beat Miss Florence Hicks, Fall River, 2 up 1 to play.

Miss W. A. Alexander, Exmoor, beat Miss Jane Durel, Edgewater, 3 up 2 to play.

Miss Fanny Osgood beat Miss Elizabeth E. Robertson, 5 up 4 to play. Miss Carpenter beat Miss L. A. Wells 5 up 4 to play.

Mrs. C. L. Deering beat Miss Edith Collins 4 up 3 to play.

Miss Georgiana Bishop beat Miss Margaret Morris 7 up 6 to play.

Miss Margaret Morris, Evanston, beat Miss A. Murray, Wilmington, 4 up 2 to play.

Miss E. Everett, Exmoor, beat Mrs. W. D. Mellaire, Minnekahda, 4 up 3 to play.

Miss J. Anna Carpenter, Westward Ho, beat Mrs. A. T. H. Brewer, Chicago, 1 up.

Miss W. A. Alexander beat Miss Miriam Anthony 5 up 4 to play. Miss Georgiana Bishop beat Miss Margaret Morris, 7 up 6 to play. Miss L. C. Deering beat Miss Edith Collins, 4 up 3 to play. Miss Fanny Osgood beat Miss Elizabeth E. Robertson, 5 up 4 to play. Miss J. Anna Carpenter beat Miss L. A. Wells, 5 up 4 to play.

Miss Susan Osgood's and Miss Anthony's medal scores were the best of the day and showed high class golf. The result of the day's play places Miss Carpenter and Miss Osgood easterners for the remaining play. The pairing for tomorrow is as follows:

Mrs. C. L. Derins, Midlothian, vs. Miss Fanny Osgood, Minnekahda; Miss Bessie Anthony, Glenview, vs. Miss Frances Everett, Exmoor; Miss J. Anna Carpenter, Westward Ho, vs. Miss Georgiana Bishop, Brookline; Miss Katherine Harley, Fall River, vs. Mrs. W. A. Alexander, Exmoor.

It is considered probable that Miss Anthony and Miss Osgood will win their matches tomorrow, which will bring them together in the semi-finals Friday.

BEATEN BY CARDINALS.

Shortstop McGrew Had an Ugly Accident.

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The St. Louis Cardinals played an exhibition me with the Ohio Works team in this city today and won as they pleased. The locals put up a ragged game in the field, which, coupled with their inability to hit Brown opportunely, put them out of the running. On the other hand, the National leaguers batted Myers as they pleased, bumping his delivery for no less than 16 hits.

A distressing accident occurred in the fourth inning, when Teddy McGrew, the shortstop from Indianapolis, who was playing his first game with Ohio Works, dislocated both of his ankles in sliding to second base. He was taken to a hospital, where it was found that his injury is such that it is doubtful if he is ever able to play ball again. Score:

TUFTS DEFEATED BY YALE, 19 TO 0

Blue Has Regulars in First Half and Plays Substitutes the Next.

LOSERS MAKE HARD FINISH

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Sept. 30.—Although Yale was unable to score more than 19 points against Tufts today and prevented the visitors from taking the ball on Yale territory or making first down once during the game, the three touchdowns and safety made were rolled up in the first half, and the fact that no scoring was done in the second was clearly due to the fact that an all-substitute elevene was on the gridiron. Yale sent in 22 men, Hogan and Rohrback being the veterans retained till the close of the play.

Tufts outplayed Yale the last five minutes of the game, holding the Blue at the 10-yard line and outpunting the Blue. Twitchell, who showed up finely Saturday, was tried at quarter and was as erratic in his work as he was brilliant Saturday. His fumbling was responsible for much of the disorganized condition of the Yale play the last few minutes.

Cannell put up a star game for Tufts, pun

ALLEGHENY CITY HAS GREEN BOOK

Municipal Clerks Compiling a List of All the Department Employes.

FOR USE OF CITIZENS PARTY

Every Man to Be Compelled to Give a Written Pledge of His Loyalty to the Ticket—Simple Plan to Pack Mass Meetings.

In the office of E. J. McIlvain, director of public works of Allegheny, is being prepared a complete list of the names of the city employes, their residence, and the district of the ward in which they live. One such list is completed and will be kept in the city hall; the other is to be bound in heavy green paper backs and will be sent throughout the city to have placed on it the signatures of all those on the city payrolls. In short, the Citizens party of the North Side will resort to the same method of securing funds and votes that its leaders and newspapers so loudly denounced prior to the time the Bigelow machine got control of affairs on both sides of the river.

What was known formerly in Pittsburgh as the "official yellow book," will likely be called the official green book of Allegheny.

To all the 15 engine houses in the city the little book will be taken within the next week or 10 days. To the patrol stations it will go and every man on the police force will be asked to sign it. The bureaus of highways and sewers, engineering, charties, health, and water will be canvassed and woe betide the man that refuses to pledge himself to support the Citizens ticket in the fall, both by contributions and by individual effort.

The compilation of this book has been going on for some time, but the greatest secrecy has been maintained concerning it. A hint regarding the work and its possible political significance was given The Gazette several days ago, but on inquiring among those that should know it was learned that no such awful thing was ever thought of in Allegheny. The very idea was scouted by Director McIlvain.

But the story has come out. There are those in city hall, in the employ of the city, whose loyalty to Wyman and his machine is of a doubtful character. A reporter was shown yesterday the lists completed of almost 1,500 men, their home addresses, the districts and wards they reside in, and the department or bureau in which they are employed.

Controller Brown was asked if he knew anything of the book and replied:

"Yes, I know they are working on it and I have no doubt it is for political purposes."

When Wyman and those on his ticket were making their fight last February they spread broadcast through the city copies of their pledges, or, as it was called, the candidates' contract. Section 7 of this contract reads:

We pledge ourselves to support measures that will prevent the levying and collecting of assessments for political purposes from public employes, and exacting from them political services.

Although it is not known that any assessments have so far been made, part of the pledge has already been violated. When the Citizens had their headquarters' opening two weeks ago tonight, Kenyon hall was packed with payrollers. During the evening four city employes confided to a Gazette reporter that they were not there because they wanted to be, nor because they were in sympathy with the Citizens party, but because, as one put it, "the boss told us to show up tonight." The "boss" referred to was Director Scandrett.

All day yesterday clerks in the employ of Allegheny city, paid to do city work, were sending out from Director Scandrett's office postal cards printed by the Citizens party and signed by R. H. Jackson, chairman of the Allegheny city committee. They were in the form of invitations to attend the meeting in Old City hall Saturday night. The completed "green book" was in sight and the clerks mailed to hundreds of city employes these cards. Similar invitations will be sent out for future meetings, and on the faithfulness of the payrollers to attend them will depend the tenure of their jobs.

CONTINUES HEAD OF ORGANIZATION

Investigation Board Did Not Expel President Shaffer for Neglect of Duty.

FULL DECISION KEPT SECRET

Five Days Consumed in Hearing and Reviewing Testimony—Deadlock Is Reported and Denied—Board Adjourned Last Evening.

President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, will continue at the head of the organization. The board of inquiry investigating the charges of neglect of duty preferred against Shaffer gave out the information last night that he will be retained as president, but refused to enter into details. It was reported that the board deadlocked on one point, which held back its decision, but this was denied by one of the members.

The decision of the board was placed in a sealed envelope and turned over to Secretary John Williams. It may be published in the official journal, but if it is not, only members of the organization will know what action the board took.

The Amalgamated Journal, in an editorial in this week's issue, says in part:

Owing to the secrecy enjoined by the laws of our association, we have not published anything on the subject heretofore, but now that the investigation has taken place, it is felt that it is only right that a statement of the case should be made.

Called Two Meetings.

President Shaffer, during the month of August sent out a call for the annual meeting of the vice presidents, to take place at the American house, Cleveland, O., August 28, also for a meeting of representatives from the sheet mill lodges, to be held at Pittsburgh, August 31.

On Friday evening, August 27, President Shaffer left Pittsburgh for Kewanee, Ill., and spoke at a mass meeting at that place. He failed to make his appearance at either of the called meetings which convened at Cleveland and Pittsburgh on August 28 and 31, respectively.

Robert Williams lodge No. 7, of Ohio, made the absence of President Shaffer from these meetings a basis for charges on the ground of neglect of duty. Vice President Gibson, of the first district, assumed charge of the case, and in compliance with our laws, summoned seven lodges to elect representatives and send them to the national office at 10 o'clock Friday, September 25, to investigate the charges. In the meantime Vice President Gibson received other charges from Iron City No. 1, McKees Rocks No. 45, and Crescent lodge No. 8.

Two days were spent in hearing testimony and three days in reviewing it. The members of the committee left for their homes last night, and none would talk of their decision.

Death Benefit Fund.

The death benefit feature of the organization, which was created at the last convention, will be put into operation today. Each lodge is expected to send the names of members in good standing, together with remittance as provided under the rules governing the benefit fund. They must be sent in immediately after the last meeting in September, and Secretary Williams has already received data from several lodges. Any lodge failing to send in the names will render the lodge ineligible to benefits. Each lodge can report only quarterly, consequently those who are not in good standing at the last meeting of September cannot come under the benefit rule until the last of December.

A mass meeting yesterday afternoon in Pere Marquette hall, Second avenue, was addressed by President Shaffer and Vice President William Gibson. It was attended and according to Gibson all the strikers of the Continental Tube works were present. The officials of the association are confident of winning out, and that the firm will sign the scale in a few days.

ALBERT PITCAIRN MAY NOW LEAVE DIXMONT

Through His Wife's Devotion Order Granting Tailor's Release Is Issued.

After a hard-fought battle of about two years' duration, Mrs. Mary Pitcairn yesterday secured the release of her husband, Albert Pitcairn, who is in the Dixmont insane asylum. Pitcairn, who was a tailor, was sent to the institution at the instance of his brothers, but his wife, always maintaining he was perfectly sane, had since been trying to have him released.

Mrs. Pitcairn's efforts were crowned with victory yesterday when Judge R. S. Frazer directed the authorities at the insane asylum to turn over Pitcairn to the care of his wife. The writ is a pending one and can be vacated at any time. Under its terms Pitcairn's relatives have the right to see him at reasonable times and to converse with him not in the presence of his wife.

The matter had been before the court for a long time. Pitcairn conducted a tailoring establishment in Allegheny and engaged in a number of financial enterprises. His family claimed he was insane, and he was sent to Dixmont. There was also a suit over the legality of his marriage, the latter being finally declared valid. Recently Pitcairn was taken into court on a habeas corpus proceeding in a greatly improved condition. Mrs. Pitcairn asked that he be placed in her care and his relatives insisted he should be kept at Dixmont.

It was under this action that Judge Frazer issued the writ. There is an equity case pending, in which it is sought to remove R. V. Pitcairn, a brother, as the committee of Pitcairn's estate. The same brother has also been committee of the person, and it was at his instance that Albert Pitcairn was sent to Dixmont. The brother opposed the release and the hearing in the habeas corpus proceeding was a vigorous contest by attorneys.

Pitcairn, who is about 55 years of age, is in perfect physical condition, and his wife claims he is greatly improved mentally. It was expected Mrs. Pitcairn would visit Dixmont yesterday to have her husband released, but this she did not do. She will probably go there for that purpose today.

SCHOOL BOARD SPLIT AGAIN

Ralston Building Still Without Water and Plumbing Remains Undone.

The Ralston school of the Ninth and Tenth wards, at Penn avenue and Fifteenth street, is still without water and the plumbing remains undone, although Superintendent Samuel Andrews of the city schools appeared before the board last night in hopes of ending the deadlock. He examined the various bids submitted and agreed with three members of the board that the bid of R. Ramsey is illegal. The matter was put to a vote and the board again split.

Brehier, Shaffer and Windish of the board say that Ramsey's bid is legal, and that bond for any reasonable amount will be furnished. The three other members say Ramsey is simply a proxy for A. Heinle, whose bid, with one other, was thrown out.

GOVERNOR SPENT QUIET DAY ON THE LAKESIDE

Visits Soldiers and Sailors' Home at Erie and Chats With Old Veterans.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ERIE, PA., Sept. 30.—Governor Pennypacker admitted that he was fatigued by the extensive celebration over his visit to Franklin when he arrived in the city this afternoon with his wife and daughter. To a member of the committee who waited upon him he said that he would have preferred to make a quiet visit to the lakeside and was in hopes that not many people had heard of his arrival.

Mayor Hardwick, City Treasurer Charles C. Shirk and City Controller George W. Brown went to the Lake Shore depot to meet the train from Franklin bearing the governor and his party of eight persons.

The train had been delayed for an hour and a half and did not arrive until 3:20 o'clock. Less than a dozen people were at the depot to see the governor. The party was escorted to the hotel, where Brigadier General Thomas J. Stewart and the other members of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home commission were awaiting his arrival.

The other members of the commission in the city were: Robert P. Heath, Louis Wagner and John F. Nicholson of Philadelphia; H. H. Cummings of Tidioute; J. A. Stober, Lancaster; L. S. Paraberg, Harrisburg; Milton Heidelbaugh, Lancaster; M. Wheaton and E. B. Hardenbaugh.

General Stewart was accompanied by his wife and Mr. Hardenbaugh by his daughter. After luncheon the entire party went to the State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home and passed two hours in looking over the buildings and grounds. Colonel Richard S. Collum, commander of the home, showed the party around and introduced the 500 veterans, who are sheltered inside the walls. The governor chatted with the men.

During the evening a reception was held in the governor's parlor at the hotel. A couple of hundred of the prominent politicians and residents of the city attended and met the governor and his family and other members of the party. The members of the party retired early to start for the journey to Harrisburg at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

MONEY UNDER GUARD.

Ferguson's Brother Prepares for Trip Over Fateful Road. Deputies With Him.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Guarded by two deputy sheriffs, Francis M. Ferguson of Pittsburgh, with two employes of the Ferguson Company left this afternoon for West Middletown with $3,500 to pay the employes of the Ferguson construction camp, near that place. The money was again taken from the First National bank of Washington and again placed in a satchel, much resembling the one in which the money on the fatal Friday afternoon of last week was placed.

The money was kept under a heavy guard at the France hotel at West Middletown tonight and will tomorrow be taken to the camp over the road where Samuel T. Ferguson met his death. Tomorrow one of the deputies will precede the vehicle containing the money and F. M. Ferguson and one will follow a short distance behind. Both deputies will be on horseback. All will be heavily armed. Mr. Ferguson stated that no danger was anticipated, but that hereafter all the money taken to the camp will be carried in this way.

Mr. Ferguson stated today that he would spare neither time nor money to find his brother's murderers and thinks they will be caught. It is known that detectives from Pittsburgh, who have been detailed on the case, are after a suspected man and expect to get him.

CARNEGIE NOT TO BE HERE.

It is not expected that Andrew Carnegie will be in Pittsburgh on Founder's day this year. The celebration will be held on Thursday, November 5. Mr. Carnegie is expected to reach New York about October 25.

In a letter to one of the trustees received here this week he expressed his pleasure over the site being finally secured for the technical school, after the long delays. He urges that haste be made to complete it.

It is likely, however, that Mr. Carnegie will visit Pittsburgh later in the winter to attend the dedication of the Carnegie library at Duquesne. It had been expected that the building would be ready for dedication in November, but this will not be the case on account of various delays. In a letter to the board which has charge of the library under construction he says that he cannot come until the middle of January or the first of February. The dedication will probably be postponed until that time.

A THIRD COMPETITOR FOR STREET LIGHTING

New Company Has a Natural Gas Burner to Offer the City.

Another competitor to the Allegheny County Light Company for the lighting of the streets of Pittsburgh has appeared, and the Pennsylvania Globe Gas Light Company will not be the only rival. The Pittsburgh Light and Manufacturing Company, which makes a burner for natural gas, will probably enter the competitive field as soon as city councils are ready to award the new contract. Of course, the Philadelphia Company, of which the Allegheny County Light Company is a branch, controls the natural gas supply of the city, but the Pittsburgh company feels confident that Pittsburgh will be able to obtain natural gas from the Philadelphia Company to run the new style of lamps economically.

The inventor of the burner is Thaddeus S. Leese. He is a member of the company. J. E. Powell is the president and Col. S. W. Hill is the secretary and treasurer. The company's factory is in Sandusky street, Allegheny.

It is claimed for the lamp that it is better than the burners using mantels, it not being so expensive or needing so frequent repairs. The Pittsburgh company's lamp is a regenerative gas lamp for street lighting. The light is produced by heating the air and gas to a high degree before combustion takes place, thus producing a clear, bright and steady light of 250-candle power. The lamp is of cast iron and will last for at least five years, so the inventor asserts.

The consumption of gas is only 10 cubic feet per hour. The borough of Avalon has been using mantel lights, but recently installed 12 of the Pittsburgh lights. Capt. William Martin tested one of the lamps for a month at the Davis Island dam and was so well satisfied with it that he ordered three more. The lamp is guaranteed not to blow out in the highest wind, and the only breakable feature is the glass globe, and the globes do not often break, the inventor says.

The lamps are sold outright. The company installs them at a rate ranging from $35 to $37, according to the number ordered, and the municipality maintains the light. At the present price of natural gas, the lamp costs to operate about 2½ cents each a night.

WANTED FOR ROBBERY.

Frank Glunt and Mrs. John Leffard Suspected of Stealing $200 Worth of Jewels.

The Wilkinsburg police, assisted by Detectives Oscar J. Seifert and William Elmore of Pittsburgh, are searching for a man called Frank Glunt, and a woman, said to be his sister, called Mrs. John Leffard. They are supposed to be implicated in robbing a boarding house of valuables worth $200. John Leffard, husband of the woman, is in custody.

About a month ago Leffard and his wife applied for board to Mrs. William Haney, No. 207 Roberts street, Wilkinsburg. Last week several diamond rings, some stick pins, a watch and several dresses disappeared. Leffard and his wife were accused, but they stoutly maintained their innocence. Last Sunday Frank Glunt, it is alleged, appeared at the house and with Detective Hill in hand he would not say anyone who accused his sister of stealing.

Mrs. Haney, it is said, ordered him from the house. He left with his sister, who said they were going to Murrayville, Westmoreland county. They have not been seen since. Leffard was arrested yesterday and in default of $25 fine was sent to the workhouse for 30 days. Meanwhile a search is being made for the others.

THREE SCORE AND TEN.

Senator M. S. Quay Celebrates His 70th Birthday in Quiet Manner.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Senator Matthew S. Quay passed quietly through his 70th year today, although this was the 70th anniversary of his birth. He spent the morning in receiving and answering telegrams and letters of congratulation. One letter was from Gov. Pennypacker and the state officials at Franklin, in which he said: "That his future may be as happy as his past has been useful."

This telegram was signed by many of the officials present at Franklin. Senator Quay spent the greater part of the day on the porch and no speechmaking or demonstration of any kind was indulged in.

The following members of Mr. Quay's family were present at the home: Jerome Quay and family, Richard R. Quay and family of Sewickley; Capt. A. L. Quay and family of Lancaster, Senator Quay's daughter, Mrs. Mary Davidson; Misses Coral and Sue Quay.

Senator Quay will leave for Maine on Monday for a hunting trip. He states that he is in good health and could not expect to feel better.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or officinal names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

LAST ARGUMENT ON VIRGIN ALLEY WIDENING

Board of Viewers Will Now Make Final Report to Court. Few Objectors.

Arguments of the exceptants as to the awards of the board of viewers of the widening of Virgin alley were heard yesterday and the final schedule of the board will be prepared and submitted to court. If any material changes are made in the original plans, the board will notify the property holders in accordance and the hearings will be reopened. Should any radical changes not be made, the property owners will be given an additional chance of filing exceptions to the schedule in court within 30 days from the time the schedule is presented.

H. G. Evans, Esq., appeared for Henry W. Oliver, who he said was satisfied with the awards of both benefits and damages and considered them just. Mr. Evans referred to the claim of J. G. Lauer for greater damages than that allowed, $20,000, and said it was a fair one, based on the value of the leasehold. As to the assessment against the city, he thought that sum was also fair and should not have been made greater, as while the improvement was a public benefit, it was also a great benefit to the property holders, who should share the cost.

Assistant City Solicitor J. A. Blair said he had no objections to file in the city's behalf. He referred to the contention made on the Trinity church property, saying it should not be considered as church property only in the premises, and the law would bear him out. It could be sold at any time and adopted to commercial purposes, as other property in the street. The properties having a Fifth avenue frontage, he held, would be particularly benefited, as it gave them two front streets and that fact should be considered.

C. S. Mitchell renewed his claim for J. G. Lauer for greater damages by reason of necessary alterations in his building and the estimate on the value of his leasehold.

DEATH OF GONZALES WAS A REAL DRAMA

South Carolina Editor Only Feared He Would Die Before Seeing His Wife.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEXINGTON, S. C., Sept. 30.—"I was only afraid I'd die before my wife got here."

James A. Hoyt of the editorial staff of the State testified in the Tillman trial this afternoon that Editor Gonzales muttered these words as he lay dying on the floor of the business office of his paper and just after his wife had been taken from his presence.

Two years ago he declined to give personal satisfaction to A. B. Williams, the present editor of the Richmond, (Va.) News-Leader, after having given Mr. Williams what was considered cause for addressing him a communication couched in the language of the code of South Carolina duello.

The testimony brought out this morning showed that Gonzales was far from being a man that feared death. Mortally wounded, the only evidence of fear of fate shown in the case was the fear that he would have to cross the Great Divide without bidding adieu to his wife.

BIG CEMENT PLANS.

Local Men Purchase 62 Acres Near Connellsville for $500,000 Company.

The United States Portland Cement Company of Pittsburgh, which has just been organized, has closed a deal for the purchase of 62 acres of land two miles east of Connellsville. The property was bought from Frank Pauly of Greensburg. The limestone and clay on the property will be used in the manufacture of the cement.

The capital of the new company is $500,000. Nearly $200,000 is to be put into the plant and operations are to start about May 1 next. It is claimed that tests made of the clay and limestone on the property show qualities that will produce a cement equal to the best Lehigh. Machinery for upward of 2,000 barrels are said to be on the property.

The men interested in the project include Samuel Porter, president of the Porter-Miller Engineering Company, Pittsburgh; J. A. Lazarus, president of the Federal National bank; E. C. Kleinman, president of the First National bank, McKees Rocks; B. G. Tingling, president of the Kittanning Brick Company; George L. Filbert, Q. L. Stevens and J. K. Wymard, Pittsburgh.

TREASURY SHOWS A BIG SURPLUS

Secretary Shaw Gets Treasurer's Report for the Last Fiscal Year.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Ellis H. Roberts, treasurer of the United States, has submitted to Secretary Shaw his report on the condition of the treasury June 30, 1903, and its operations during the past fiscal year. The total net revenues for the year were $560,206,674, an increase of $38,988,439 over the year preceding, and the total expenditures $506,008,007, an increase of $35,782,034. The surplus was $54,297,907, as compared with $61,287,373 in 1902.

In the receipts there was an increase of upward of $30,000,000 from customs, and a falling off of over $41,000,000 from internal revenue, the latter being the result of legislation enacted with that object. On the side of the expenditures there was an increase in every important account except pensions and interest, in which there were slight savings. The expenditures for the two military departments, which together amounted to $121,237,854, forming by far the heaviest outlay for any single purpose, were upward of $21,000,000 greater than the year before.

The aggregate income, including beside the revenue the receipts from bonds, notes and coin certificates, was $1,211,594,097, and the aggregate outgo $1,122,647,965. At the close of the year the treasury held $360,088,869 in gold and silver on deposit against outstanding certificates and treasury notes besides the $150,000,000 in gold which forms the reserve against United States notes.

Treasurer Roberts places the monetary stock of the country on June 30, 1903, including gold and silver United States notes, treasury notes and national bank notes, but not certificates, at $2,688,140,621, an increase of $124,882,963 for the year.

Simple Remedy for Catarrh

Just Breathe Hyomei Four Times a Day and Be Cured.

If a few years ago some one had said you can cure catarrh by breathing air charged with a healing balsam, the idea would have been ridiculed and it remained for that eminent investigator, R. T. Booth, to discover in Hyomei this method of cure.

Hyomei has performed almost miraculous cures of catarrh and is today recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy that can be relied upon to do just what it claims. The complete outfit of Hyomei costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei.

Breathe Hyomei through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. It soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the air passages, prevents irritation, and effects a complete and lasting cure.

In Pittsburgh there are scores of well-known people who say they have been cured of catarrh by Hyomei. If it does not cure you, Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Frankstown avenues will return the money you paid for Hyomei. This is the strongest evidence that can be offered as to their faith in the remedy.

TWO SCRIBES MAY NULLIFY A WILL

Clause Forbidding Contest Results in Just What Testatrix Tried to Avoid.

WRITTEN IN TWO LANGUAGES

Son Raised Unusual Objection to Probate of Wealthy Mother's Testament. Brothers Accuse Sister of Wrongfully Securing Property—Dr. Reid's Estate.

The will of Annie Schneiderlochner, one of the wealthiest women in Millvale, written partly in English, partly in German and signed in the middle, formed the basis yesterday of one of the most interesting contests over an estate ever heard in the register's office. The will was filed for probate yesterday, and the first hearing took place immediately. A caveat was filed and the relatives of the woman, who asked for the probate of the will, undertook to prove the document.

Frank Schneiderlochner, a son, objected to the probate, not because the will was not signed by his mother, nor because it was not her last testament, but on grounds raised but two or three times since the passage of the act of April 8, 1833, providing that a will be signed at the end thereof.

As appeared from the testimony offered by the proponents of the will, it was written by a daughter, Sophia, and contained provisions giving her a large portion of the estate, worth many thousands of dollars. This portion of the instrument was written in English, and the testatrix, it was shown, had signed the paper in German.

There were no subscribing witnesses, but this did not invalidate the will. After the signature of the testatrix, she added a clause in German providing that any of the children who contested the will should get nothing. She failed to sign this portion of the document, and the contestant claimed she nullified the entire testament thereby.

Handwriting Was Proved.

The entire afternoon was devoted to proving the signature, the proponents proving the handwriting. When the will was finally offered for probate, Attorney J. L. Ritchey, who represents the son, Frank, who was cut off with $500, objected for the reason that the will was not signed as required by this old act of 1833.

One case of the kind passed upon by the supreme court about half a century ago was quoted. It was Hays against Harden, where the will was written and signed by the testator, then witnessed, and a clause added explaining the testator's reasons for making the will. This clause was not signed by him and he invalidated the entire document, as the supreme court decided.

After Attorney Ritchey's argument the hearing was adjourned for three weeks, when the contestant will offer his side of the case. Attorney J. Charles Dicken represents the daughter and the testatrix's other children.

The executor of the estate of the late Rev. W. J. Reid, D. D., late pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, has filed the first and final account of the personal estate of the deceased with Register George H. Stengel. The aggregate is $32,544. Of this, as shown by the inventory, $22,000 91 is on deposit, subject to certain trusts payable from the account; $10,000 is represented by 100 shares of stock of Murdock, Kerr & Co., and the proceeds of the sale of the house at No. 244 Oakland avenue, complete, amount to $7,200. His life insurance amounted to $5,015. By his will the widow has a life use of the estate, which then reverts to his son, W. J. Reid, Jr.

Decrees in distribution were: Katherine E. Freeze, deceased, $4,065 67; Adam Reineman, deceased, $32,934 36, of which $6,240 55 is given to each of five children; the same amount left in trust for each of two minor children, and the same amount to the children of another son.

Ejectment proceedings were begun by Thomas P. and Edward A. Kelly against Alice S. O'Connor and her husband, Peter J. O'Connor, to recover a one-half interest in two premises in Fifth avenue, near Soho, on which are a three-story brick property and three frame houses. The property is valuable and the plaintiffs charge their sister, one of the defendants, with obtaining possession of the property in an unlawful manner.

The plaintiffs aver that the property originally was that of their mother, who died intestate on December 31, 1893, being survived by the plaintiffs, their sister, Mrs. O'Connor; a brother, John P., and their father, Patrick Kelly.

About March 23, 1894, they say, at the solicitation of the father, the children made a deed to him for the property without consideration, excepting $1. The plaintiffs say they were minors at the time and that the deed by "inadvertance, accident or mistake" was wrongfully written, and in October, 1897, Alice S. "by undue influence did unlawfully and wrongfully procure her father to convey the property to her." They aver he was physically and mentally infirm at the time.

Although he had pleaded guilty to the charge of entering a railroad car, John Hubert failed to secure leniency for his crime, and was sentenced to serve four years in the Western penitentiary.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Abraham Robin has petitioned common pleas No. 1 to change his name to Albert Robin.

In the suit of Louis W. Reilly against the Pullman Company, tried in common pleas court No. 3, a verdict was returned for the defendant.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Gardner Bros. vs. Max Markowitz, $82 23; Isadore Klein vs. R. Soltz and J. Soltz, $210; Justus Hess vs. S. H. Stewart.

Thomas Murphy has sued the city of Pittsburgh for $1,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by improper drainage of surface water, flooding his property in the Fourteenth ward.

In common pleas court No. 1 a verdict was rendered the plaintiff for 6¼ cents damages in the suit of Rachel Martz against Alexander Luzell, Jr., and Frank Grade, an action for alleged false arrest.

The case of James Lathwood against the Werrebere & Sheehan Company is now on trial in common pleas court No. 1. The plaintiff claims the defendants, while contractors on the Grant boulevard, dumped dirt on his property near the Union depot. He asks $1,900 damages.

In the orphans' court Judge J. J. Miller is hearing testimony in the matter of the audit of the estate of the late Hugh Clancy, formerly one of Bellevue's wealthiest citizens. Postmaster A. J. Clancy, a son of the testator, and his brother, T. M. Clancy, are executors of the will of the decedent. Exceptions were filed to the account of rents and other collections and to a bill of $1,200 filed by a physician, which is alleged to be excessive.

An application for a temporary injunction to restrain the Pittsburgh Coal Company from erecting an air shaft on the property of B. G. Cubbage in Carnegie was refused yesterday. The company, however, agreed to stop work until after a hearing on Saturday.

In common pleas court No. 2 suit was entered by the Meyercord Company of Chicago against the Derry China Company of Derry, Pa., for $20 80 alleged to be due on an order for "decalcomania transfers," which were delivered to the defendant company.

Consumption

Is a disease of civilization. When the Indian was a stranger to the white man he had no name in his vocabulary for this dreaded malady.

Without arguing as to the curability of consumption, it may be stated positively that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures weak lungs, hemorrhages, bronchitis, deep-seated and stubborn cough, and other diseases which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption. There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Persons suffering from chronic disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is conducted under the seal of sacred secrecy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Your medicine is the best I have ever taken," writes Mrs. Jennie Dingman, of Rapid City, Kalkaska Co., Mich. "Last spring I had a bad cough, got so bad I had to be in bed all the time. My husband thought I had consumption. He wanted me to get a doctor, but thought we would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and before I had taken one bottle the cough stopped and I have since had no sign of its returning."

WOMEN AT WAR IN CONVENTION

Member Expelled from Auxiliary of Spanish-American Veterans.

MUCH EXCITEMENT PREVAILS

Dresses Were Spoiled by Shedding of Tears and Then Battle Was Renewed. Suit Is Threatened by Mrs. Ball, Who Was Ejected.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Sept. 30.—Sensational scenes marked the closing session of the Women's Auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans this afternoon. Mrs. Isabel Worral Ball of Washington invoked the strength of a United States court injunction to gain entrance into the convention hall. When she made her appearance this morning she was forgiven and promised to let drop her charges and impeachment demands against Mrs. Flora A. Lewis.

This afternoon when Mrs. Ball entered the meeting she found the delegates debating what to do with her. They first asked her to resign and she shouted, "No." Then they expelled her. Mrs. Lowis was not in the chair, owing to the fact that charges against her were pending. Mrs. Isabel Alexander of Cleveland taking charge of the proceedings. The vote of expulsion was almost unanimous, according to the statement of Mrs. Alexander, only six voting to retain her in the membership.

The statement authorized by Mrs. Alexander and the press committee says: "Mrs. Ball was asked to resign and declined. She was then expelled because we felt that she was a woman who was not working for the interests of the order."

Mrs. Ball said tonight: "I can't find out what I was expelled for or what right the meeting had to expel me without at least letting me defend myself. In the morning session we all spoiled our dresses weeping over each other's shoulders, kissing and making up. Yet when I returned in the afternoon I found that a scheme had been concocted to expel me. I had apologized for my conduct at the morning session and had torn up the charge I had ready to prefer against Mrs. Lewis.

"As soon as the afternoon meeting began Miss Riser, a member of the Flora Lewis council of New York, moved that I be expelled, Mrs. Lewis tore around like a crazy cat while Mrs. Alexander was putting the motion. No one was allowed to talk on the question. There was not time to even think about it, and so I was voted out."

Mrs. Ball said that she would see that the injunction was enforced when she got back to Washington and would consult a lawyer about bringing a criminal libel suit.

The following officers were elected: National president, Mrs. Isabelle Alexander, Cleveland; senior vice president general, Mrs. Ellen Spencer Muzzy, dean of the Women's Law college, Washington; junior vice president general, Mrs. Mary Dineen, Brooklyn; inspector general, Mrs. Eliza Hodson, Washington; surgeon general, Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, Washington; chaplain general, Miss Mary Lane, Boston; treasurer general, Miss Margaret Bright, Cleveland.

Escaped from Their Friends.

Clifford S. Hixson and his bride are registered at the Manhattan hotel in New York. Mr. Hixson was married in Pittsburgh last week to Miss Florence Cron. Friends of the couple intended to play a joke on them, but a whisper of it came to the bridegroom's ears and he completely outgeneraled them. Mr. Hixson was in great glee over the matter yesterday. "We have had a nice little trip," he said, "but if the plans of my charming friends in Pittsburgh had been successful we might still be there. I understand they intended to kidnap my wife and myself and either lock us up or ship us away in opposite directions. My mother and father helped us to outwit them. At the wedding reception we had a carriage near the back door. My wife and I danced once or twice and then slipped out unnoticed and drove away. We got aboard a train and were out of town before the jokers missed us." The Hixsons will stay in New York several days.

Shopping in New York.

Mrs. William Latham Abbott and her daughter, Miss Lois Walnwright Abbott, will go east next week to spend a few weeks in New York to make further preparation for the wedding of Miss Abbott and Walter L. Worrall of New York on November 3. Mrs. Abbott's younger daughter, Miss Jeannette Abbott, who is a debutante this year, will make her first appearance in society at her sister's wedding, but her formal coming out will not take place until about the holidays. No definite plans have yet been made for her. Franklin Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott's son, who has been taking a course in architecture at Columbia university, is now at home and will spend this year in Pittsburgh, expecting next year to go abroad for a year's study.

TWO EXILED PRINCESSES SPEND NIGHT IN STREET

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Surrounded by eight big leather trunks, Pelagie and Oceanie Fisher, who claim to be exiled princesses, or at least daughters of an imprisoned aspirant to the throne of Holland, spent the night on the sidewalk in front of 346 Fourth avenue. The young women sat as unconcernedly among their luggage as they would have done on the throne of Wilhelmina, to which they still have aspirations.

The fact that they had been unceremoniously hurled into the street without warrant of law after a quarrel with their landlady did not seem to ruffle them. They had paid their rent and had plenty of money, and their only reason for camping out in the chilly night was to safeguard their belongings.

Miss Pelagie is 20 years old. Her sister, Oceanie, so baptized because she first saw the light in the southern archipelago, is 19. They are good looking, swarthily skinned from much travel and fashionably dressed. Their appearance and manner evidence culture. Miss Pelagie said they spoke all the continental languages. Their English is well chosen and spoken with a pretty accent.

"Our father was the superior commander of the Dutch army," said the older sister.

"That is a position to which the holder is elected by the people. When old King William died there was a quiet movement among the people and the army to put our father at the head of the government. You know that it is a current court secret that Wilhelmina is not William's daughter. He was preposterously old when she was born. The result of the movement was father's imprisonment and the confiscation of his fortune. We were told that he was dead and we actually paid for his funeral expenses.

"Afterward information came to me that he was living immured in prison. I will not say where, for political reasons, but I contrived to see him. My visit was discovered and again word was brought that he had died. I demanded to see the body, but this was denied.

"Sister and I were given money by the government on condition that we would leave Holland. We accepted after gaining permission to place our suit for father's fortune in the hands of lawyers. We have since been traveling about seeing the world. Several weeks ago we came to New York.

"Mrs. Crow had a boarder named Jones, and it is because of a disagreement with him that we are here in the street."

SOCIETY.

INVITATIONS were issued yesterday for the wedding of Miss Frances Patton Mills and Robert E. Carnahan, Jr., of Middletown, O. The marriage will be solemnized on Thursday, October 15, at the home of the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Theodore Tonnelle, in College avenue, East End. It will be a particularly handsome wedding.

The wedding party will include a maid of honor, Miss Josephine Tyers of Dobbs Ferry, and Miss Katherine Carnahan, a sister of the prospective bridegroom, the only bridesmaid. Mr. Wallace of this city will be the best man and the ushers chosen are William Elkins, James Lockhart and Benjamin Mills, a brother of the bride-elect, of South Bound Brook, N. J. The hour for the ceremony is 6:30 and the guests will include relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Tyers arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday and will remain with Miss Mills over the wedding. The two young women were classmates at Dobbs Ferry. A number of informal social affairs have been arranged to precede the wedding, the festivities to commence with a tin shower, which will be given at Mrs. Tonnelle's home on Saturday. The rehearsal and dinner for the bridal party will be given on the eve of the wedding. The engagement of Miss Mills and Mr. Carnahan was announced last spring at a tea which Mrs. Tonnelle gave for her sister. Miss Mills has made her home with her sister the last three years, the Tonnelles coming to Pittsburgh to live six years ago. Mr. Carnahan is a former Pittsburgher, though recently having gone to Middletown.

Weixel—Diebold.

Green and white were the prevailing colors at the wedding of Miss Edna Maria Weixel and Alfred J. Diebold, which took place in the Roman Catholic Church of the Epiphany yesterday morning. Co-Adjutor Bishop Canevin solemnized the marriage at 9 o'clock. The bridal party included Frank Diebold as best man and Mrs. E. A. Murphy as matron of honor. Mrs. Murphy is a sister of the bride, her marriage with Mr. Diebold's business partner having taken place last June. The ushers completed the bridal party. They were J. D. Reilly, Albert Bertalot, Clarence Diebold and A. E. Murphy. Joseph Otten played the march and the wedding was witnessed by almost 500 guests.

The bride wore a gown of chiffon, elaborately trimmed with duchess and point lace. Her veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and a large bouquet of white roses was carried. Mrs. Murphy wore her wedding gown with a white hat of chiffon and plumes. Her bouquet was also of white roses. The church was decorated with palms, these being grouped about the altar and chancel.

The decorations at the house, where a reception was held, were especially dainty, roses entering into the decorative scheme. The parlor of the old Weixel mansion is a beautiful pink and white apartment with Louis XIV. furniture. The central adornment was a pleasing feature of the decorations in this room. From two large bunches of white roses, placed at either end of the mantel, fell long streamers of gauze ribbon and lilies of the valley. In the other rooms there were vases of roses and the mantels were banked in green. Breakfast was served on five large tables, the bride's table occupying the library. On all five, centerpieces of white roses were placed.

Mr. and Mrs. Diebold departed last evening for a wedding trip, after which they will receive their friends in a new home in Dalzell avenue, on Wednesdays in November. Mr. Diebold is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Diebold of Center avenue. He is a graduate of St. Mary's school, Maryland. His bride was a student of the Ursuline convent school. Among the pre-nuptial festivities was a dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Weixel gave on Tuesday evening in connection with the wedding rehearsal. At the dinner the matron of honor received a souvenir gold pin the bridegroom presenting his attendants with cuff links.

Bigley—Mathieu.

Wearing her mother's wedding veil and a gown of white Paris de loom, Miss Nellie Bigley yesterday morning became the wife of George Robert Mathieu, the wedding taking place in the Roman Catholic church of SS. Peter and Paul. The Rev. George Kim Bigley, a brother of the bride, read the service at 9:45 o'clock, assisted by the Rev. Joseph Suehr. The bride's flowers were roses and valley lilies. Mrs. E. A. Richter, a sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor. Mrs. Richter wore pink crepe de chene and carried a shower of maidenhair fern. The maids, Miss Pauline Weinsberg, Miss Blanche Mentzer, Miss Minnie Zinsmeister and Miss Cora Sneathen, all wore dainty gowns of French batiste, with hats of lace and pink roses. They carried pink roses and lilies of the valley in shower effect. Miss Estelle McSwigan, the little flower girl, in a frock of pink and white, carried a basket of pink and white blossoms. Mr. Mathieu was attended by a best man, Alexander King, and groomsmen, J. T. Munchen, Edward Mentzer, H. A. Bigley and E. A. Richter. The ushers were Gregor Knoor, Frank Brennan and A. S. Bigley. Frederick Bigley and Clement Munchen as pages, completed the bridal party.

The altar was a mass of green and white, asters and ferns carrying out the wedding colors. The same colors prevailed in the decorations for the breakfast at the Hotel Schenley. Vases of roses were placed about the dining room, and a beautiful wreath of white roses surrounded the wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Mathieu will spend their honeymoon in the east and will be at home in Farragut street on their return. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Bigley of Farragut street and Mr. Mathieu is a son of G. A. Mathieu of the East End.

Carson—Marshall.

Although very quiet, the wedding of Miss Fannie Margaret Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Carson of South Highland avenue, and John L. Marshall of Oakmont, was an exceedingly pretty home event of last evening. The Rev. Daniel Dorchester of Christ Methodist Episcopal church performed the marriage ceremony in the presence of the members of the two families and a few close friends. The only attendant was a small niece of the bride, Miss Marjorie McCrea Dick. The hour was set for 7 o'clock. Miss Helen Kell presided at the piano, playing the wedding march. The bride was modishly gowned in figured white mousseline. She carried white roses. Little Miss McCrea wore a dainty frock of filmy white.

A number of out-of-town guests were present. Mrs. John Patterson of East Liverpool was one of a large number of Ohio friends who were in attendance at the ceremony. Mrs. Patterson is a guest of the Carsons over the wedding. The decorations for the wedding were very simple, consisting mainly of dahlias and roses in pink and white. Mr. Marshall and his bride are now making a trip through the east. They will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Carson in South Highland avenue after their return.

Birch—Furlong.

Harry E. Birch of Chicago, superintendent of maintenance of way of the Somerset Telephone Company of Somerset and Meyersdale, Pa., and Miss Margaret Furlong of Cumberland, were married yesterday afternoon in Meyersdale by the Rev. Father Kelley. Mr. Birch and his bride met in Cumberland several months ago. They will reside in Meyersdale. The bride is a daughter of Lieutenant Joseph Furlong.

A November Wedding.

A matrimonial engagement announced yesterday is that of Miss Anna Genevieve Dougherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dougherty of 4623 Plummer street, Lawrenceville, and Edward Harrison Brawley of Portage, Cambria county. The marriage will take place the morning of November 4, in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Forty-fifth street, Braddock. After a southern honeymoon the couple will live in Braddock.

Jones-Cramp.

Miss Myrtle Hayes Jones, daughter of Evan Jones of the West End, councilman from the Thirty-sixth ward, and Percy Gordon Cramp of Crafton were united in marriage at 9 o'clock last night, the Rev. John N. Gaston, pastor of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, officiating. Only immediate relatives were present.

Hays—Brewster.

A wedding of much interest in New Castle will be that of Miss Myrtle Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hays of Mt. Jackson, and James W. Brewster of that county, which will occur next Wednesday. The groom is a member of a prominent family and the bride-elect is a graduate of Wilson college, at Chambersburg, and is well known in local society circles.

Wedding Day Set.

Miss Pearl Cropsey and Allen Birge have selected November 10 as their wedding day. Miss Cropsey has been making her home with her grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. John Liggett of "Springwood," Walnut street, East End. Mr. Birge is a Texas man. The wedding will be large and handsomely appointed.

Entertained for a Bride.

Mrs. George E. Tener entertained with a bridge whist party at her home in Beaver street, Sewickley, yesterday in honor of Mrs. Henry Oliver of Sewickley Heights, a recent bride. The affair was quite informal and about 35 guests were present.

At Home in Latrobe.

A pretty event will be the wedding of Miss Mary B. Daugherty and James E. Sowach, to take place this evening at the residence of W. E. Hershey, in Pitcairn. The couple will make their home in Latrobe.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

OCTOBER is the general rallying month for women's clubs. The majority of the State Federations throughout the country will be conducted this month and many individual clubs have their opening meetings during the next 30 days.

The Twentieth Century club will hold its president's reception late in October after the return of the delegates from the state meeting in Carlisle. This will be the formal opening of the club house and will be followed by the lectures and the commencement of the current topics class for the season. Next Monday the Tourist club will hold its first meeting this season in the Business Women's club in Arch street, Allegheny. Monday evening will also occur the annual rally of the members of the Business Women's club, followed on Monday, October 12, by the opening of the classes for the season. Sorosis will meet on Wednesday, October 7, at the Hotel Schenley, when president's day will be observed. Colloquium will commence its season's work the following week, on Monday, October 12, when its members will gather at the Pennsylvania College for Women. The Woman's club of Sewickley announces Wednesday, October 21, as its first meeting day, and a large reception in honor of the president will be conducted at the Edgeworth club house. Thursday afternoon, October 8, the Thursday Afternoon club of Wilkinsburg, will formally open the season and on Wednesday, October 21, the New Era club will begin its study and work for the coming year.

A Capable Inspector.

Mrs. Franklin P. Iams, chairman of the Tenement House department of the Permanent Civic Committee, said of Dr. Luba N. Robin, appointed yesterday an inspector of tenement houses in Pittsburgh under the ordinance passed a week ago by councils: "We can trust our interests in her hands. She is thoroughly capable for the position, speaks fluently a number of the Slavonic languages, is a physician with a certificate of graduation from the West Penn Medical school and in her work in the bureau of health has acquired a knowledge of city ordinances and their enforcement which makes her especially suited to the work she will now take up."

Dr. Robin was one of the two women who made application for the position, 100 men also filed application for the position of tenement house inspectors. Dr. Robins' appointment came as an acknowledgment of the work the woman had done to secure the passage of the tenement house bill through the recent legislature, and their efforts to secure through city councils the ordinance for the appointment of two inspectors.

Meeting for Arrangements.

A meeting of Protestant Episcopal women will be held today to make arrangements for the annual meeting of the Women's auxiliary of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church. The annual meeting will be held in Pittsburgh and will be attended by delegates and visitors from the various churches and societies in the diocese. The local women will entertain the delegates.

Will Sing the "Daisy Chain."

This evening the song cycle in charge of F. A. Shaw of Sewickley will be presented in the Edgeworth club. It will be Liza Lehmann's "The Daisy Chain," and will be rendered by the Stamford quartet, composed of Miss E. Orrs Barnum, soprano; Mrs. Anna E. Dodge, contralto; R. A. Shaw, tenor, and Everett Noyes, baritone. A large number of Sewickley's society men and women are guarantors and patronesses for the affair.

More Hard Luck for Local Mails.

Pittsburgh mails from the east, which were due here yesterday afternoon, did not reach the postoffice till late last night owing to a mail train on the Pennsylvania railroad, which left Philadelphia at 4:25 a. m., being wrecked about a mile west of Lancaster, Pa. The wreck was caused by the mail train side-wiping a freight train which was being shifted while the mail was passing. One of the mail cars took fire, and, with the mails, was completely destroyed. At the local postoffice last night the assistant superintendent of mails stated that it will be impossible to tell if any Pittsburgh mail was destroyed till the report from the Philadelphia office is received.

Think Incendiary Started Fire.

Investigation into the fire which early yesterday morning threatened to wipe out 30 dwelling houses in Miller street, Knoxville, leads to the belief that the blaze was started by an incendiary. The fire started in the house which was occupied by M. L. Darrah, at No. 340, and from there communicated to the homes of George Brownhill and S. L. McCormick. Mr. Darrah said no fire was burning in his house when he retired. Through the efforts of the Knoxville and Mt. Oliver volunteer fire departments and residents, the progress of the fire was checked.

HANNA ANSWERS THE DEMOCRATS

Senator Denounces as False the Accusations Made by Chairman Salen.

FEW REMARKS ON JOHNSON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOLEDO, Sept. 30.—Senator Hanna, in his address at Montpelier this afternoon, served notice upon Johnson, Clarke and the others of those Democrats who have been pursuing him so relentlessly and attacking him with such scant regard for truth that in the future he proposes to defend himself and, if necessary, to do a little attacking himself.

From now on if they throw down the gauntlet it is to be a fight to the hilt, and the senator is not without ammunition. He proved that today in an answer made to a public letter of Chairman Salen of the Democratic state committee, in which three reasons were assigned why Mr. Hanna should not be returned to the senate.

These were, first, that he voted for the ship subsidy bill; second, that he worked for the passage of the municipal code passed by the last legislature, and, last, that he had used his official position to secure franchise privileges to the injury of the people.

The senator admitted that he both voted and worked for the passage of the ship subsidy measure and felt a pardonable pride in what he had done, because he believed it in the interests of the American marine and the entire people. In his answer to the others he paid particular and personal attention to the two present leaders of Democracy in the state, Johnson and Clarke, first, however, denying that the charges were true. Moreover, he declared they knew them to be false.

"Johnson," he said, "talks about injunctions, yet he forgets to mention the injunction he secured to prevent the payment of $423,000 in back taxes which he owed." Then this curt sentence was given, aplying to Clarke: "Here is a man who changes his political beliefs for the honor of a senatorial indorsement. I don't think much of myself at the end of any campaign, but I think too much at the beginning to be caught in that kind of campaign."

These were the more severe of the many things of similar character said throughout his speech.

Mr. Herrick and Senator Harding, the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor added their quota to the thrusts against the Democratic leaders and Harding especially pleased his auditors by the statement that perhaps Johnson's harangue against the curative act may come from the fact that its enactment prevented him from stepping in and securing the street railway privileges in Cincinnati.

Three meetings are scheduled for tomorrow at Napoleon and Defiance in the afternoon and Paulding in the evening.

BRYAN WILL SPEAK IN OHIO NEXT WEEK

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30.—It is announced today that the Hon. William J. Bryan will be in Ohio on October 5 to lend assistance to the Democratic cause. He will speak at Napoleon and Oak Harbor during the day and in Sandusky at night. He had promised to give three days to the Ohio committee, but preparations for his European trip reduced this number to one.

STOCKS AGAIN SELL OFF AFTER A FIRM OPENING

The General News Was Favorable, but When Support Was Withdrawn Traders Again Sold and Prices Closed Near the Lowest.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

At the opening of the eastern stock market yesterday there was a continuation of the advance of the day before, and during the first half hour moderate gains were established throughout the list. The Steel issues and Pennsylvania were the strongest stocks, and these assisted in pulling up the general list. The strength in Steel carried the common up to 17, the preferred to 62½ and the new bonds to 72. Amalgamated Copper opened ⅝ higher at 41½, and Sugar and the minor industrials were firmer. Pennsylvania opened ½ per cent higher at 119⅝, Rock Island ¾ higher at 25¾ and the rest of the active railroad list showed fractional gains. New York Central opened ex-dividend of 1¾ per cent at 116 and advanced to 118⅝. As a rule the highest prices of the day occurred before the end of the first hour. Traders, noticing that there was no longer evidence of buying by the banking interests which came to the rescue of the market on Monday and Tuesday, began to sell to take profits on their early purchases, and others sold short. The result was that for the remainder of the day the dealings became less active and prices gradually dropped.

In the latter part of the session the reaction in a few stocks became more pronounced. The ease with which United States Steel stocks sold off was a disappointment. The preferred declined to 60⅜, the common to 15⅝, and the bonds were 2½ per cent lower at 69½. The general impression was that this selling was for account of retiring members of the bond conversion syndicate, it being the last day for the decision of members to either pay in cash the remaining balance of their subscriptions and receive the bonds coming to them, or to remain in the syndicate for the extended period of nine months. If current gossip is reliable, the retirements will be considerable. It was reported that a circular will be issued as soon as it can be prepared, and that the settlement of the syndicate with the retiring members will be on the basis of an ownership of over $56,000,000 bonds. The circular issued by the finance committee to officers and employes of the corporation who participated in the profit-sharing plan last January, offering to take the stock at any time in January or February, 1908, at the subscription price of $82 50 a share, from every subscriber who fulfills the terms of the agreement and who desires to sell at that time, was not made public until after the close of the market. It should have the effect not only of allaying any uneasiness on the part of employes, but of outside holders of the stock, inasmuch as the formal statement is made that the "finance committee sees no reason to change its opinion as to the intrinsic value of the preferred stock."

The failure of Pennsylvania to retain even a portion of its early gain was also a disappointment to those who had hoped that a change for the better had occurred with Tuesday's rally. Pennsylvania sold off 1 per cent from its opening price to 116⅝ and closed at 116⅞. The selling was partly credited to Philadelphia interests, and, inasmuch as Metropolitan also sold off 3 per cent to 161½, the impression prevailed that the victims of the Consolidated Lake Superior collapse still had some liquidation enforced upon them. Rock Island sold off 3¼ per cent to 23¾, and St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and Wabash preferred declined to and closed at the lowest prices of the day. Baltimore & Ohio, which early in the session had advanced to 75⅝, sold down to 72½, at 72¾ cash and ex-dividend of 2½ per cent. Fire Proofing common and preferred and Brewing common were firm and higher. There was a falling off in the dealings and a steadily drooping tendency to prices during the afternoon and the market finally closed dull and barely steady.

THE MARKET IN SEPTEMBER.

The September stock markets will long be remembered as registering the lowest prices for English consols; the lowest prices for practically all steel stocks and the lowest ebb of public confidence in security values for years. The decline in Wall street was in the face of easy call loan rates and continued gains in railroad earnings. The market was practically dominated by the United States Steel stocks, which were affected by the falling off in new orders and the decline in prices for some products. Speculation began in the four railroad shares, notably in Pennsylvania, which sold at the lowest price in five years, suggested fraction between large financial interests, or the forced liquidation of marketable securities to take place of securities which for the time being have no market. The collapse of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company and the passage of the dividend on United States Realty and Construction preferred, together with the uncertainty regarding action on the United States Steel common stock dividend this month, contributed to the weakness in the industrial group generally. The Pittsburgh stock market registered the lowest prices of the year, and as will be seen in the subjoined summary of transactions, there was little recovery at the close.

Following is a summary of transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange in September, 1903:

NOTES AND COMMENT.

While the circular issued by the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation is addressed to those officers and employes who participated in the profit-sharing plan promulgated at the beginning of the year, it has a still greater significance for the outside general stockholder. The committee formally states that it "sees no reason to change its opinion as to the intrinsic value of the preferred stock subscribed for" by employes, who paid $82 50 a share nine months ago. The stock this week sold $25 00 a share below that price, although it is the practice to fix a lower dividend now as then. This statement that the committee sees no reason to change its opinion as to the intrinsic value of the stock is made at a time when it is in a position to gauge the future better than when it was nearly a year further away, and its confidence in the future is manifested in its offer to pay $82 50 a share for the stock more than four years hence. "Bears" will no doubt see in this circular an indirect method of assuring the outside public as well as the employes, and today they will probably be claiming that the circular would not have been issued if the position of the stock market had been different. Still, the public will be justified in believing that such men as George W. Perkins, Henry H. Rogers, H. C. Frick, Robert Bacon, Peter A. B. Widener, Robert Bacon, Charles M. Schwab and Elbert H. Gary, composing the finance committee, are in a better position to estimate the present and even the future than the "professionals" in Wall street. Unless there is something "hanging over the market" the circular ought to have a stimulating effect upon Steel stocks today.

The strength in Pittsburgh Brewing common was on rumors of an impending increase in the dividend.

The directors of the Pittsburgh Oil and Gas Company have declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent.

The Farmers Deposit National bank has declared a quarterly dividend of 6 per cent.

The Colonial Trust Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 3 per cent.

After the close of the market a New York commission house wired: "The old feeling is coming back again into some people, and today is dragging over the market. No one seems to know what it is nor is there a hint as to what it might be. If this great impending peril is causing the liquidation of the last 10 days it is simply impossible that it should not have come out and I believe this kind of talk absolutely without foundation. Liquidation there has been and further liquidation there will be, but it is a natural liquidation from speculators and individuals and the loss is widely distributed. There is too much pessimism rampant for us to advocate short sales."

The net earnings of Big Four for August increased $127,000.

Pennsylvania was the object of a widespread bear tip and under aggressive selling declined about 3 points down from the initial quotation. New York Central also was conspicuously weak.

The Commercial National bank has declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable forthwith.

Sterling broke late in the afternoon, indicating a possibility of gold imports.

The abstract by the reports of condition of all the national banks on September 9 given out at Washington yesterday was considered disappointing in its showing of a loan increase of $66,461,021 from June 9 to September 8, with a decrease for the same period in individual deposits of $44,600,013. The increase in cash holdings for the same period amounts to only a little over $2,000,000. Compared with last year, however, the percentage of cash on hand on redemption fund and due from reserve agents was 26.08 per cent, against 25.74 per cent on September 15 of last year.

The Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Company yesterday declared a dividend of 15 per cent out of the earnings of the past quarter, payable today.

The directors of the Standard Underground Cable Company yesterday voted a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable October 10.

The Three Rivers

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 30.—The stage of the river at 6 p. m. marked 5.5 feet and falling. Capt. S. B. Fenton, one of the oldest and best known rivermen, is seriously ill at his home in Newport. Business very dull on the wharf, none but local packets arriving.

LOUISVILLE—River falling; 5.8 feet in canal; 1.6 on falls, 3.4 below locks.

WHEELING—River 2 feet 8 inches and falling.

OIL CITY—River 9 inches and falling.

GREENSBORO—River 6 feet and stationary.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet and stationary.

PARKERSBURG—River 3.2 feet and falling.

PT. PLEASANT—River 1 foot 11 inches and falling.

STEUBENVILLE—River 2 feet 3 inches and falling.

GALLIPOLIS—River 5 feet 5 inches and stationary.

News of the Rivers.

Capt. Harry Black has returned from a trip to Louisville.

Capt. W. C. Jutte, now in Germany, is expected back October 7.

The rivers continue to fall. In 24 hours the river lowered six inches, making 5 feet 6 inches at the Pittsburgh wharf.

R. B. Musgrove, L. C. Gibson and Charles Martin of the Corona Coal and Iron Company of Corona, Ala., are in Pittsburgh. Mr. Musgrove is general manager of the concern, which is a subsidiary company of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company.

Fog is bothering the few steamboats plying the rivers. The Morgantown and Brownsville packets have failed to make schedule time for the past week, and in one instance the Woodward was so far behind time that she missed a trip. High water with such dense fogs would be of but little use to the shipping, as a boat could not navigate during the night. It was none yesterday when the fog raised.

Pigeon Accompanies Wheeling Flyer.

Engineer Frank Roe of the Pittsburgh-Wheeling flyer on the Panhandle has had as a companion each clear morning recently a pigeon. Soon after the train leaves the Wheeling station the bird, below it and flying close to the cab keeps alongside until Gordon is reached, when it darts across in front of the engine and flies away toward Ohio. The cause of the bird's habit is unexplained. The crew do not regard the pigeon as a hoodoo.

SPECULATIVE CROWD WAS DISAPPOINTED

Better Things Were Hoped for as Result of Tuesday's Advance.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says: The resumption of liquidation in the stock market yesterday, the moment artificial support was removed, had a rather disquieting influence on the speculative rank and file, the many members of which had hoped for better things as a result of the sharp recovery in prices on Tuesday. Of course, opinions as to the permanency of Tuesday's advance had been widely divided, and Wall street contained many men who were skeptical as to the enduring qualities of any change in the market accomplished without changes in fundamental conditions and unattended by news developments. Despite all this, however, few persons looked for an immediate resumption of forcible selling, or that this would swell up in volume sufficient to start liquidation anew. The most important disclosure of the day's movement was that the general public had made little response to the recovery and that the buying which turned the market was largely of an artificial and professional nature.

Opinions of the causes leading to the weakness in the market was practically unanimous in ascribing it to the action of the decline to the selling of stocks by the bankers and others who had purchased to support the market. Such stocks are not bought to keep, but to sell, it is said.

The street had no other explanation to advance than that of liquidation for the pronounced weakness in the Pennsylvania Railroad group of properties. The liquidation was ascribed to Philadelphia, but brokers figured that selling was fully as likely to come also from Pittsburgh, Baltimore and western points where Pennsylvania railroad properties are in favor as from the Quaker city.

RURAL MAIL CARRIER ACQUITTED OF OFFENSE

J. A. Crawford, the Bellevue rural free delivery mail carrier, arrested several weeks ago on a charge of opening and detaining letters, was discharged yesterday after a hearing before United States Commissioner H. C. Gamble. Crawford asserted that the letters found open at his house had been delivered in the wrong people, who opened them by mistake and returned them to him.

THIEVES ARE THRIVING ON THE NORTH SIDE

Burglars are still at work in Allegheny and early yesterday morning carried away about $250 worth of drygoods from the store of Daniel Evans, Brighton road and Woods Run avenue. The thieves had smashed the cash register and taken away $15 in money. The drygoods were evidently hauled away in a buggy, as tracks of wheels showed plainly in front of the store.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of five points and ruled fairly active and firm, the many reports of unsatisfactory crop conditions from Brazil, the firmness of primary markets and the steadiness in the European centers. There was considerable selling by room buyers at the higher level, but against this there was buying by outsiders and on balance, and the market closed steady, net 5 to 10 points higher. Sales were 64,250 bags, including: October at 4.65c; November, 4.65@4.75c; December, 4.90@5.00c; January, 5.05c; March, 5.20@5.25c; April, 5.30c; May, 5.35@5.40c; July, 5.50c. Shocked by Electric Light Pole.

Robert S. Guttridge, a merchant of Rankin, hitched his horse to an electric light pole yesterday and the animal ran into the pole, which was heavily charged with electricity. The animal fell to the street and when Guttridge went to help it to its feet he also was thrown to the pavement unconscious. A physician worked with the man for some time before he was restored to consciousness. His hands were blistered but he was otherwise uninjured.

OUTLOOK VERY MUCH BRIGHTER

Large Producers Regard General Conditions in Iron and Steel as More Encouraging.

BESSEMER PIG HOLDS FIRM

Buyers Show Increased Confidence. Some Good Orders Are Being Placed. Rumored Cut in Sheets Not Confirmed.

General conditions in the iron and steel market, as seen by local producers and representatives, present much more encouragement than those of a week ago. One and all join in the opinion that if financial difficulties were out of the way, which, as one manufacturer puts it, "are the miserable things which are giving the chill to business," there would immediately be a restoration of trade to normal conditions if not to the boom which was prevalent a few months ago.

Uncertainty in the money situation has caused buyers to hesitate, both for the purpose of curtailing expenditure as far as possible, and to avoid the possibility of placing orders at prices which might be discounted by waiting longer. The meeting of furnacemen for the purpose of devising a plan for cutting production, and thus sustain prices has had considerable effect upon strengthening the market, however, as it is shown by this action that the determination is to preserve values by curtailing the output. This is equivalent to an assurance that pig iron will not go lower, and, if raw material is unchanged, finished lines will have to be supported. Already there is indication of returning confidence in the situation, and consumers have commenced to lay bare their wants by making inquiries, at least going so far as to state to the maker, as a matter of their future actions. One prominent producer declined an order for 10,000 tons of Bessemer pig at $15 50, valley furnace, naming $16 00 as the lowest figure. Another contract, for 7,500 tons, was offered at $15 50, but so far has not been placed owing to the determination of pig iron products not to go below present quotations. A few forced sales of small amounts are heard of at low figures, but so far as can be ascertained there has been no sale of Bessemer iron of sufficient quantity as to have any bearing upon market values below $16 valley furnace.

Foundry Iron Improvement.

Demand for foundry iron shows improvement also, and both sales and inquiries are more numerous than they were a week ago. Prices have not gone any lower, and sellers express themselves much more bullishly than they did, having faith that there is a better state of affairs near at hand. Very little grumbling is heard over the absence of any change in prices. Billets are quiet, and demand is light.

In finished material the outlook is somewhat better, business showing much increased activity as compared with one month ago, although there is not the steady demand producers would like to see. In heavy structural material, plates and bars, request is uncertain, the business from day to day varying greatly, showing that consumers are as yet buying only for immediate requirements. There has been for a long time a determination in all finished lines to hold prices down to the lowest possible level, and this feeling will not be overcome until the financial situation presents a more substantial foundation on which to build. If the stock market were only steady, even without material advance in values, business would undoubtedly take on new life quickly.

Rumors of lower prices in sheet iron and steel have so far amounted to nothing but rumors, and buyers are unable to get their orders accepted at lower figures than have been ruling for some time. Sales in this line are on the increase, and from all over the country showing a substantial improvement. Tinplate is still in demand, and mills are crowded with orders.

Producers of crucible and merchant steel report business as eminently satisfactory, with a large increase of buying, customers who purchased cautiously earlier in the season having now brought their orders up to the average quantity for the best of times.

Pipe Conditions Satisfactory.

Manufacturers of merchant pipe and tubing do not hesitate to say that they find conditions satisfactory and prices are steady as quoted all summer. Orders continue to arrive in good volume, and specifications on old contracts are plentiful for the best of times.

The fact that everything looks so much more encouraging than it did a week ago is matter of rejoicing for manufacturers, but it is also hard for them to understand, and they find it difficult to size up the situation. There has been some curtailing of production in several lines, but not enough it is claimed to be startling. And the fact that stocks throughout the country are known to be low makes it altogether probable that when buying really gets started there will be a hurried rush to cover, which will cause a reaction to a much more active condition of business. Quite a large amount of contemplated railroad work has been deferred, and enterprises of other kinds have been put off which sooner or later will receive attention, and it will not be surprising to see a return of activity which will completely dissipate the clouds which have been hanging around the financial world. Entering a depressed financial market and general labor strikes the iron and steel business has had a narrow path in which to travel, and has been prevented from spreading out either to the right or left.

Coke manufacturers continue to complain of a shortage of box cars, causing a slow movement of consignments, which, in turn, is causing the shutting down of ovens. There is enough business to be had if it was possible to make deliveries as desired, although there is not the inquiry for stock shown by consumers of coke in the early part of the year, they being much more particular as to quality than they were at that time, and are not so willing to accept anything that bears the name of coke as they were then. Still there is an excellent demand, and car shortage is a factor in the situation which is operating against business.

The hardware market continues to show an excellent condition of business from all sections for supplies of different kinds, the demand being largely in excess of the same season in other years, and extends throughout all lines. The movement of nails and wire is very heavy, at times taxing mills to furnish within proper sizes as promptly as they are wanted. Builders' hardware continues to move out in its usual form, a good character of goods being specified for and large quantities of different lines going. Building mechanics and artisans of other kinds are buying from dealers good lines of Albion tools, sale of these showing increasing volume. The action of the new list on window glass is going to make a more settled state of affairs in this particular line, inasmuch as it will do away with the different discounts that are now prevailing for the most every size, and will establish a standard list subject to one discount. Business in window glass is better than it has been for some little time, stocks in the hands of users are becoming constantly lighter, and dealers are finding it necessary to replenish stocks. A good movement continues in Masury, paints, colors and varnishes. Prices in most lines continue very firm, the demand for goods of certain kinds being terrifically heavy, making a consequent shortage in some things. One manufacturer writes: "We will be glad to fill your order December 15." While another writes: "Am unable to ship for from six to 60 days." This shows the condition of many lines of manufactured goods. Prospects for general business positively excellent in every particular, and there is no apprehension of a declining market.

IRON TRADE DEPRESSED BY DECLINE IN STOCKS

The Slump in Railroad and Industrial Values Induce Conservatism.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The Iron Age will say: The heavy decline in the values of railroad and industrial stocks has had a depressing effect on the iron trade. The apprehension of a financial panic has induced extreme conservatism among buyers. Thus far no banking institutions have been embarrassed by the liquidation in the stock market, and this in itself is a strong reason for hopefulness. That the turn for the better which has occurred this week may not merely be temporary is most fervently hoped.

A matter which may have considerable effect on the iron trade, as it will demonstrate that at least some of those having great enterprises in hand are not disturbed by immediate conditions, is the notification to be made this week of the consolidation of the two municipals in this city to be built by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. It is understood that vast quantities of material will be called for, including over 100,000 tons of structural steel.

Pig iron manufacturers are very much in earnest in their endeavor to curtail production. Meetings have again been held this week, both in the east and west, for the purpose of bringing about widespread action in accomplishing this result. It is hoped to effect a reduction of at least 20 per cent on the output in transacting the quarterly proceedings in September. The restriction, it is pointed out, can be effected by blowing out furnaces, by the stoppage of a day or two in each week, a reduction in the revolutions of blowing engines, or by other means thoroughly familiar to blast furnace managers. The object in view is to secure the co-operation of pig iron producers throughout the entire country. The excess of production over consumption is not believed to be very great, but unless some such plan and an effort of this kind continued for a month would bring about a more healthy relation of the supply to the demand. Some furnace owners are loth to shut down, but a general movement to be made, but are now blowing out to prevent further loss. Notice has been posted at a number of eastern furnaces that wages will be reduced 10 per cent even though present measures are necessary.

Consumers of pig iron have not yet been prompted to make much heavier purchases on the possibility of a reduced output. That they are clearly in need of small lots is shown by the urgent demand that shipments be made as promptly as possible.

The southern pig iron producers are still endeavoring to secure reduction in the freight rate to northern markets. A meeting of the southern pig iron committee will be held in this city on Thursday and the question will again be taken up.

If would not be surprising if the light shipments of cotton to Europe from southern ports would cause such low freight rates to be offered as to practically establish a rate which goes that an export trade would develop. The domestic pig iron market would be considerably relieved if southern stocks could be reduced in this manner.

The demand for finished iron and steel products shows a little improvement and prices in a general way are well maintained. The opinion prevails that the manufacturers of finished products should not permit themselves to become unduly apprehensive as to the future and attempt to secure more business by making concessions. The general condition of the country is satisfactory and demand in many lines is simply postponed to await developments. If manufacturers preserve their equanimity and maintain prices, it is believed that ere long the consumptive demand will compel an increase in transactions, and this will restore the market to better conditions.

PACKAGE COFFEE IS HIGHER IN PRICE

Another Decline in Shelled Corn. Home Produce Subject to Quick Fluctuations.

As has been expected for some days, green coffee market conditions, which have been much firmer, have affected quotations for roasted, and an advance was made in package coffee yesterday by Arbuckles, the increase in price amounting to one-half cent. So far no change has been made by either the Lion people or Dilworths, but it is quite likely there will be a general advance all along the line if present conditions in the green coffee situation are maintained. Flour is steady, but without change in price, and sugar is holding its own at prices ruling since the decline of Monday. Other grocery staples are unchanged.

Notwithstanding the fact that there seems to be a heavy crop of hay throughout the country, farmers are holding on to it with great tenacity, and there is not so much reaching distributing markets as might be expected. For this reason prices are holding steady, and the demand for best hay is constantly ahead of supply. Straw is coming in very slowly and the market is strong. Shelled corn made another decline of 1 cent yesterday, and the market is easy as quoted.

Few changes were made in the produce list yesterday, all quotations being fairly well maintained. Potatoes are still in light supply, and the market is steady. Onions are unchanged. Fresh home produce is governed by supplies which are offered each day, and prices are subject to sharp and decided fluctuations. Fruits are holding their own, and what peaches are coming to market find sale, although they do not move quickly. Grapes are held firm by lightness of supplies, but demand is not strong. Oranges are not selling readily, quality not being up to the standard, and consumers are not taking hold of them as well as in past seasons. Plums are still offering, but are not so plentiful as they were a week ago.

There is no change in poultry, prices remaining high, with demand steady and stocks not allowed to accumulate. Ducks are not coming in as freely as they should at this time of year, and there is a steady market for them at prices quoted.

Butter is steady at quotations. Cheese is firmly held and September make will not be commanding much higher prices. Eggs are steady, without change in quotations.

Credit Balances Advanced Six Cents Per Barrel

Another advance in the credit balance market following so closely on the heels of the one on Monday came in the nature of a surprise to eastern producers. It was expected, however, that the simple fact that it came a little before it was expected made it none the less acceptable. There are few, if any, who think it has not come to stay unless there comes a change in the general situation. The new quotations posted yesterday morning fix the price of the principal grades as follows: Pennsylvania, $1 02; North Lima, $1 22; South Lima and Indiana, $1 17.

There was practically no change in the fields under development. In the Salem district, Harrison county, West Virginia, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the W. A. Ridgeway farm into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 200 feet with mud, and drilling will scarcely say chance for getting a second pay.

In the same district the South Penn has completed No. 8 on the Randolph Varner farm and has a 15-barrel producer in the Gordon.

In the Pine Grove extension the South Penn has drilled No. 6 on the Jesse Shuman farm 12 feet into the Gordon and has a show for a small pumper.

In the St. Marys district, Pleasants county, Kinney & Davis have drilled in their No. 12 on the C. C. Roby lot and have a show for a 100-barrel producer in the Cow Run sand.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, D. Reed and others on the Jesse Shelton farm 6 on the W. H. H. Wheaten farm and have a 4-barrel pumper in the salt sand at a depth of 805 feet.

Wood & O'Brien have completed No. 6 on the Waite lot and have an 8-barrel pumper in the second Cow Run sand at a depth of 617 feet.

N. T. McConaugh has completed his No. 7 on the Camden-Rathbone trace and has a very small pumper in the second Cow Run sand at a depth of 690 feet.

In the Kanawha district the Little Kanawha Oil Company is drilling a test on the A. A. Arnold farm.

The Roane Oil and Gas Company has the rig erected for a test on the F. O. Cunningham farm.

The Morgan Oil Company has a rig up for a test on the Robert Moss farm and W. C. Alexander is drilling a test on the Frank Fought farm.

Near Leetsdale, Beaver county, Shafer & Co. have completed a test on the Huber farm and have a show for a 40-barrel producer in the Boulder. In the same district Ferguson & Co. are drilling a test on the Rose Dunn farm and the Elcho Oil Company has the rig up for a second test on the Fred Long farm.

In the Kane-Forty district T. C. Dawson & Co. are drilling a test on the Henderson farm.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Buyers of drygoods are practicing the utmost conservatism in their purchases, caused principally by the difficulties surrounding the money situation. Jobbing trade shows decided diminution, but reports from the country state that trade in the majority of sections is still of satisfactory proportions and that stocks are generally healthy.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Tin experienced a partial recovery from its recent severe losses in today's market. In London it advanced £2 15s to £115 2s 6d for spot and £115 15s for futures, while locally prices were raised to $25 82½@26 10. Copper also showed some firmness in the English market, where it closed 12s 6d, with spot closing at £56 and futures at £55 2s 6d. Locally, the market remained quiet. Lake Superior and electrolytic are quoted at $13 00@13 25 as to quantity, and 12½@12¾ for casting. Lead was unchanged both here and in London, closing at $4 20 locally and at £11 in the English market. Spelter, closing at £20 15s, was unchanged in London, as it was also in the local market, where it closed at $4 60. Iron closed at 50s in Glasgow, and at 43s 9d in Middlesboro. Locally, iron was quiet: No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $17 00; No. 2 foundry northern at $16 00; No. 1 foundry northern and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, at $16 00.

Annual Pennsy Inspection.

President A. J. Cassatt, his staff and the board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad will make the regular annual inspection of the Pennsylvania system, beginning at the Broad street station, Philadelphia, next Sunday evening. The party will proceed direct to Pittsburgh and make inspection of the Pennsylvania lines. The inspection as far as known now will extend until October 10. The route is not known here. The general manager's department, which was formed a few several weeks ago, will be held October 6 and 7 and will be for the purpose of giving awards for the best pieces of main line track.

According to the arrangement, President Cassatt and party will return to Pittsburgh on October 9, when the start east will be made, the party winding up in Philadelphia next day. Upon the return to Pittsburgh President Cassatt will be joined by the maintenance committee, which will again go over the main line.

Railroad Notes.

The total earnings of Ohio railroads for the year ending June 30, 1903, were $111,000,000. For the year preceding the earnings were $101,000,000.

Notices have been issued announcing the inauguration of parlor car service on the Pennsylvania lines between Pittsburgh and Columbus, in substitution of sleepers on trains Nos. 5 and 45.

A. G. Tallant, general eastern agent of the Northwestern, at New York, is in the city.

Barrett May Leave Erie.

The Mahoning division of the Erie has again proved itself a white elephant if reports to the effect that Superintendent J. M. Barrett is to resign are correct. It is said that Mr. Barrett, who a year ago succeeded Superintendent Dunlapson, will go back to the Baltimore & Ohio, his first love. Changes are to be made on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio, so the rumors go, and Mr. Barrett is to be placed there. W. C. Lorse, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio would not discuss the matter yesterday.

The management of the Erie at Youngstown, which is the headquarters of the Mahoning division, is anything but satisfactory. Practical operating men say that the road lies well in the Mahoning valley, and that it is difficult to keep a good man in the place.

Mr. Barrett was recently quite ill, during which time the office of assistant superintendent was created, and H. F. Boyle of the Baltimore & Ohio selected for the place. He resigned about a month ago, and the latest advices are that his office has been abolished. P. Minehan has been appointed trainmaster of the Mahoning division, while J. Johnston is yardmaster at Youngstown by Samuel James.

MARKETS AFFECTED BY WEAKNESS IN CORN

Prices in the Chicago Pits Were Lower at Yesterday's Close.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Wheat ruled dull the greater part of the session with trading mainly of a scalping nature. Opening prices were inclined to firmness, influenced by the wet weather in the northwest with predictions of rain in the west, and December was up a trifle to 74@74⅛c at 77½@77⅝c. During the first half hour there was considerable selling by pit traders and commission houses due to lower cables and to the weakness in corn, and prices had a declining tendency, but later in the day, on the strength at St. Louis and good buying for southwest account, a rally occurred, December advancing to 77⅛c. The weakness in corn, however, had a depressing effect, and during the latter part of the day prices gradually yielded to the selling pressure, December declining to 77⅛c. Primary receipts were 1,115,000 bushels against 1,132,400 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 800 cars, which with local receipts of 47 cars, sales of contract grade, made the total receipts for the three points of 856 cars against 466 cars last week, and 1,020 cars a year ago.

Corn was the weak feeler in the grain pits and to a certain extent influenced the other markets. The fact that cash trade was of the almost unwelcome kind in claiming that little

LAND OF THE BOER PICTURED BY PEN

Rudyard Kipling Sings of the African War as of Indian Service Days.

NATIVE LAND NOT SPARED

Daring Poet Not Afraid to Ridicule His Own Countrymen in a New Work Entitled "The Five Nations"—Poems Equal to His Songs of Life in the East.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Twenty-five new poems from the pen of Rudyard Kipling will be published tomorrow. They will appear in a volume entitled, "The Five Nations," published simultaneously in New York and London.

The poet gained inspiration for most of his work in the South African war and several of the poems take rank with the best service songs that he sang in India in bygone years. He is generous in praise of the Boer and not afraid to ridicule the errors of his own countrymen.

One of the best poems is a tribute to a Boer under the title of "Piet" written in the same spirit that produced "Fuzzy-Wuzzy." The following are stanzas from it:

I do not love my empire's foes,
Nor call 'em angels, still,
What is the sense of 'atin those
'Oom you are paid to kill?
So, barrin' all that foreign lot
Which only joined for spite,
Myself, I'd just as soon as not Respect the man I fight.

[illegible]
Ah there, Piet! 'is trousers to 'is knees,
'Is coat-tails lyin' level in the bullet-sprinkled breeze;
'E does not lose 'is rifle an' 'e does not lose 'is seat,
I've known a lot o' people ride a dam' sight worse than Piet!

No more I'll 'ear 'is rifle crack
Along the block 'ouse fence—
The beggar's on the peaceful tack,
Regardless of expense.
For countin' what 'e eats an' draws,
An' gifts an' loans as well,
We've gettin' 'all the earth, because
'E didn't give us 'ell!

Ah there, Piet! with your brand-new English plough,
Your gratis tents an' cattle, an' your most ungrateful frow,
You've made the British taxpayer rebuild your country seat—
I've known some pet battalions charge a dam' sight less than Piet.

The Colonials who served in South Africa are praised in "The Parting of the Columns." Three verses from it follow:

There isn't much we 'aven't shared since Kruger cut an' run,
The same old work, the same old skoff, the same old dust and sun;
The same old chance that laid us out, or winded an' let us through;
The same old Life, the same old Death. Good-bye—good luck to you!

Our blood as truly mixed with yours—all down the Red Cross train,
We've bit the same thermometer in Flooming-typhoidteria,
We've had the same old temperature—the same relapses, too,
The same old saw-backed fever-chart. Good-bye—good luck to you!

But 'twasn't merely this an' that (which all the world may know),
'Twas how you talked an' looked at things which made us like you so.
All independent, queer an' old, but most amazin' new,
My word! you shook us up to rights. Good-bye—good luck to you!

"Chant-Pagan" is the lament of the English irregular who finds England tame and unbearable after South Africa and war. Part of the poem follows:

He that 'ave been what I've been,
He that 'ave gone where I've gone,
He that 'ave seen what I've seen—
One can't live'ave taken on
With awful old England again,
An' 'ouses both sides of the street,
An' 'edges two sides of the lane,
An' the parson an' 'squire between.
An' touchin' my 'at when we meet—
He that 'ave been what I've been!
He that 'ave watched 'arf a world
Lave up all shiny with dew,
Kopje on kopje to the sun,
An' as soon as the mist let 'em through
Our 'ellos winkin' like fun—
Three sides of a ninety-mile square,
Over valleys as big as a shire—
Are ye there? Are ye there? Are ye there?
An' then the blind drum of our fire! * * *
An' I'm rollin' le lawns for the squire, Me,
I will rise an' get 'ence!—I will trek south and make sure
If it's only my fancy or not
That the sunshine of England is pale,
An' the breezes of England are stale,
An' there's somethin' gone small with the lot,
For I know of a sun an' a wind,
An' some blains an' a mountain be'ind
An' some graves by a barb-wire fence,
An' a Dutchman I've fought 'oo might give Me a job, were I ever inclined,
To look in an' offandle an' live
Where there's neither a road nor a tree—
But only my Maker an' me,
An' I think it will kill me or cure,
So I think I will go there an' see.

South Africa idealized as a wonderful woman is the theme of one of the most interesting poems in the volume. The following stanzas are quoted from the poem:

Lived a woman wonderful,
(May the Lord amend her!)
Neither simple kind, nor true,
But her Pagan beauty drew
Christian gentlemen a few
Blotty to attend her.

Christian gentlemen a few
From Berwick unto Dover;
For she was South Africa,
And she was South Africa,
She was our South Africa,
Africa all over!

They attempted her favor more
Than a throne's foundation,
For the glory of her face
Made farewell to breed and race—
Yea, and made their burial-place
Altar of a nation.
Therefore, being bought by blood
And by blood restored
To the arms that nearly lost,
Has, because of all she cost,
Stands, a very woman, most Perfect and adored!

Included in "The Five Nations" are 27 of Kipling's published poems including "The Recessional," "The White Man's Burden," "Our Lady of the Snows," "The Islanders," "The Truce of the Boer," "The Destroyers," "Cruisers," "The Wage Slaves," "Bridge Guard in the Karroo," "Kitchener's School," and "The Lesson."

WILL REDUCE PRODUCTION.

Eastern Pig Iron Manufacturers Met in New York and Decided on 20% Cut.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A meeting of representatives of about 40 pig iron furnaces was held here today to determine whether the members will agree upon the recommendations of a committee appointed at a meeting held about two weeks ago. Today's meeting decided to make a 20 per cent reduction of output for October. Nothing was done regarding the proposed reduction of wages but it is said that each interest will act as it sees fit. The agreement to curtail operations is tentative and binding only for October.

CABLE BRIEFS.

BRUSSELS—M. Lichtervelt, formerly minister of Belgium at Washington, has been appointed Belgian minister to Switzerland.

BERLIN—Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish ambassador here, has suddenly been called to Constantinople. The inference is that his advice is required in relation to the new developments in the Balkan situation.

BERLIN—Chancellor von Buelow was installed as canon by the supreme chapter of the Evangelical church, in the chapter house at Brandenburg. This distinction is only conferred on noblemen and by the emperor, and is sometimes bestowed on retiring officials. No such inference, however, is drawn from Count von Buelow's installation.

BERLIN BORDERED ON REVOLUTION

Severe Sentence of Soldiers Caused Great Excitement in German Capital.

ENTIRE CITY IS INDIGNANT

Privates Sent to Prison for Long Terms for Thrashing Non-Commissioned Officer—Punishment Denounced as Out of Proportion to the Crime.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—There is great excitement here over the sentence of four grenadiers of the Second grenadier regiment, No. 110. These four privates had, during the recent maneuvers thrown stones at a non-commissioned officer against whom they had an old grudge and afterward had beaten him with bludgeons. For this crime they were sentenced to 25 years in prison in the aggregate. One was sentenced to 10 years, two of the others were given 6 years and the fourth was given 3 years in the military penitentiary. When the sentence was given out it caused almost a revolution that spread from one end of the town to the other.

Great mobs thronged the streets and drove back the police under the cries of "Hueassner." All the papers sent out extras, announcing in sensational headlines the sentence and though 24 hours have passed now the excitement has by no means quieted down. Also here in Berlin the sentence has caused a sensation and is criticised in every paper, conservative as well as Socialistic. All agree that the sentence is out of proportion to the crime, especially when Ensign Huessner, who last year killed Private Hartman in the streets of Essen, was left off with hardly any punishment.

When in one case a murderer is sentenced to only two years and seven days imprisonment in a fortress enjoying all the privileges with the exception of actual liberty, it seems absolutely unreasonable that soldiers, just because they are privates, should be sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for having thrashed a non-commissioned officer.

The press of the opposition is of course utilizing this sentence to the widest possible extent and protests in the most violent terms against what it calls class injustice, and there is no doubt that the sentence will come up in the reichstag if the kaiser does not shortly commute the sentence.

IN THE THEATERS.

Something of the New Plays that Will Be Offered Next Week and Those Not New.

Judging from the advance sale of seats at S. Hamilton's, the success of the morality play "Everyman," in this city is assured. The opening performance at the Carnegie music hall will be for the benefit of the Kindergarten association and for that performance only balcony seats remain on sale. The seats for the rest of the performances insures great audiences during both of the weeks that the play will be given.

On Monday afternoon next the curtain at the new Grand will ring up for the season of 1903-1904, introducing the new stock company, and giving the first view to local theater-goers of one of last season's principal New York successes, "Notre Dame," which had a prosperous run at Daly's theater. Aside from the natural interest in the new theater, the advent of the new players in the company gives the event extraordinary interest. Scenically, the production of "Notre Dame" will be among the most pretentious offerings this house has yet shown, and will be a reproduction of the same big spectacle which pleased New Yorkers for several months.

"Mr. Bluebeard," the big Drury Lane spectacle at the Alvin, has caught the fancy of the town and the audiences are nightly growing larger, with every prospect of a record-breaker before the two weeks' engagement closes. Seats are on sale for next and the last week of the run.

The massive production of Theodore Kremer's melodramatic sensation, "The Evil Men do," comes to the Bijou next week, beginning with Monday's matinee, and it is said to be the most pretentious show seen at the popular house in years, and this includes the other Sullivan, Harris & Woods' shows, that firm owning this one.

For genuine flashes of wit, ludicrous complications and side-splitting complications, "Are You a Mason," now touring the country and to be presented at the Empire theater for a week opening next Monday, is facile princeps in the dramatic offerings of the year.

Nothing good in the way of fine vaudeville attractions ever escapes Manager Harry Davis of the Avenue family theater. With each succeeding week Mr. Davis announces the presentation of a long list of stella acts and novelties. Next week's bill will be made up of 15 refined acts, as usual, headed by that famous minstrel, George Primrose, assisted by the famous Foley Brothers. Primrose has long enjoyed the distinction of being the greatest dancer the stage has ever known.

The Orpheum show, under the direction of Martin Beck, is announced as the attraction at the Duquesne the week of October 5. The big company of vaudeville artists is still headed by McIntyre & Heath, and also includes Elizabeth Murray, Merian's Dogs, Victor Moore & Co., Ed. F. Reynard, the Melani Trio and Albertus & Millar.

Sam Devere and his own company will be the attraction at the Academy next week, which means that one of the best shows of the season will be at that house.

BLOODY BATTLE BETWEEN POLICE AND STRIKERS

BUDAPEST, Sept. 30.—A sanguinary encounter between the police and striking car men took place here today. Revolvers were used on both sides and many persons were wounded, several mortally. Fifty arrests were made. The collision was due to an attempt of the strikers, totalling about 2,000 men, to prevent non-strikers from working and to the strikers attacking the yards of the carriers.

DUSSELDORF APPROPRIATED MORE THAN PITTSBURGH

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—The city council of Dusseldorf, Rhenish Prussia, appropriated $15,000 for its exhibit at the St. Louis exposition.

TAYLOR THROUGH WITH ARGUMENT ON BOUNDARY

American Counsel Attacks Canada's Interpretation of International Law—British Reply.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Hannis Taylor, of the counsel for the United States, at this morning's session of the Alaskan boundary commission, continued his argument dealing with the international law phase of the dispute. He declared that the construction put by the Canadians on various terms employed in the controversy was not justified by international law, especially the reference to the general trend of the coast and the mention made of canals.

Mr. Taylor concluded his argument this afternoon and Sir Edward Carson, the solicitor general, followed. It was during Sir Edward's speech that Chief Justice Alverstone made the announcement of the death of Sir Michael Herbert, the British ambassador at Washington. The solicitor general confined himself largely to arguing that the exact wording of the treaty supports the British contentions.

WANTS BIBLE STUDENTS.

College Chancellor Decries the Ignorance Displayed in Things Divine.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Chancellor MacCracken of New York university deplored the lack of church training shown by the average student, in his annual address to the student body today, he said:

"I wish we could require from every freshman a Sunday school diploma that would certify that he knew by heart the 10 commandments, the sermon on the mount, a church catechism of some kind, a score of the scripture psalms and best classic hymns. This university will join any association of universities and colleges that will demand this as an entrance requirement. So much as in us lies, we will make the college a place for preserving and strengthening reverence for things divine."

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Young Husband Shot Wife and Then Himself—Bodies Found on Road.

ALLENTOWN, PA., Sept. 30.—The bodies of William Foulke, aged 50 years, and his wife, aged 27 years, were found today lying along the road leading from Allentown to Fullerton. Nearby was found a revolver with all five chambers empty, six loaded cartridges, a bottle containing carbolic acid and a cup in which carbolic acid had been poured. Each body had two bullet wounds in the head. The belief is that Foulke shot the woman and then himself. The couple are survived by two children.

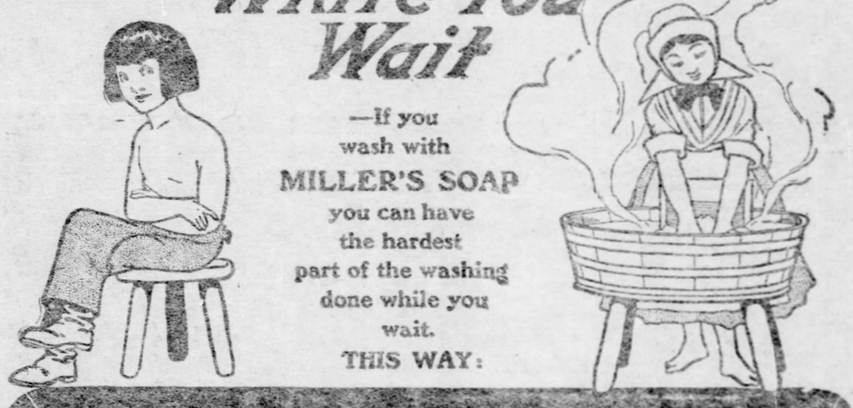
Washing Done While You Wait



—If you wash with MILLER'S SOAP you can have the hardest part of the washing done while you wait. THIS WAY:

Wet the pieces and carefully rub the soap on them. Then roll them up and soak in cold water (it may be slightly warm, but not hot) for half an hour or so. The washboard or machine will now work away the dirt which has been thoroughly dissolved or loosened by the soap; wash and rinse thoroughly without heating or scalding; blue, wring and hang out the clothes as usual.

The naptha does what used to take hard rubbing to do. Easier on the washing and easier on the wash. MILLER'S SOAP is the highest grade and the largest cake. Sold by all Grocers.

Hustle to Our Silk Counter.

MAIL ORDERS FILLED.

Predominant at the silk Counter the latter part of this week will be twenty-five hundred yards of Fancy Waist and Dress Silks, some in very popular pin dots and others in narrow stripe effects. Two lines were bought of different manufacturers for this event, both from mills in urgent need of money. The consequence was that we saved 30c on every yard as compared with the ruling market prices. They come in plain grounds of blue, green, brown, gray, navy, black, etc. Some are in small pin dots and stripes of white, and others show contrasting larger dots of different color. Very soft and desirable are these silks for suits in shirt waist styles and for winter waists. Although woven, dyed and finished to retail for $1.25 yard, we give our customers the advantage of 30c saved and make the price for these 2,500 yards..... 95c yd

The woman who does not need a Black Silk Dress is pretty certain to require either a Black Silk Waist or a Black Silk Skirt. One of the three features outlined below is certain to touch the keynote of an immediate want:

Black Taffetas—All-pure-silk Taffetas, soft in finish, strong and durable and 36 inches wide. Worth $1.00 a yard. Price now, 75c yard. (Mail Orders Filled.)

Lining Satins—Carefully woven textiles, 36 inches wide, soft in finish and warranted not to wrinkle. These make the lining par excellence for coats. A dollar a yard is not too dear. You'll be glad to get them for 75c. (Mail Orders Filled.)

Inexpensive Taffetas—500 yards is the limit of our stock when it comes to 19-inch Black Taffetas of the 45c grade which are scheduled to be closed out beginning Thursday at 49c yard. This is a chance to buy black silk for linings or for waists at a very low price. (Mail Orders Filled.)
